HITLER AND REDS IN WAR DEAL

FRENCH TO CALL NEW TROOPS; SEE CONFLICT NEAR

Paris Upset by Loss of Soviet Ally.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 22 [Tuesday].—In view of the military intelligence from Germany indicating serious possibilities of a German attack on Poland as early as Thursday or Friday of this week and the proposed signing of a nonaggression pact between Germany and Russia, well informed circles here expect further military precautions in this country.

As a first step more reservists will be called to the colors, it was believed last night, since the present standing army, somewhere around a million men, is considered inadequate by the general staff in case of a real war threat.

Unofficial estimates place the number to be called at 150,000 to as high as 800,000, showing that they are mere guesses. The latter figure in any case seems incompatible with the government's reported desire to reinforce the army "discreetly" by individual notices instead of putting up public notices, as was done last year.

Cabinet to Draft Decrees.

These reported military precautions will be explained to the whole government in a cabinet meeting this afternoon, but do not need to be referred to the cabinet for decision.

On the other hand it is reliably reported that the cabinet will draw up various economic decrees necessitated by the increased diplomatic tension. Among these doubtless will be provisions for the speedy requisition of gasoline, wheat, horses, and other supplies when the need arises.

The military reports from Germany, which are taken seriously in foreign diplomatic circles, declare that by Friday the German motorized division will be in a position to launch a lightning offensive against Poland, though there naturally is no way of knowing that they actually will do so.

Official Circles Silent.

The announcement from Berlin that Germany and the soviet union plan a nonaggression pact struck violently on government circles and the French public.

Officials were reluctant to comment on the news, which at first appeared to be a death blow to hopes of concluding the Anglo-soviet military treaty which was to be the keystone of the arch of French security. The viewpoint of the average Frenchman could be summed up in the word "disastrous."

The blow is all the harder because ever since the arrival of the French and British military missions in Moscow, all Frenchmen except those of the extreme right had put aside their suspicions of soviet good faith and were inclined to throw most of the blame on their own government and the British for the suspicious lengthening of the negotiations.

May Shake Anglo-French Front.

The extent to which the Russian switch will shake the united front of the French and British is not predictable. The Nazi-soviet pact has not been signed, nor have formal negotiations in Moscow begun, so the French have a breathing space in which they can make a final effort to swing the Russians back into line.

News of the projected pact reached Paris so late that many Tuesday morning newspapers carried no word of it in their early editions. The newspaper L'Oeuvre, however, published the official German news agency announcement in big black letters on its front page, opposite a full column editorial designed to prove that the signature last Sunday of the soviet-German trade treaty had no political significance.

Recalls Partition of Poland.

In a postscript at the bottom of this editorial, L'Oeuvre pointed out that its arguments were invalidated by the news of the proposed nonaggression agreement and ended with a cryptic reference to the year 1795. That was the year in which the third and final partition of Poland was carried out by Russia, Prussia, and Austria.

The official communist organ L'Humanite, in its first edition, ran an editorial attacking the weakness of the democratic powers and praising the "policy of firmness" of the soviet union.

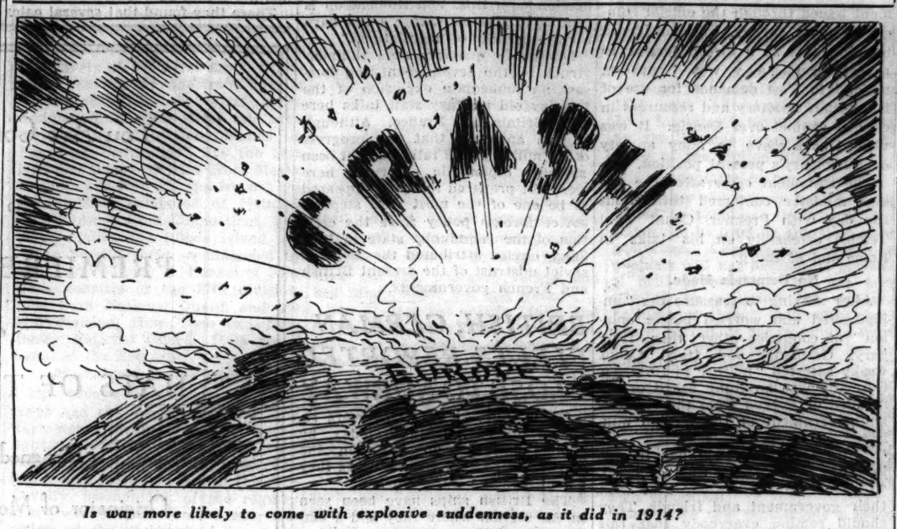
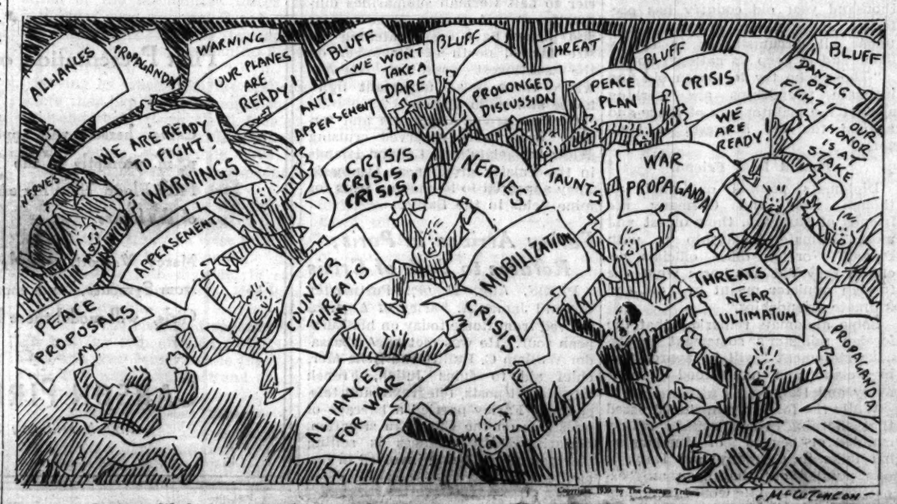
WHICH WAY IS WAR LESS LIKELY TO COME?



Is war more likely to come with explosive suddenness, as it did in 1914?



Or is it likely to come after months of nerve racking threats and counterthreats and crises and war preparations, as in the present war crisis?

Lured by Girl, Loses $10,000 in a Holdup

Belvidere, Ill., Aug. 21 [Special].—Harry S. Fisher, Valparaiso, Ind., metal refiner, was robbed of $10,000 tonight by two men and a blonde woman who had lured him to Rockford on a pretense of selling two carloads of scrap brass and copper to him.

Fisher was robbed on Highway 20, two miles east of Belvidere and his car keys were thrown away by the three who entered a car bearing Ohio license plates and sped toward Chicago. Fisher walked a mile east to a roadside tavern and called Sherif Perry Bennett of Boone county.

Victim Tells of Lure.

According to the story Fisher told to Sherif Bennett tonight, he received a telephone call last week in Valparaiso from a man who identified himself as Ben Wolf of Cleveland. The caller said he had two cars of scrap metal for sale in Belvidere for cash.

Fisher said he agreed to meet the men in the Faust hotel in Rockford this afternoon.

When he arrived at the hotel, Fisher said, he met the man who called himself Wolf and was taken to a room where he met the blonde woman. She was introduced as Mrs. Wolf and a man in the room was named as a brother-in-law of the couple.

Fisher said he and the man called Wolf had a bottle of beer in the Faust hotel and the man suggested they take the woman and go on a sightseeing trip in Rockford and vicinity.

One of Robbers Drives.

Wolf said he would drive Fisher's car since he was acquainted with the town and countryside. Fisher said he sat in the front seat between Wolf and the blonde. When they reached Belvidere shortly before dark Fisher recognized the town and suggested that since the scrap metal was there they stop some place and make the deal.

Instead the driver kept on through the town. Two miles east the driver and the woman drew revolvers and informed Fisher it was a holdup. They took 14 packages, each containing $500, from one pocket of his topcoat and $3,000 in assorted bills from the other pocket.

Takes Shot of Dope.

Fisher said he had drawn the $7,000 from the State bank in Valparaiso this morning and obtained the $3,000 from his wife.

Fisher told Sherif Bennett the blonde became extremely nervous when they were standing on the roadside. After a short wait the second man, whom he had met in the hotel and who did not accompany them on the ride, drove up in a car with Ohio plates. The woman handed her revolver to him, took a hypodermic syringe from her purse and gave herself an injection in her arm.

"Now I own the world," the blonde shouted to Fisher as they drove away, he told Sherif Bennett.

CHAMBERLIN FINED $25 AT MADISON FOR NOISE FROM PLANE

Madison Wis., Aug. 21 (AP).—Clarence D. Chamberlin of East Orange, N. J., trans-Atlantic flyer, who came here last Wednesday to operate a sight seeing passenger plane, was fined $25 and costs in Superior court today on a charge of violating the city's anti-noise ordinance.

Defense Attorney Raymond Van Wolkenten said an appeal would be taken to Circuit court. He claimed Chamberlin operated at a height of more than 1,200 feet with a federal license and that the city had no jurisdiction.

BOY, 7, PUTS SOME NEW WRINKLES IN STOWAWAY ROLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

QUEBEC, Que., Aug. 21. — Seven year old Robert Taylor of Glasgow, the youngest stowaway on record, was landed here tonight from the Cunard liner Andania after a 3,000 mile voyage from his home. He will be sent back to Scotland in the same ship at the end of the week.

Bobby fooled an entire ship's company by going aboard the liner at Green Rock and declaring he was a passenger. He kept up the deception throughout the first day, long enough for the Andania to have called at Belfast and proceeded into the Atlantic. Self-confident and nonchalant, he booked a table in the dining saloon the first night, telling the steward his mother was "feeling ill and had gone to her cabin."

His parents, notified by wireless, promised he would not get a spanking when he gets back home. His ambition, he told reporters, is to be captain of the Queen Mary.

Let the Flannels Lie; It's Going to Be Warmer Today

Yesterday's chill temperatures are no reason for breaking out in long underwear, Forecaster H. A. Downs declared. Today, he predicted, will be fair and warmer. The low of 56 degrees at 7:40 a. m. was five degrees above the record low of Aug. 21, set in 1918. The mercury rose to 64 at 4 p. m. In New York the temperature rose to 91, within one degree of the record for the date.

Rich Wheaton Farmer Found Slain on Road

A well to do Wheaton farmer was slain mysteriously yesterday on his farm, operated by a son, near Gibson City, Ill. The son found the body early in the evening after having seen it several times earlier, when he believed it to be that of a sleeping casual.

The dead man was Samuel A. Gilmore, 58 years old, who operates 160 acres three miles north of Wheaton in Bloomingdale township. The son who found him on a road beside the 480 acre farm owned at Gibson City is Arthur Gilmore, 31 years old and married.

Son Finds Father's Body.

Arthur Gilmore said he was coming home with his tractor at dusk when he decided to investigate the form he had observed several times earlier. He found it was the body of his father, shot once through the temple. There was no gun to be found, and the slain man's automobile was missing.

Arthur Gilmore said he wasn't expecting his father and that the elder Gilmore seldom went down to the larger farm, from which the family moved about ten years ago. At the Wheaton home, another son, Clarence, said none of the family knew Samuel had gone to Gibson City. They believed, however, he had left rather early in the morning. Arthur said it appeared his father had been killed early in the afternoon.

Know of No Suicide Reason.

Wheaton relatives, who include the widow, Anna, 53 years old, and two other sons beside those named and three daughters, said there was no reason that they knew for suicide.

Chief of Police Charles Crow at Gibson City said Arthur reported the finding of the body to him immediately. He said he hoped to find the elder Gilmore's automobile in the belief it might furnish a clew, perhaps to a hitch-hiker who had ridden as far as the farm, then killed his benefactor and fled in the car. Coroner Cletus Jayne of Gibson City said he would hold an inquest this morning.

GERMANY AND RUSSIA TO SIGN PACT OF NONAGGRESSION; MAY SPLIT POLAND

Moscow Move Stuns Britain; May Call Parliament.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Announcement that Germany and Russia plan to sign a nonaggression pact stunned London tonight. Although there had been hints lately of a possible political deal between the totalitarian reich and communist Russia, the British government appears to have been in the dark about the negotiations going on parallel with the Anglo-soviet talks for a mutual assistance pact.

The new situation created by this development, and the increasing seriousness of Germany's threats against Poland, will be considered at tomorrow's meeting of the cabinet. The ministers also face the problem of what to do about the British military, naval and air force mission which has been in Moscow for twelve days, carrying on staff talks.

Press Reflects Surprise.

"If the report is confirmed," said the Daily Mail, "it means an end of the Franco-Russian treaty for mutual assistance in event of attack. It also cancels out the anti-comintern pacts entered into by Germany, Italy, Japan, and Spain in their campaign against bolshevism." Concluding, the paper counseled calmness.

The Daily Herald said parliament must be called back into session, so that the decisions to be made may be laid before it. "The government can not act in such an emergency without consulting fully and frankly the representatives of the people," the Herald continued, and added that if arranged as reported, the German-Russian pact will represent "one of the most astounding and shocking reversals of policy in history."

Criticize Chamberlain's Tactics.

Criticism was heard in opposition quarters about Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's handling of the Anglo-soviet negotiations. The Russians are said to be annoyed by the British tactics, upsetting their search for a policy which would enable them to keep out of a war in Europe.

Pending confirmation of the reported agreement from Moscow, diplomatic circles were inclined to take a cautious attitude.

Reports from European capitals, however, interpret the move as a triumph for Adolf Hitler and a severe setback for Anglo-French foreign policy. It appears to be generally assumed that Poland's fate is assured, and with Russia holding aloof, that the two western powers will be unable to aid the smaller states of central and eastern Europe against German ambitions. Some circles hold that the diplomatic balance of Europe is altered by the pact.

May Recall Parliament.

Prime Minister Chamberlain and Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, held a three hour conference this morning.

Later Chamberlain conferred with Arthur Greenwood, deputy leader of the opposition, and apparently promised to bring the matter of an early recall of parliament before tomorrow's cabinet meeting.

Chamberlain fought off the recall of parliament to review the international situation on Aug. 3, however, and he assured Greenwood at a later date that there was no need to recall it.

The announcement of a possible recall today may be only a British gesture in the tit-for-tat nerve warfare between the British propaganda ministry and Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, German propaganda chief.

Oslo Group to Confer.

Showing that they are taking no chances on this shock diplomacy causing a possible break up, despite plans to keep it under control, the seven powers of the Oslo group—Belgium, The Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, and Luxemburg—today decided to hold a meeting in Brussels on Wednesday to coördinate their policy of preserving strict neutrality and assuring supplies if there is war.

All Europe was thrown into a welter of rumors tonight over this move. The British press said the Brussels meeting might send peace proposals to the two warring groups.

Balkans View Pact as Doom of Small Nation

BUDAPEST, Aug. 22 [Tuesday].—(AP)—News of a German-soviet nonaggression pact burst like a bombshell tonight in southeastern Europe. The first reaction of many officials was one of consternation.

In Hungary, Slovakia, Rumania, Bulgaria, and Jugo-Slavia officials were frank to state that the pact may mark a major turning in world history. For immediate consequences they feared it might lead to the collapse of Poland.

The future of the cabinets of Neville Chamberlain in London and of Edouard Daladier in Paris was believed by many to be involved.

For many, the nonaggression treaty raised the possibility of close coöperation between a growing Germany and a giant Russia, which might have untold consequences for smaller countries located between them.

View Poland as Doomed.

"Poland might just as well lay down her arms tonight," said one official. "At least she can escape physical annihilation in that manner."

Complete shifts in Europe's opposing camps were predicted as a result of what one diplomat dolefully called "Russia joining the anti-comintern pact."

Officials at Bratislava, capital of little Slovakia, were jubilant, predicting freely that their little nation will receive generous slices of Poland for her true friendship toward Germany.

Hungary was frightened. An anti-bolshevik country whose beloved regent, Admiral Nicolas Horthy, smashed a communist government to come to power, Hungary feared the effect on her society of the combined Nazi doctrine of Germany and the communist creed of Russia.

Rumanians Disturbed.

Rumanian cabinet members, including Foreign Minister Grigore Gafencu, were up half the night. Their countrymen remembered they held Bessarabia, a territory obtained from Russia after the world war, and held other territory desired by Hungary and Bulgaria.

Bulgaria, including many government officials, hailed announcement of the coming pact. Bulgarians are divided between those favoring Germany and those favoring Father Ivan, as Russia is called.

It was said that Bulgarians now can get together, with the Nazis and the communists joining hands. Visions of quick recovery of territory from Rumania rose before Bulgarian eyes.

Blow to White Russians.

Jugo-Slavia, an anti-bolshevik country, whose court harbors many white Russians, was stunned by the news. Pessimistic officials could see little future for Jugo-Slavia except to "knuckle under."

Everywhere, however, this thought was expressed—that Britain must have suspected some such pact was on its way. This was given as an explanation of why the London government has treated Japan with such delicacy in recent weeks.

Many persons predicted a revival of the old Anglo-Japanese military alliance.

Nazis Will Occupy Danzig Thursday, Berlin Hears.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—Joachim von Ribbentrop, Germany's foreign minister, it was announced officially tonight, will arrive in Moscow by plane on Wednesday to perfect a nonaggression pact with soviet Russia, the government which all Nazis only a few months ago denounced as the enemy of mankind.

Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop.

Nazis shouted with delight when they learned that the Nazis and communists are to be linked by a treaty.

The official announcement said "the reich government and the soviet government have agreed to sign a nonaggression pact. The foreign minister, Von Ribbentrop, will arrive in Moscow on Aug. 23 to conclude the negotiations."

Pressure on Alliance.

The Nazis hope that by signing an agreement with Moscow they will be able to compel Poland and her French and British backers to give in to all German demands. Usually well informed sources declared tonight that Germany will occupy Danzig and Pomorze [the Polish corridor] on Thursday and Friday. Foreign observers declare that Germany's huge military force will be in readiness tomorrow at midnight.

German representatives have been negotiating with Moscow since early in June. As reported in THE TRIBUNE on June 17, the Nazis took great pains to keep the negotiations secret, fearing a loss of prestige if the Russians failed to come to terms with them. They realized a rebuff was possible after the Nazis' violent denunciation of communism.

[The Tribune reported on June 17 that the terms of a trade agreement, which was announced on Sunday, had been drafted. It was reported then that Hitler was undecided whether to continue in the Rome-Berlin-Tokio pact against Russia or whether to cooperate with Russia on a bigger scale. It was reported that Russia was insisting that Germany must cease aiding Japan.]

Strongest Power in World.

If the Nazis can make Russia carry out the airtight pact they hope to perfect when Von Ribbentrop calls on Dictator Josef Stalin or his aide in Moscow, the Nazis feel that no power in the world will be strong enough to oppose them.

Nazi circles declare "we may give Poland another chance for survival, but on a much smaller scale if she comes to terms quickly and breaks with those who dare to encourage her to oppose Germany's wishes."

If Poland continues to balk "she will be divided up between Russia and Germany," Nazis declare. If she gives in she may be allowed to retain a small "Congress Poland," which would have to "adapt her policy to that of her powerful neighbors."

[By the final act of the congress of Vienna, signed on June 9, 1815, Poland was divided among Prussia, Austria, and Russia, with one trifling exception: Cracow, with its population of 61,000, was erected into a republic imbedded in Galicia. After Prussia and Austria had received their shares the remnant of Poland was constituted as the so-called Congress Kingdom under the emperor of Russia as king [czar] of Poland.]

Von Papen Negotiator?

Reports have prevailed for weeks that the German ambassador to Turkey, Franz von Papen, was in Moscow negotiating with the soviet. Only today Von Papen, who had conferred with Adolf Hitler and Von Ribbentrop, was busy denying to interviewers that he had ever been in touch with the Russians.

Later tonight the Nazis boasted about their efficiency in coming to terms secretly with Moscow while the English and the French were trying their best to reach an agreement with the whole world watching the rebuffs they were suffering.

Berlin diplomats vainly are trying to establish what Moscow will receive from Germany as a reward for her promised coöperation.

Many Nazis have declared repeatedly in recent weeks that the "Dardenelles have been promised to Moscow which would give Russia an outlet to the sea and at the same time punish the Turks for lining up with the English and the front attempting to encircle Germany.

The Turks and the Russians have been friends for years and Turkish diplomats refuse to believe that their Russian friends would fail to stand by them.

[A dispatch from Koenigsberg, East Prussia, said Germany has promised Lithuania the return of the Vilna district during the fourth partition of Poland as well as military assistance against Poland.]

Continue Massing Troops.

BERLIN, Aug. 21 (AP).—Germany upset the whole structure of the tense middle European situation by the announcement that she will conclude a nonaggression pact with Soviet Russia. If there is to be a conflict as a result of the Polish-German dispute over Danzig and Pomorze [the Polish corridor], it now appeared certain that vast Russia will be neutral.

Hitler's newspaper, the Voelkischer Beobachter, broke tradition by using red ink in its late city edition.

A headline seven inches high said, "Nonaggression Pact, Germany-Soviet Union."

A smaller line proclaimed that the conclusion of the pact was "Germany's secret," which for weeks had kept the western powers guessing.

Surprise Up the Sleeve.

The calm behavior of Germany and Italy in a world torn by war fears was due, the Beobachter said, to the knowledge of the two states that they had a surprise up their sleeves.

Berlin was still talking about "Der Tag" [the day of reckoning], and German soldiers continued massing on the Polish frontier.

At the war department in Berlin today there was an endless coming and going of smart cars bearing high ranking officers. Overhead more military planes roared by than has been the case in days. The city otherwise seemed to be devoid of military activity, the inference being everybody was on duty at the Polish frontier.

"Everybody has a presentiment and feeling of the approach of great and important decisions in the world," the Essener Zeitung, Air Marshal Goering's paper, said.

Troop Trains Move.

Berliners who spent Sunday near the Baltic said that train after train rushed past them in a northeasterly direction carrying soldiers, cannons, anti-aircraft equipment, and field kitchens.

Others who drove southeast in the direction of Dessau, seat of the Junkers airplane works, said they could not get near the city because it was designated as a military area. They also said they had a difficult time obtaining gasoline. Filling station after filling station was empty.

[A dispatch from Zilina, Slovakia, said that German army divisions geared for quick action pushed on to northern Slovakia adjacent to Poland. Motorized troops, fully equipped with anti-aircraft guns and light artillery, were massed at the frontier and German arms commanded all of Slovakia's main roads to Poland.]

"Super Guns" Moved Up.

GLEIWITZ, Aug. 22 [Tuesday]. (AP).—Four of Germany's famous motorized "super guns" and an attendant ammunition train rolled through Gleiwitz early this morning.

Each 16 foot 10 inch caliber barrel was carried on three sets of trucks and the ground and firing mechanism on three other sets of trucks drawn before them.

From the direction of the railroad station the half mile column approached and disappeared into the dark headed toward this city's military garrison. The Polish border lies within two miles of these barracks.

Guns of this type amazed military observers at the parade for Admiral Horthy of Hungary in Berlin in the late summer of 1938 and again on April 20, 1939, at the military parade for Adolf Hitler's birthday.

Second Contingent.

The group going through town this morning was the second artillery section to be seen here within the last week. The other, heavy mortars, took the same route yesterday afternoon. Trucks bearing equipment jammed highways and ambulances dashed about yesterday.

Twenty man motor trucks clattered rapidly through the streets on caterpillar treads. One was entirely filled with hawsers and inch thick towing ropes. Another carried iron strips suitable for tracks for wide tread motor carriages. Many trucks carried square boxes covered with tar papers, and there were some rolling field kitchens.

LEAVE POLAND QUICKLY, ENVOY HINTS TO BRITONS

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 21.—The British embassy here immediately contacted the Polish foreign office when news of the German-Russian nonaggression pact plan became known. Officials at the foreign office were working at a late hour. Nevertheless, no official comment on the pact was available.

WARSAW, Aug. 21 (AP).—Britons in Poland were reported reliably today to have been advised in general terms by the British embassy to leave as soon as possible "in view of the considerable danger of a rupture in German-Polish relations."

This move was regarded as indicative of the increasingly serious view being taken of the present situation by foreign circles here. It was understood to apply chiefly to British women and children residents and tourists in Warsaw.

Several American tourists applied at the American embassy for advice as to whether they should cancel their stays and received this statement:

"The embassy is watching the situation with great care and will take every appropriate measure necessary to protect American interests and citizens in Poland in any emergency that may arise."

Make Military Preparations.

The French embassy has taken no specific step beyond advising French nationals, women especially, that they should be fully prepared to leave if circumstances demand.

Meanwhile, Poland was reported intensifying military preparations along purely precautionary defensive lines.

Polish moves [in the light of German troop movements along the Polish border] were obscure. Poland was said to be capable of putting 2,000,000 men in the field if necessary.

Poland was said to have sent troop reinforcements — some withdrawn from her Russian frontier — toward her frontiers facing Germany and Slovakia as a general precaution.

Give No Opening to Nazis.

The Polish position is that Poland must be prepared in a military sense for any eventualities, but that Germany must be given no opportunity to charge Poland with aggressive military aims.

From the start last March foreign observers agreed there has been nothing demonstrative about the Polish mobilization. It has been in many ways a secret mobilization. The only public announcement has been that "certain defensive measures have been taken."

The newspaper Wieczor Warzawski editorially recorded a view expressed in Polish and foreign circles that:

"The position of the German government and press has now become such that it is not possible to retire or retreat. If it is a game, it is a dangerous game.

"A retreat at this point would mean too great a defeat for the German government. And it is improbable that Hitler would agree to such a solution of the problem."

Gun Permits of Germans Canceled in Transylvania

BUCHAREST, Aug. 21 (AP).—The Rumanian ministry of the interior was disclosed today to have canceled or refused hunting licenses to thousands of the German minority in Transylvania. The licenses permit the holders to keep rifles. Ministry officials, it was said, found that Transylvanian Germans applied for twenty times as many permits as in other years. Before the world war Transylvania belonged to the Austro-Hungarian empire.

KING LEOPOLD.

BELGIAN PARLEY ON PEACE APPEAL OPENS TOMORROW

Seven Neutral Nations Asked to Conference.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 21 (AP).—The Belgians' young king, Leopold III., summoned the foreign ministers of six other small, neutral nations today to join Belgium in an urgent appeal for a peaceful settlement of Europe's quarrels.

The conference, called suddenly for Wednesday, will have as another major aim the coördination of policy of the seven neutrals regarding such problems in event of war as revictualing of populations, disarmament and care of wounded and gassed and the sheltering of refugees.

An informed source said the text of the proposed appeal to Europe's big powers already had been drafted, but that the conference would not concern itself with possible mediation of any disputes.

Preserve Neutrality.

Anxious to preserve complete neutrality, the Belgian foreign office issued a communique stating "it must be stressed that the possibility of any offers of mediation of present international differences by either King Leopold or the Belgian government is out of the question.

"Considering the general situation existing in Europe today, it is certain that the problems of international politics will receive the delegates' fullest attention," the communique said.

Belgium's foreign minister, Hubert Pierlot, will preside at the conference to which several foreign ministers of the other six countries planned to come by plane tomorrow.

Associated in Trade Pact.

The seven nations—Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxemburg, Norway, Sweden, Finland, and Denmark—became associated in the Oslo trade convention four years ago in working for a gradual reduction of trade barriers.

Sweden's newspapers said the initiative for the conference undoubtedly was King Leopold's and pointed to his friendly relations with Italy and Great Britain as a helpful factor.

JAPS DEMAND DAMAGES FOR POLICE DEATHS

SHANGHAI, Aug. 22 [Tuesday].—(AP).—The Japanese sponsored Shanghai municipal government today demanded indemnities from international settlement authorities for the killing of two pro-Japanese Chinese policemen and the wounding of six others by a British policeman last Saturday.

The demands were accompanied by a threat that unless they were carried out "in good faith," the municipality would "take such measures deemed necessary and suitable." Settlement authorities were silent on the demands but were expected to reply shortly.

The communication raised a difficult point in that the settlement has not recognized the municipal government and officials of the foreign area heretofore have ignored many communications from it.

HUNGARY SEEKS TO ALLAY FEARS OF NAZI CONTROL

Count Csaky Says Nation Is Peace Factor.

BUDAPEST, Aug. 21. (AP).—Foreign Minister Count Stefan Csaky declared tonight within a few hours after his return from talks with German and Italian leaders that "an independent and strong Hungary is an indispensable factor for the political balance of central Europe."

The declaration, included in a statement issued through the official Hungarian news agency, was considered by diplomats as a direct answer to reports Hungary was "buckling under" to Nazi demands for use of Hungarian territory and resources in case of conflict over Danzig. It was viewed as a move to allay anxiety over Hungary's present position.

No Demands Made.

After seeking to reassure the "uninstructed and worried public opinion" of countries other than Hungary, Germany, and Italy, Count Csaky asserted "neither in Italy nor Germany was anything asked or demanded or begged from the Hungarian government or the foreign minister."

"Hungary fortunately has friends in every country," he then declared. "I ask them to do their best with their government and friends. They should remind everybody that this thousand year old country has preferred, above all, in every age and under all circumstances to be reliable and to keep its national honor.

"Those who try to loosen old and intimate friendships are working against the maintenance of peace and against the life interests of Hungary."

Poland Best Friend.

Diplomats pointed out that, although Italy and Germany are friends of Hungary, their oldest and most intimate friendship is with Poland. Foreign office officials declared they did not know what the foreign minister meant by "old and intimate friendships."

Some diplomats remarked that the foreign minister's somewhat ambiguous statement "will be appreciated in Poland and understood in Germany and Italy."

While the foreign minister stressed that nothing was "asked or demanded or begged" of Hungary in his talks in Germany and Italy, it was pointed out that even an "exchange of views" would certainly have been employed by Count Csaky to stress Hungary's ardent will for untroubled relations with Poland.

ENVOYS IN RUSSIA ARE SURPRISED BY NAZI-RED PACT

See Military Parleys with Allies End.

MOSCOW, Aug. 21 (AP).—Tass, the official soviet news agency, in a communique early today said German Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop was coming to Moscow "for the purpose of negotiations" on a German-Russian nonaggression pact. The Tass communique said:

"After the signing of the trade agreement [on Sunday] there emerged the problem of improving political relations between Germany and the soviet union. An exchange of opinion established the presence of a desire to relieve the strain of political relations between both countries to eliminate the threat of war and sign a nonaggression pact. In connection with this, Von Ribbentrop is coming to Moscow within a few days for the purpose of negotiations."

Diplomatic quarters were thunderstruck by the development and foresaw an immediate explosion of the ten day old military staff talks here with Britain and France. Although it was apparent that the progress of the military staff talks had not been smooth, diplomatic observers here were not prepared for what appeared to be one of the most vital steps in soviet foreign policy since the creation of the communist state in 1917. Some circles attributed the move to soviet mistrust of the present British and French governments.

BRITISH, GERMAN FLEETS REPORTED CLOSE TO NORWAY

OSLO, Aug. 21 (AP).—Observers reported unusual activity today by British and German fleets in the North and Baltic seas, the areas they patroled in the world war.

The British ships have been seen in the section where they laid a barrier to halt German submarines during the war. A British plane carrier and planes have been watching Utsire Island, north of Stavanger on the southwest coast of Norway, where there is an important lighthouse and radio station.

German armed freighters and torpedo boats were observed cruising below Langeland and Lolland islands in the Falster group near Denmark. They appeared to be making tests for mine fields in the Baltic.

Farley Arrives in Paris; Refuses to Talk of Crisis

PARIS, Aug. 21 (AP).—Postmaster General James A. Farley of America arrived from Rome today on his European tour. He was met by Ambassador William C. Bullitt and Rene Mer, chief aid to Jules Julien, French minister of posts, telegraph, and telephones. Farley parried a barrage of questions on the European situation, declaring "My business is selling stamps and not being involved in foreign affairs."

POLICE THWART PLOT TO BURN BIG FLAT BUILDING

An elaborate scheme to blow up and burn an apartment and store building at 800-808 East 63d street was thwarted early today when a tenant smelled gasoline fumes and called a passing policeman. The building houses 100 persons and fire authorities said that had a match been applied to piles of gasoline soaked excelsior found in the basement scores probably would have perished.

The building has 21 flats and nine stores. One of the latter is a tavern at 802 East 63d street. When the tenant smelled the fumes he called Policeman Hugh McNulty of the Woodlawn station, who in turn aroused William Bessette, the janitor, living on the second floor. Besette went to the rear of the tavern in search of the source of the fumes. As he did so two men fled. He called McNulty and they went to the basement.

There they found that several bales of excelsior had been broken open and scattered along the walls and a pipe leading through an opening in the wall to an adjoining room. On a desk was a large pickle barrel half full of high test gasoline. Letters and papers the arsonist apparently desired to destroy were strewn over the desk.

The fire department was called and the 5th division under Marshal Thomas Gaffney responded. The firemen took precautions to prevent the excelsior from being touched off by a match, and warned residents of the building to open all windows to permit the fumes to escape.

The owner of the tavern, Michael Augustis, 6043 St. Lawrence avenue, and Michael Pappas, 4207 Lake Park avenue, a porter, were taken into custody for questioning by Assistant Corporation Consel Earle E. Downs, investigator for the fire department.

ITALY SEES PACT AS WAY TO BRING FRANCE TO KNEES

Claims on Land Improved by Nazi-Red Move.

ROME, Aug. 21 (AP).—Reports that Germany and the soviet union will sign a nonaggression pact hit Rome tonight as a tremendous surprise.

Officials, apparently taken as much unawares as the man in the street, offered no comment.

It was reported, however, that Premier Mussolini had been fully informed of Adolf Hitler's intention. Under the Italo-German military alliance the two powers are obliged to keep each other informed of such moves.

Bernardo Attolico, Italian ambassador to Germany, returned from Berlin yesterday. He conferred immediately with Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, who had cut short a visit to Albania to return to Rome.

Weakens French Position.

The conjecture of some diplomats was that Mussolini was heartily in accord with this apparent manner of weakening the British-French front and expected it to lead not only to German victory in the claims on Poland, but to satisfaction of Italy's claims on France.

German Finance Minister Count Lutz Schwerin von Krosigk arrived in Rome tonight and was greeted at the station by Italian Finance Minister Paolo Thaon di Revel Jr.

While diplomats—likewise taken by surprise—speculated on how extensively the development would change the European situation, authoritative Italians said that they were sure the Rome-Berlin axis would remain as firm as ever.

These quarters pointed out that Italy herself has had a treaty of friendship and nonaggression with soviet Russia since 1933.

Reds Once Protested.

In 1937 when Italy joined Germany and Japan in the anti-comintern pact the soviet ambassador protested that it was an unfriendly act contrary to the spirit of the Italo-soviet pact but Italy replied that the anti-comintern pact was not aimed at Russia but only at the spread of communism to other countries.

Diplomats, nevertheless, said they thought that the proposed German-soviet pact might alter Japanese plans for adhering to the Italo-German military alliance.

The Italian press, in brief comments on the signing of the new German-soviet trade accord announced yesterday, offered its negotiations as another indication that Poland could expect little help from Russia if she continued to hold out against Germany on the Danzig question.

Say Decision Up to British.

The Fascist newspapers printed a few hours before tonight's announcement were reaffirming the axis and said it was up to Britain whether Germany's demands for Danzig are granted peacefully by Poland or are to give rise to war.

They repeated the Fascist argument that London should advise Warsaw to accept Adolf Hitler's plan for acquisition of Danzig and a German right of way across Pomorze [the Polish corridor], in exchange for a twenty-five year nonaggression pact.

[Hitler first presented this plan on April 28 in denouncing a ten year nonaggression pact with Poland which was concluded on Feb. 24, 1934.]

Responsible prelates said the Vatican was hoping for a solution of the crisis which would be "studied and obtained in one or more peaceable agreements into which would be taken account all the interests, rights and aspirations which are involved."

The pope instead, Vatican sources said, is putting his faith in the "sense of responsibility" of influential statesmen to avoid use of force.

JAPANESE CLAIM 40 PLANES SHOT DOWN ON BORDER

TOKIO, Aug. 21 (AP).—A domei [Japanese news agency] dispatch today from Hsinking, Manchukuo, said forty Mongol planes were downed by Japanese-Manchukuan forces in three battles Sunday on the troubled Manchukuo-Outer Mongolia border.

Five of the planes were reported shot down over Halunarshan, Manchukuan town sixty miles from the disputed frontier where sporadic fighting has been in progress since May 11.

Japanese dominated Manchukuo contends the Khalka river forms the boundary between the two states; soviet protected Outer Mongolia says it is several miles to the east of the stream.

FLORENCE MEYER.

New York, Aug. 21 (AP).—Miss Florence Meyer, daughter of Eugene Meyer, publisher of the Washington Post, and Mrs. Meyer, was married today to Oscar Homolka, the actor. The ceremony was performed at Seven Springs farm, Mount Kisco, N. Y., the Meyer summer home. Miss Meyer was graduated from Radcliffe college. She appeared two years ago in Reinhardt's production of "The Eternal Road," and this summer acted at the Westchester playhouse in Mount Kisco.

AMERICAN PLANE MOTOR MAKERS RUSH PRODUCTION

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21. [Special.]—American manufacturers have stepped up production of high speed airplane motors to 400 a month to meet urgent French military needs, and an attempt is being made to speed production still more as the danger of war in Europe threatens to halt shipments. Present American neutrality laws would block further shipments if France becomes involved in war.

Figures obtained today disclosed that 612 motors already have been shipped to France, although only 435 motors had been originally contracted for delivery by Sept. 1. Motors for French delivery are now being produced at the rate of 13 a day. Altogether, France will acquire 1,345 plane motors under current contracts.

England is also buying heavily in America. Government officials declare that the French and British contracts are not interfereing with the United States' own vast air development program.

KERENSKY, ONCE RULER OF RUSSIA, TAKES 2D BRIDE

Martins Creek, Pa., Aug. 21. [Special].—Alexander Kerensky, who headed the provisional Russian government for a short time after the overthrow of the czar, was married here yesterday to Lydia Ellen Tritton, daughter of a Brisbane [Australia] industrialist.

The ceremony, which took place in the living room of a real estate agent's home, was revealed today by Harry A. Stein, a justice of the peace, who had been commissioned by Kerensky to obtain a marriage license.

Kerensky and his bride left by automobile for "upper New York state" on a short wedding trip before sailing for France, Stein said. Kerensky, who is 58, received a divorce from his first wife last July 22, in Paris, after thirty years of marriage.

REDS AND BLUES VIE FOR BASE IN WAR MANEUVERS

Army Tests Mechanized Forces in Field.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Headquarters First Army, Plattsburg, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Ordered to seize and hold Plattsburg, a strategic base on Lake Champlain for unloading troops and supplies, the First and Second corps today opposed each other on a nine mile front along the Saranac river, west to Cadyville.

With the same objective designated for both forces in the war practice maneuvers of the First army, troops began moving into the front lines at dawn today. In the First corps, designated the Blue army and commanded by Maj. Gen. Morris B. Payne of Connecticut, are the 26th National Guard division from Massachusetts and New Hampshire and the 43d division, composed of National Guard troops from Connecticut, Vermont, Maine, and Rhode Island.

The Second corps, commanded by Maj. Gen. William N. Haskel of New York, consists of the 27th division, New York National Guard, and the 44th division, New York and New Jersey National Guard. It is designated as the Red army.

Mechanized Forces Tested.

For today's maneuver the First corps had the aid of the 101st New York horse cavalry and thirty-seven light tanks of the 3d Battalion, 66th Infantry, a regular army tank regiment. The second corps had the 13th Cavalry, mechanized, of the regular army, with fifty-six combat cars. Addition of the mechanized forces to both sides gave National Guard commanders an opportunity to experiment with the latest mechanical fighting equipment.

Moving by truck from the stations where they had been encamped for a week-end rest, troops of all four divisions reached their battle positions in four hours. It would have required a full day for the movement if the troops had been on foot.

New Englanders of the 43d division occupied the north bank of the Saranac river from the west limits of Plattsburg to Morrisonville. The Massachusetts 26th division, in support, held the line from Morrisonville to Cadyville.

South of the river and opposite the 43d was the 44th division from New York and New Jersey, while the New York 27th was in support and opposing the 26th.

Infantry Crosses River.

First action of the day came when the 71st New Jersey infantry crossed the river just west of Plattsburg to be stopped by the 104th New England infantry. Then the 101st horse cavalry pushed across the river south of West Plattsburgh and was stopped by a New York infantry brigade.

In a new attempt to gain the north bank of the river, the commander of the Red forces sent the 13th mechanized cavalry north to cross the river at Morrisonville, but was unsuccessful because horse troops of the 101st had reached the bridge first.

Four reconnaisance cars of the mechanized cavalry made a ninety mile encircling movement during the morning and reached two high hills well behind the Blue army's line. By radio the observers were able to keep the Red commander informed of the movement of Blue troops.

Success Demonstrated.

Success of this maneuver was demonstrated late in the day when the mechanized cavalry made a second thrust across the river near Morrisonville and captured a command post. Several National Guard officers on scouting missions also were captured by motorcycle patrols from the mechanized regiment.

A later afternoon thrust by the Blue forces carried several thousand troops south of the Saranac river, but at nightfall counterattacks had forced all except the 101st and part of the 182d New England infantries back to the north bank.

Both corps commanders have fresh divisions to throw into the attack at dawn tomorrow. The objective of each remains the same—the capture of Plattsburg. Battle plans of the Blue forces call for pushing the Reds 10,000 yards south of Plattsburg to keep the city out of range of the artillery.

In a separate problem at Redford, five miles southeast of Saranac, the 18th infantry brigade [regulars] opposed the rest of the 1st division in a maneuver for the capture of Redford. The 1st cavalry and 68th field artillery of the mechanized 7th brigade from Fort Knox, Ky., supported the brigade against the division and had much less success than the 13th cavalry had against guard troops because officers and men of the 1st division have had experience in combating mechanical fighters.

Sues Coogan

MARY LUANA WALLACE.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 21 (AP).—Jackie Coogan of the movies was sued today for $30,100 damages. Mary Luana Wallace, entertainer, professionally known as "Princess Luana," filed the suit charging Jackie said bad things about her last week.

The 21 year old actor's "false and scandalous" remark, she charged, exposed her to "hatred, contempt, ridicule, and obloquy," caused her to be shunned and avoided, damaged her good name, reputation, and character, and outraged her feelings, causing her to suffer great shame and mortification."

Her suit recited Jackie as having said his stepfather, Arthur L. Bernstein, was "stepping out" with her. She asks $25,000 general damages.

Miss Wallace charged she had "repeatedly turned down Coogan's undesired attentions" with the result "he became angry and insulted her on numerous occasions, and sought to blacken her name and reputation by imputing to her a want of chastity."

DRILLS FOR ARMY GO STREAMLINED THIS SEPTEMBER

Infantry Training Devised for New Efficiency.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21. — The army's new streamlined infantry drill regulations, designed to school soldiers for combat rather than parade, become effective Sept. 1 for the regular army and national guard.

The new regulations are now being used by the streamlined division undergoing reorganizational tests at Fort Sam Houston, Tex. From this proving ground they will be imposed on the army.

The war department has announced that effective in the fall of 1939, new "streamlined" infantry drill formations would be employed by the various components of the army of the United States.

Adaptable to Any Type.

The new regulations have been designed to provide a system of drill which can be used by any type of organization. Changes in strength or weapons will not necessitate revision of drill procedure. This has been effected by adopting the so-called "column of three" drill with provision to permit its use in column fours for units whose squads are not in multiples of three.

The positions, steps, and marchings performed by the individual soldier remain substantially unchanged. The marching cadence, however, has been reduced from 128 to 120 steps a minute. A few of the more difficult operations in the manual of arms have been simplified.

Under the new regulations a squad of foot troops without transportation will form in single rank, rather than in the double rank now customary, with the squad leader on the right. Squads within platoons will form one behind another. Columns will be formed by execution of the simple movement of right face by members of the squads.

Number in Squad Immaterial.

The number of men in the squad is immaterial to the performance of the drill of the unit, a distinct advantage, in view of the expansion of the rifle squad to twelve men when at war strength.

The drill for units with animal-drawn carts or pack transportation has been revised so as to make it identical with the drill for units with motor carriers. Therefore, if a machine gun squad finds a motor carrier substituted for pack equipment, instruction in a new type of drill will be unnecessary.

The drill designed for motor or wagon units is simply a means of forming and moving units which are composed entirely of vehicles. The movements are limited to getting the vehicles into a column or mass formation where they can follow a leader and operate as he directs.

A primary advantage of the revised drill regulations lies in the simplicity of the movements, which will facilitate instruction of recruits. The new drill procedure also will facilitate the prompt movement of units and individuals into battlefield formations.

The drill procedure pertaining to regulation ceremonies has been considerably modified, the "parade" having been assimilated by the "review," which becomes a simple but impressive ceremony. Under the revised regulations, a radical innovation will become effective in that officers and enlisted men being inspected by a reviewing officer will execute "eyes right" and then follow the reviewing officer with their eyes until he has passed their positions. Formerly persons in ranks under inspection looked straight to their immediate fronts.

However, for special ceremonial purposes, there have been retained battalion and regimental parade ceremonies.

FESTIVAL SINGER FINDS FAMILY OF MYSTERY YOUTH IN CHICAGO

A Chicago boy who ran away because he feared his parents would take him back to his native Germany was reunited with his family yesterday as a result of the Chicagoland Music Festival of Saturday night.

He is Helmut Lawrence Woithon, 17 years old, of 1613 Dayton street. He fled July 17. Next day he was taken into custody at Davenport, Ia., and lodged in the juvenile home there. He said he was from Chicago, but refused to tell his true name and address.

A Davenport rabbi who was once a Chicago social worker talked with him and guessed from the boy's remarks about his home that it was in the neighborhood of the Calvary Gospel mission. Probation Officer Paul D. Covert came here to sing at the music festival with the chorus of the First Christian church of Davenport. He investigated and found the runaway boy to be the son of Herman Woithon, who lives in the rear of the building that houses the mission. Covert said the Woithons told him they had given up their projected return to Germany. Helmut was sent home.

NAZI-RED PACT IS NO SURPRISE IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21 [Special].—Announcement in Berlin that Germany and the soviet union would sign a nonaggression pact Wednesday caused little surprise today in state department circles.

Chancellor Adolf Hitler's willingness to sell Russia war materials under the German-soviet trade agreement announced yesterday had been taken as a tangible demonstration by Hitler to Dictator Stalin that Germany no longer plans a direct assault on Russia, and it was known Stalin desires, if possible, to play a passive part in Europe.

It was believed here, however, that any German or soviet political agreement would be of a passive rather than an aggressive character. Officials who believed that Hitler has shifted from his plan, as outlined in his Mein Kampf [My Struggle], for a conquest of Russia to a drive to break up the British empire were supported in their views by the new development.

Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson said in a radio address tonight that forebodings of war abroad "increase the determination of our government that the United States shall not become embroiled in armed conflict if we can preserve peace with national honor."

THE ABC'S OF SILVER (6)

By CALEB

MRS. GRAYSON greeted the section manager's "Good morning" with: "We were speaking, last time, of Sheffield Plate, and you also promised to explain electroplating—as well as some other interesting matters."

"You're right. As I think I told you, genuine Sheffield left the market around 1840. But during its ninety years' career it was purchased by millions in lieu of solid silver. Plated ware rose to similar dominance in the role Sheffield formerly occupied—and was a process patented by the Messrs. Elkington on March 25, 1840. Actually, its discovery is credited to a medical student named Wright, near Sheffield, who sold the invention to its patentees.

"Electroplating is simply a method of depositing silver on nickel silver or white metal bodies by electro-decomposition. Its modern manufacturers offer a range of designs whose beauty and lasting service are above reproach with the most discriminating buyer. Sterling and plated ware both have their well-deserved places in the scheme of things. The one deception to beware of is that of copper, electroplated, all too often masquerading as 'Sheffield silver'."

"But tell me," queried Mrs. Grayson, "how the 'rattail' originated on spoons?" . . . "That's among the 'other interesting matters' I referred to," was the response. "Back in the 17th century, spoon handles and bowls were cast separately—the rattail was a mechanical device for holding the two together. Eventually, however, it became an integral part of the spoon, and still survives there as a distinctive beauty-mark.

"And speaking of spoons"—he beckoned his visitor. "Over in this case we have a complete reproduction of an old set of 'Apostles' Spoons' . . real rarities! In fact, Field's is one of the very few places where they can be obtained. Centuries ago, relatives and friends at christenings gave these quaint-shaped spoons, with a tiny silver statue of one of the Twelve Apostles on the end of the handle. A complete set became known as Apostles' Spoons—and a thirteenth, carrying the figure of Christ, was known as the Master Spoon."

"Exquisite!" exclaimed his listener. "And are there still other 'interesting matters' like these, that I should know about?" . . . "Yes," said the section manager, "I'm sure you'll enjoy the stories behind the three-handled loving cup, and our modern-day finger-bowl."

DEWEY ARRIVES TO VACATION AT MICHIGAN HOME

There Only for Rest, N. Y. Prosecutor Insists.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Owosso, Mich., Aug. 21.—Thomas E. Dewey, gangbusting district attorney of New York, arrived in his boyhood home this evening for a week's vacation with his mother, Mrs. George Martin Dewey. On arriving, he said he was here only for a rest and a social visit.

He put his foot down on plans for a public reception which the townsfolk proposed to give him. However, the week is expected to be productive of politics, for groups from Illinois, Indiana, and Iowa have indicated they expect to come here to meet the Republican presidential possibility.

Accompanying Dewey was Paul Lockwood, an assistant district attorney, and he was joined here tonight by Lem Jones, one of his secretaries. Dewey was met in Detroit by his mother, Sherman Welch, Shiawassee county clerk and a cousin of Dewey by marriage, and Don Mitchell, president of the Owosso Improvement association, a boyhood friend.

Drive from Detroit.

They drove here late this afternoon and Dewey went at once to his mother's spacious home, a corner house, which brought a comment from observers that it looked like a fine place for a front porch campaign. Show windows had blossomed out with pictures of the district attorney with the legend, "Welcome home."

In Detroit, Dewey was asked whether he would seek to get the Michigan delegates to the Republican national convention. He replied he has no intention of setting up an organization in his native state.

"I have had nothing to do," he said, "with the formation of the Owosso Dewey for President club."

Asked whether he had talked the situation over with Senator Arthur N. Vandenberg, Michigan's other Republican presidential possibility, Dewey said he had had dinner with Vandenberg in Washington last May.

Old Friends, He Says.

"We chatted until midnight about everything under the sun," he said, "but never discussed the Michigan delegation. I've known Arthur for years, of course, and we're old friends. This is purely a social vacation. I get home every year."

Friday noon the New York racket-buster plans to go to Lakeside, Mich., to visit Leonard C. Reid, a cousin of his mother, in whose office in Chicago he worked as a law clerk. Saturday night he plans to leave for New York.

The only event so far on Dewey's schedule in Owosso is a golf foursome tomorrow. Whether Dewey will make any public appearance while here is not yet known.

A. F. L. BUTCHERS TO FIGHT ARMOUR VICTORY BY C. I. O.

A petition will be filed with the National Labor Relations board within the next two weeks by the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of America, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, for a new election in the main stockyards plant of Armour & Co. This announcement was made yesterday by Patrick Gorman, international president of the union.

An election held in the plant last October was won by the Packinghouse Workers' Organizing committee, affiliated with the Congress of Industrial Organizations. As a result, the labor board certified the PWOC as bargaining agent. The Armour firm, however, is contesting this election in the federal courts. The company claims that the pay roll used by the labor board in determining the number of employés eligible to vote was not correct and it has filed a petition for a review of the board's decision with the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Three men were injured yesterday when a sidewalk slab on which they were walking collapsed in front of 1704 Wabash avenue, and dropped them into an abandoned coal vault. They were taken to St. Luke's hospital by a fire department ambulance. Two of the men, Leonard Alcott, 29 years old, of Bradley Beach, N. J., and Edwin Phillips, 20 years old, of Edwardsville, Pa., unemployed waiters, were only slightly hurt. The third, Joseph Cooney, 32 years old, Columbus, O., a truck driver, incurred a serious back injury.

DENIES A. F. OF L. HAS SUSPENDED PRINTERS' UNION

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 21 (AP).—Executive Secretary Frank Morrison said in a letter today the American Federation of Labor has not suspended the International Typographical union, as reported last week, but is considering so doing.

The letter was sent to Woodruff Randolph, secretary-treasurer of the I. T. U., in convention here. Previous reports said the I. T. U. had been suspended because it had not provided an assessment demanded by the A. F. of L.

Morrison's letter explained the executive council of the A. F. of L. adopted a resolution to the effect that if the I. T. U. at its convention here fails to make provision for the 1 cent a month per member assessment the A. F. of L. may take action toward suspension.

The A. F. of L. contends the I. T. U. has failed to pay approximately $16,000 in assessments. The I. T. U. at two previous conventions and in one referendum of its membership has voted against paying the assessment, contending the funds are to be used in fighting the C. I. O.

First of 4,000 Policemen Take Federal Radio Exams

Chicago police yesterday began taking examinations for federal licenses to operate two-way radio transmitters. Donald Murray, inspector for the federal communications commission, gave tests to the first group at the Central police building, 1121 South State street. More than 4,000 members of the department must take similar tests within the next two months. Chiefly the police operators must know the provisions of federal law governing radio and the penalty for violations.

WPA PLANS FREE LUNCH DAILY FOR 285,000 PUPILS

Sets Out to Feed Half of Downstate Students!

The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation has decided that 285,000 of the 560,000 children in Illinois schools outside of Chicago need free lunches daily during the school year. About one out of every six persons downstate already is supported by some form of public funds.

Charles E. Miner, state administrator, announced yesterday that a program to furnish free lunches to pupils will be sent next week to the Washington offices of the Work Projects administration. It is said that the proposed mass feeding program was fostered by the FSCC. WPA workers will be used to prepare and serve the food.

Buy Food to Peg Prices.

The FSCC is a division of the department of agriculture. It is trying to bolster farm commodity prices through purchases on the open market. Its funds come from import taxes. The foodstuffs it purchases are distributed to reliefers. Last year a maximum of 10,000 school lunches a day were provided in downstate areas.

WPA officials said the program is still in the tentative stage and that no estimates have been prepared on the costs per meal.

The Illinois Emergency Relief commission will be the nominal sponsor of the project, but its officials said last night that the commission will not provide any funds. Any extra money needed, it was said, will have to come from co-sponsors, such as local school boards.

The FSCC does not buy foodstuffs on the basis of the dietary needs of reliefers, or school children, its purchases being governed by sagging commodity prices that need bolstering in the market. Officials last night could not explain how menus under such a system could be sufficiently diversified for day to day use.

Chicago Schools Shun Plan.

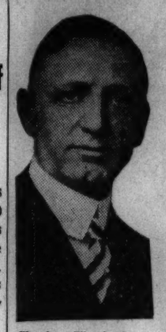
Frank O. Washam, director of the lunchroom department of the Chicago board of education, said he was approached last May on the matter of an FSCC free lunch program in the Chicago schools, but found the project was not feasible. Children who are entirely without funds are fed by the board, he said.

Children of limited funds have access to the penny lunchrooms, wherein they can obtain a full meal for 5 cents or less. Although these lunchrooms cost the board about $120,000 a year, Washam said that it is deemed best to have the children pay for meals when they can.

Under the FSCC proposal, he continued, the board would have been forced to spend large sums for food to supplement the so-called free lunches. The board felt that it was cheaper and better for the morale of the children to continue the present system, Washam said.

CHARLES W. HADLEY ENTERS G. O. P. RACE FOR ATTY. GENERAL

Charles W. Hadley of Wheaton last night announced his candidacy for the nomination for attorney general of Illinois in the Republican state primary next April. He was his party's nominee for the same office in 1936.



Charles W. Hadley.

His announcement was made at a meeting of the Du Page county central committee called in Wheaton for the presentation of a petition urging him to run. His candidacy was indorsed in resolutions which referred to "the graft, corruption, and waste of immense public funds in our state government."

Hadley served as an assistant attorney general from 1922 to 1929 under Attorneys General Edward J. Brundage and Oscar E. Carlstrom. Under the former he prosecuted vice and graft in Rock Island and under Carlstrom he completed the civil suit against Len Small for the recovery of state funds which was begun under Brundage.

OLSON DISCUSSED FOR JOB OF STATE COMMERCE CHIEF

Andrew Olson of Moline was discussed in political circles yesterday as Gov. Horner's possible choice as chairman of the state commerce commission to succeed Paul J. Raver who submitted his resignation earlier in the day, to take effect on Sept. 15.

Paul J. Raver.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

Raver was appointed to the chairmanship on July 26, less than four weeks ago, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of James M. Slattery, whom Gov. Horner appointed United States senator to succeed the late James Hamilton Lewis. Raver now surrenders his briefly held state office to become federal administrator of the Bonneville dam power project in Oregon and Washington.

His appointment to the new office was announced in Washington, D. C., by Secretary of the Interior Ickes. This was followed by Raver's announcement of his resignation from the Illinois commission. Gov. Horner later announced that he had accepted the resignation.

Olson now is a member of the commission. He is a veteran Democrat, served three terms as mayor of Moline, and has been his party's nominee for lieutenant governor and secretary of state.

WILD STRIKE RIOT IN BARRE, MASS.; POLICE ROUTED

Barre, Mass., Aug. 21 [Special].—Twenty Worcester county deputy sheriffs armed with clubs and tear gas arrived here tonight after a day of wild strike rioting in which women were stripped of their outer clothing, workers' cars were stoned and overturned, and local police repulsed.

The rioting is the outgrowth of the strike called five weeks ago at the Barre Wool Combing company's plant, after four employés were discharged because of a dispute over working conditions. The day's disorders started at 4:30 a. m.

Acting in response to an official appeal for help, citing that the town's police force was insufficient to maintain order, Sherif H. Oscar Rocheleau moved in with his twenty deputies to take charge of the strike situation. It was felt that the arrival of the deputies would make it unnecessary for state authorities to assign state troopers to the strike area. Last week Gov. Leverett Saltonstall withdrew forty troopers from the town after the striking group promised there would be no violence.

TROUSER MAKER IS JAILED UNDER WAGE-HOUR ACT

Elkins, W. Va., Aug. 21 (AP).—Federal Judge William E. Baker today ordered a trouser manufacturer jailed for six months for contempt of court for failing to comply with the wage-hour law.

Government counsel said the defendant, Sanford Lerner, was the first to be sentenced to jail under the act administered by Elmer F. Andrews.

Lerner is vice president and general manager of the Standard Trouser company of Buckhannon, W. Va., and an official of the Crown Trouser company of Williamsport, Pa. The government contended that payments of $3,125.23 were due his employés.

VOTES OF CO-OP HEADS TO RULE MILK ELECTION

Minority of Farmers to Mark Ballots.

BY HAL FOUST.

The 16,000 farmers who produce milk for the Chicago market last night were discussing and voting on whether they want Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to fix their prices. As predicted, most of them were voting yes, since farmer organizers have promised that federal regulation will mean higher prices to the herd owners.

This is part of a referendum election among the dairymen. Ballots were in the mail yesterday from the United States department of agriculture, division of marketing agreements.

Only a minority of the farmers will be expressing themselves individually as to whether they want government control of their business. The Pure Milk association, representing approximately two-thirds of the producers on the Chicago market, is authorized to vote its membership as a solid unit. Sixteen other coöperatives have been authorized by the government to vote their membership.

Provisions of the Law.

Under the agricultural agreement act of 1937 Wallace is empowered to appoint an administrator for a market with a vote of two-thirds of the producers, two-thirds either numerically or in volume of produce.

The board of directors of the Pure Milk association might be able to swing the election by itself.

Arthur H. Lauterbach, general manager of the association, said that each of the fifteen district directors was using his own method of determining the sentiment of his members. They were holding district meetings last night in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana. The board is to meet today.

Members of the sixteen smaller coöperatives qualified to vote as a unit also were in session last night in various towns in the milk shed.

Sentiment of the Pure Milk association district meetings that had been reported early today was heavily in favor of price fixing by Secretary Wallace. Members or their delegates voted to instruct their district director in favor of government control at all but one of these meetings. The director was authorized to vote as he saw fit at the other meeting.

District Meetings Held.

Meetings reported, territory represented, and the directors:

District 5, meeting at Marengo: Northern McHenry county, parts of De Kalb and Boone counties, and the neighborhood of Big Foot—Wesley Waldo of Big Foot.

District 14, Kankakee: Kankakee county and parts of Will and Iroquois counties—G. E. Eckhoff of Kankakee, president of the Pure Milk association.

District 15, Crown Point, Ind.: Lake county and part of Jasper, Newton, and Porter counties—Harry H. Meyer of Crown Point. He was the director authorized to vote as he chooses.

Predicts Retail Boost.

Lauterbach told the dairymen at Valparaiso that the retail price of milk would probably go up if government control is established.

The list of voters in this referendum was compiled by William B. Connor, agent designated by Secretary Wallace to conduct this poll. Connor is listed on the regular pay roll of the department as senior administrative officer of field investigation. His Chicago office is at 506 South Wabash avenue.

This agent compiled his list from the Chicago board of health records of those dairies that sold to this market in April of 1939. All producers are licensed by the city board.

Must Be Mailed by Friday.

Those farmers who sold their milk independently rather than through the Pure Milk association or some other coöperative were to receive a ballot for them to mark personally. The ballots were mailed on Sunday night. Any farmer who believes himself qualified for this referendum, but who doesn't receive a ballot, is asked to address Connor, who will rule on his qualifications.

The ballots must be returned to Connor bearing postmarks not later than 11:59 p. m. Friday, Aug. 25. The agent said his staff would compile the results over the week-end and report to Washington. The results will be announced in Washington.

Chicago milk dealers also received referendum ballots yesterday. However, under the law if Wallace receives a presidential o. k. he can ignore the expressed wishes of the dealers. Without the presidential o. k. he needs a favorable vote of more than 50 per cent of the dealers as well as 66⅔ per cent of the farmers. It was predicted that a large number, probably a majority of the dealers, will ignore their ballots.

Opportune Time Chosen.

The AAA milk price control is being initiated gently. The terms of a tentative contract, fixed at a public hearing in Chicago last month, would make little change in the present prices paid to farmers. From a consumer's standpoint the only persons who would suffer are the thrifty housewives who have been store shopping for milk below standard prices. Under federal control all dealers would be required to pay a uniform price for their milk. This would tend to flatten the range in retail prices.

The plan is also being initiated at an opportune time. It is expected to go into effect about the time schools open next month. This opening is followed by an increase in milk consumption. It improves the farmer's market. It tends to maintain his prices with or without government control.

By making little change in the farmers' prices in starting the program dealers cannot blame the government for any immediate raise in retail charges. A possibility of a retail price boost in the near future is based on seasonal increase in the farmers' prices on July 16.

Big dealers and the associated smaller dealers are not expected o make any immediate fight against the government regulation although they opposed it. They say that the federal regulation, as long as the prices approximate those of natural economics, will have no detrimental effect on the industry. Besides, he government rules temporarily will curb price cutting, which the trade calls "chiseling" and housewives call "bargain selling."

Trouble Due in Spring.

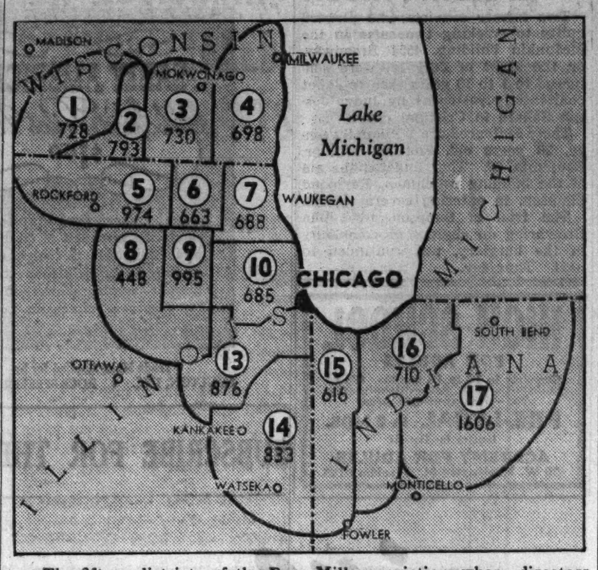
The troubles from milk price fixing, judging from experiences in other markets, will not become prevalent until next spring when the herds will produce a heavy surplus. Government regulation tends to maintain prices when overproduction would lower prices. An investigation in eastern markets, conducted for Gov. Horner, found that control was responsible for a 2 cent increase in prices charged housewives.

Higher prices, according to the governor's investigation, drove consumers to powdered and canned milk, shrinking the market for the fluid food and shrinking the farmer's market for his premium product.

The sixteen coöperatives in addition to the Pure Milk association announced by Connor as qualified to vote their members as a unit are:

Albion Coöperative Creamery company, Albion, Wis.; Antigo Milk Products Coöperative, Antigo, Wis.; Barron Coöperative Creamery, Barron, Wis.; Columbus Milk Products Coöperative, Astigo, Wis.; Consolidated Badger Coöperative, Shawano, Wis.; Farmers Coöperative Milk company, Chicago; Genoa City Coöperative Milk association, Genoa, Wis.; Guernsey Milk Products Coöperative, Wales, Wis.; Hampshire Milk company, Hampshire, Ill.; Kaukauna Coöperative Dairy, Kaukauna, Wis.; Ladysmith Milk Products Coöperative association, Ladysmith, Wis.; Lake View Coöperative Dairy, Watertown, Wis.; Plato Milk company, Plato Center, Ill.; Pure Milk association, Chicago; Pure Milk Products Coöperative, Madison; Union Milk company, Inc., Union, Ill.; West De Pere Creamery company, West De Pere, Wis.

Milk Co-operative's District Lineup



The fifteen districts of the Pure Milk association, whose directors will vote as a unit on whether the farmer members in their districts want government price fixing for the industry. The director of each district is using his own method of determining the sentiment of his members. The number of these in each district is shown. Originally there were seventeen districts. In 1934, however, by a redistricting plan No. 11 was absorbed by No. 10 and No. 12 by No. 8.

Three Drowned as Maine Cloudburst Swells Creek

West Baldwin, Me., Aug. 21 (AP).—Three persons were believed to have drowned late today in a brok swollen far beyond its normal size by a cloudburst which drenched the northern tips of Cumberland and York counties. The victims, carried into roaring Breakneck brook when a culvert over which they were standing gave way, were: Clarence Lamont, 42 years old; Mrs. Marcia Cotton, 32, and her daughter, Rachel, 8, all of East Hiram.

N. Y. Milk Supply Is Cut More than 50 Pct.

BULLETIN.

New York, Aug. 22 (Tuesday).—(AP).—A plan was adopted early today to settle the milk strike at a conference called by Mayor Fiorello La Guardia. He announced a formula had been accepted for a blended milk price of $2.15 a hundredweight (forty-seven quarts) to farmers until Oct. 1, unless the price to be set under the federal-state marketing agreement should be higher. Archie Wright, head of the dairymen's union, said definite settlement had not been made, but the proposal will be submitted to the union. The mayor said a majority of the city's dealers would accept the terms.

New York, Aug. 21 [Special.]—Belligerent dairy farmers battled state troopers today in a new outburst of violence in their C. I. O. backed strike that has cut the flow of milk into metropolitan New York by more than 50 per cent.

A crowd of 2,500 persons watched pickets at a milk plant in Hammond fight with troopers guarding deliveries. Numerous combatants on both sides of the affray received bruises and skinned knuckles.

Pickets Carry Clubs.

In another flareup on the outskirts of Syracuse, thirty farmers attacked two troopers who were guarding a milk truck. They beat the troopers and two truckmen, dumped 600 quarts of milk and fled.

Sergt. Howard T. Spellicy, who, with Trooper John M. Doyle, was guarding the milk, said the milk truck was overtaken at a trafic light by five carloads of pickets who had been following for several miles. The pickets were armed with clubs.

Strikers spoiled milk with kerosene on several Ulster county farms. Milk dumpings were reported in Frankfort and near Herkimer. Justice of the Peace Burt Eaton of Schuyler was injured when pickets dumped fifty cans of milk from a truck in which he was riding in Frankfort.

Shortage Boosts Price.

The picketing and dumpings in the week-old strike continued to reduce the supply of milk required for New York's 7,000,000 residents. Less than half the normal supply of 4,400,000 quarts daily, including 1,000,000 quarts for processing, was flowing into the city.

New York City milkmen were ordered to concentrate deliveries on homes with children. With many stores out of milk and turning customers away, 11 cent grade B milk was reported being sold in some cases for as high as 17 cents a quart.

Efforts to settle the strike were concentrated meanwhile in New York, where Mayor Fiorello La Guardia met with representatives of the farmers and the city distributors.

Before the meeting strike delegates guaranteed that if necessary a minimum supply of milk would be permitted to go through picket lines to a municipal distributing agency.

The strike is being led by the Dairy Farmers' union of which Archie Wright, former maritime union organizer, is head.

OFFICIALS PASS SLOT MACHINE BUCK TO COUNTY

And Sherif Is Unavailable for Comment.

With the exception of Sherif Thomas J. O'Brien, county officials charged with enforcing the law yesterday discussed their policy regarding the legal ban on slot machines. The sherif could not be found.

The officials were asked about the accusation of Arthur S. Smith, chairman of the Illinois liquor control commission. On Sunday Smith charged that hundreds of syndicate operated slot machines are being tolerated in Cook county. He called Cook county's enforcement of the anti-slot machine law a joke.

Many Machines Whirling.

The machines were whirring merrily last night in many sections of the county, despite an expected Monday night slump. However, none was found in the southern section of the county or along roadhouse row on Dempster street in Morton Grove, where they had collected a harvest over the week-end.

On the Dempster street section of Niles Center there were twelve machines in five taverns. There were ten more in the center of town, near the police station. Lincolnwood was wide open with ten machines in three roadside inns near Devon, Touhy, and Lincoln avenues. Farther north, on Skokie boulevard, four were counted in the Villa Moderne, three in the Chalet, and half a dozen in the Skidmore-Johnson casino, known as the Gateway, near the Lake county line.

Courtney Police Too Busy.

"My men pick up the machines wherever they are found," declared State's Attorney Courtney. "But the policemen assigned to me are busy on criminal investigation. They are not supposed to do patrol duty.

"If the village, county, and state police who do patrol duty wanted to stop slot machine gambling they could do it in two days. All they would need would be orders. As it is, the state's attorney is the only one confiscating machines."

Whenever his men see a slot machine, Courtney said, he first sends the address of the place, usually a tavern, to Sherif O'Brien. The sherif's lieutenant, Chief Lester Laird of the county highway police, reports back by letter that the machines have been seized.

In a few days, however, the machines are running again, reports of the state's attorney's men say.

Tells of Weekly Raids.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, Courtney's chief investigator, said that a squad confiscated five machines in River Grove, Elmwood Park, and Franklin Park Saturday night. This is the usual weekly average, he said.

Sherif O'Brien is head of the county's police. Laird, chief of the force, said that slot machines are not tolerated. Last week, the chief stated, his deputies confiscated more than twenty-five.

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, said that the board had no police force. Its jurisdiction extends over unincorporated territory, where the sherif is the only county law enforcer.

"The law provides," Smith said, "that the law enforcing agencies of the county should report all violations of the slot machine law to the board. If such reports are made we will revoke the liquor license if the violation is in a place selling liquor. That is our only recourse."

What Town Officials Say.

The heads of several western suburbs were philosophical about the slot machine question. Martin Enger, president of River Grove, said he only had four policemen. He added that no one ever would be able to stop gambling. His town has about twenty machines.

John Rust, mayor of Willow Springs, said he and his one policeman were leaving slot machine enforcement to the county. Rust admitted several machines were running. Andrew Frenzel, president of Melrose Park, said he couldn't do much with a small police force.

Lieut. Henry Andel of the Homewood county highway police last night seized two machines in South Chicago Heights, one at 3515 Chicago road and the other at 2901 Chicago road.

SKIDMORE JURY TO CALL CAPONE GAMING CHIEF

Minor figures among Chicago's gambling rackets appeared yesterday before the federal grand jury investigating William R. Skidmore's income. It was explained they were paving the way for the calling of the higherups, including Frank Nitti.

United State's Attorney William J. Campbell, directing the inquiry, was not at the United States courthouse yesterday. One report said he was home suffering from a cold. Another said he was secretly questioning important witnesses who know how the money rolls into Skidmore's coffers—and how it is parceled out. The government filed a $220,007 income tax claim against Skidmore last Feb. 23 on the basis of money traced to him at that time.

Federal employés say it is no secret in Chicago that the old Capone syndicate, now headed by Nitti, levies an assessment against every handbook in the city and county. This money, they said, is paid to Skidmore, who was once a Democratic ward committeeman on the west side and who has political as well as gang connections.

Desperado's Widow Given 10 Years as Bank Robber

Deadwood, S. D., Aug. 21 (AP).—Stella Mae Dickson, 16 year old widow of the slain "public enemy," Benny Dickson, pleaded guilty in federal court today to robbery of two South Dakota banks and was sentenced to ten years in the women's industrial reformatory at Alderson, W. Va. Brought to Mitchell last spring after her capture in Kansas City following the slaying of her desperado husband at St. Louis by G-men, Mrs. Dickson has been held in the county jail there until she was brought here yesterday to enter her plea.

OBSERVER BEGINS HIS DUTIES TODAY IN FELONY COURT

The Chicago Crime commission will place an observer in the Felony court this morning, R. W. Dvorak, acting director, said yesterday. The action is the result of charges that a case was fixed in the court 10 days ago before Judge Eugene L. McGarry. Dvorak said the court docket will be examined after each adjournment to see whether changes have been made in it. Bonds and the disposition of each case also will be scrutinized, he said.

The fix charge was made after Frank Klakowicz was granted probation afte. he had been sentenced to serve a year in jail for theft. Klakowicz later was indicted and sentenced to a year by Judge Joseph Sabath in the Criminal court.

Judge McGarry was reported to have said that he granted the probation at the request of Ald. Joseph Rostenkowski [32d]. Both the judge and the alderman denied the accusation. The Chicago Bar association is conducting an investigation of the charges.

2 YEGGS PLEAD GUILTY, GET 1-10 YEARS IN PRISON

Two former convicts who pleaded guilty to cracking two safes in the McJunkin building, 4554 Broadway, on the night of July 16, were sentenced to 1 to 10 years each in Joliet penitentiary yesterday by Judge Joseph Sabath in Criminal court.

Those sentenced are William Sweeney, 28 years old, and his brother, Benjamin, 27. They enlisted the aid of the building watchman, Raymond Simpson, in entering several offices.

Why is a magazine like a cat?

WHY is a magazine like a cat? Because it has more than one life . . . a gift for reappearing again and again after its days are apparently numbered . . . a genius for continuing to thrive on "borrowed time"!

Business men have known for years that each copy of Collier's, Liberty, LIFE, and the Saturday Evening Post lives for many people besides its original purchaser . . . that it is read by several in each household it enters . . . that it usually passes on to influence still more readers beyond that household.

But, until recently, advertisers have had no accurate measure of the great weeklies' multiple, useful lives. There has been available no dependable gauge of how many more people read these magazines than buy them.

A Vital Need Now Filled

Such a measure, however, at last is being supplied—by LIFE's "Continuing Study of Magazine Audiences." And to advertisers long conscious of the limitations of circulation information, the Study now discloses audience information as valuable as it is eye-opening. For instance:

Collier's, Liberty, LIFE, and the Saturday Evening Post in combination reach a total net unduplicated weekly audience of 40,100,000 people!

The Study and its illuminating findings rest on the solid base of modern scientific research method—the kind that predicts election results and sounds public opinion with such startling precision.

Thus, the true total influence of America's four greatest weekly magazines is dependably and concretely established. Reliable statistics now show that together these magazines deliver an audience every week of more than one-third of our total population above the age of 10 years, including at least one-half the total market for most advertised goods . . . that they concentrate most of their power in urban centers, where business is biggest . . . that they provide, every single week, probably the most inclusive, effective, and economical means of reaching the active buyers in America!

Value of Study Recognized

Advertisers are welcoming, accepting, using the new knowledge being brought to light by this Study. Significantly, they are increasing their advertising space in every one of the "Big Four" weeklies—increasing it by a composite of 17.8% during the first 6 months of 1939, as compared with the same period of 1938. And advertising plans, now being formulated for 1940, show a continuance of this trend.

LIFE is pleased that the "Continuing Study" is contributing appreciably toward a more efficient investment of advertising funds.

Below are the latest Audience Figures revealed by the Study—showing the number of people who see, open, and read part or all of each issue of the four largest weekly magazines:

Magazine	Circulation*	Audience
COLLIER'S . . .	2,744,475	15,800,000
LIBERTY	2,549,618	13,800,000
LIFE	2,375,678	18,200,000
SATEVEPOST . .	3,103,019	13,100,000

NEW LOUISIANA SCANDAL BARED IN INDICTMENTS

Kingfish's Aid and Others Named in Bond Fraud.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 21 (AP).—The long smouldering New Orleans levee board scandal was brought into the open today by the indictment of Abraham L. Shushan, a top henchman of the late Senator Huey [Kingfish] Long, and four New Orleans business leaders on charges of mail fraud.

A federal grand jury returned the indictments in the midst of the stir caused by the suicide last night of Dr. J. A. Shaw, Louisiana's oil czar. His death forced prosecutors to alter their plans in the "hot oil" cases, for he was to have been the government's key witness.

The new indictments charged the five defendants split nearly $400,000 in fraudulent fees paid for refinancing bonds of the New Orleans levee board.

Huey Long Empire Shaken.

The action brought under federal indictment three of the four leading lieutenants of the late Senator Long who took over Louisiana's political reins in 1935 when bullets cut short the Kingfish's spectacular career.

Former Gov. Richard W. Leche and Seymour Weiss, hotel man, already face criminal charges. Mayor Robert Maestri of New Orleans remains the only one of the high command left free to attempt salvage of the once mighty Long machine.

Accused with Shushan, who was acquitted in 1935 on an income tax evasion charge, were Attorney Herbert Waguespack, Financiers Robert J. Newman and Norvin T. Harris, and Accountant Henry J. Miller. The first four all made bond of $15,000. Miller was freed on $5,000 bond.

Bond Deal Described.

The indictment alleged:

The investment firm of Newman, Harris & Co., with the approval of Shushan and assistance of Waguespack, then a member of the board, obtained a contract to refinance $5,485,000 worth of levee board bonds for a fee of 25 per cent of the savings. These savings were represented as approximately $2,000,000 but actually amounted to only $729,000.

After payment of about $12,000 to Charles Fitere, now dead, as a bribe for acting as a spy on competitors, the five men divided $398,220.01 as follows: Shushan, $132,740; Newman and Harris, $99,550 each; Waguespack, $46,450.01, and Miller, $19,911.

Huey Long made Shushan president of the levee board in 1929, which post he held until October, 1935, when he resigned after his income tax trial.

The $4,000,000 Shushan airport, named in honor of Shushan, was renamed New Orleans airport a fortnight ago when Shushan refused to come before the levee board to explain his part in the bond deal.

State Senator Indicted.

Another lesser Long lieutenant was drawn into the federal drive against corruption today when State Senator Clarence A. Lorio of Baton Rouge was indicted on a mail fraud charge in another case. Already under state indictment at Baton Rouge, Lorio was accused of using his influence at Louisiana State university to gain approval of electrical contracts on raised bids, splitting half of a profit of $12,600 obtained through this work.

Dr. James Monroe Smith, much indicted former president of Louisiana State university, also was indicted today on charges of income tax evasion of $9,252.90 in 1936.

Government attorneys made no effort to hide their disappointment over the death of Dr. Shaw, but expressed determination to go ahead. Shaw was to have been the principal witness against Leche and Weiss on charges they conspired to violate the Connally "hot oil" act.

Indicted

(Story in adjoining column.)

Abraham L. Shushan, Louisiana political leader and associate of late Huey Long, indicted yesterday at New Orleans on charges of using mails to defraud.

Accused Slayer of Parrot Ill; Warant Goes Unserved

Policeman Lawrence Schupolsky reported yesterday to the Shakespeare avenue police that he was unable to serve a warant on Mrs. Genevieve Gehring, 2149 North Springfield avenue, because of a physician's certificate which stated she was too ill to leave her home. The warant, charging cruelty to animals, was obtained by Miss Ida Bresemann, who lives in the same building. Miss Bresemann on Friday accused Mrs. Gehring of drowning her parrot.

GRAFTING MAYOR IN CONNECTICUT GIVEN 10 YEARS

Ex-Banker, 22 Others Get Prison Terms, Too.

Waterbury, Conn., Aug. 21 (AP).—Mayor Frank Hayes, convicted last week by a Superior court jury of conspiracy in plundering the municipal treasury of more than 1 million dollars in the last eight years was sentenced tonight from ten to fifteen years in the state prison at Wethersfield.

Mayor Frank Hayes.

Only one other among the twenty-three accused arraigned before Judge Ernest A. Inglis in the climax to Connecticut's greatest courtroom drama received a penalty equally as heavy as that imposed upon the 56 year old bachelor mayor who was lieutenant governor in the then Democratic state administration from 1935 to 1938. He was Daniel J. Leary, former city controler, whose office was described by the prosecution as the "nerve center" of the conspiracy.

Linked to Hayes and Leary.

Carl D. Olsen, former Waterbury bank executive, and Ald. Thomas P. Kelly, the mayor's executive secretary, both of whom were linked by the state to Hayes and Leary as key conspirators in a municipal reign of "rampant corruption" from 1930 to 1938, were sentenced to from seven to twelve years.

All except eight of the accused received prison terms. Seven of the eight, including three who testified for the state, were sentenced to jail, and the case of the eighth was suspended indefinitly.

Roraback's Aid Sentenced.

Harry E. Mackenzie and Charles E. Williamson, once powerful Republican leaders and trusted lieutenants of Connecticut's late political boss, J. Henry Roraback, were sentenced to jail. Mackenzie, who pleaded guilty, must serve nine months. Williamson, who pleaded innocent but, like Mackenzie, testified for the state that $58,400 in legislative lobbying fees paid by the city were split with Leary, was sentenced to a year in jail and fined $500.

Judge Inglis granted stays of execution for Mayor Hayes and the nineteen others convicted last Wednesday and fixed appeal bonds ranging from $50,000 down to $5,000.

Youth Shot and Captured Admits Oklahoma Slaying

Enid, Okla., Aug. 21 (AP).—One of two youths shot and captured near here today was reported by Sherif Bud Branom to have admitted the slaying last night of Night Watchman August G. Nowka at Tuttle, Okla. The captives, Lee Bowen, 20, of Enid, and Hugh Douglas, 21, of Tuttle, were wounded critically early today when officers halted their flight toward Kansas north of here.

Kenosha Tavern Man Kills One Robber; Second Seized

Kenosha, Wis., Aug. 21 [Special].—Awakened when his fox terrier dog nuzzled him without barking at 2:30 o'clock this morning, George Kearns stood up behind the bar in his filling station-tavern and watched two men break in the rear door. When the pair started to enter the building Kearns fired two blasts with a repeating shotgun and wounded one of the intruders fatally. The other, a former policeman, was caught several hours later in his home in Milwaukee.

Kearns' place at the intersection of Highway 41 and Boolamore Forks road, eight miles west of Kenosha and eight miles north of the Illinois line, was robbed last July 15 and again on Aug. 5. Kearns then decided to sleep there in the hope of catching the robbers.

Sleeps Behind His Bar.

Last night was the sixteenth he slept on a pallet behind the bar and out of sight of possible intruders. Each night his terrier, Spotty, 3 years old, slept with him. Last night Spotty's sensitive ears heard an automobile roll to a stop in the rear of the building and he awakened his master.

Kearns remained silent as the prowlers ripped out part of the glass in the tavern door, reached inside and pushed back the bolt. When the door opened Kearns fired twice and saw in the flash that he had blown away part of one man's face. Backing away from the door, he fired the third and fourth time and then remembered that he only had put four shells in the gun.

Kearns saw the wounded man's companion drag him toward their automobile. Then a shot came through a rear window of the car. Kearns fled out the front door and hid in a ditch across the road until he heard the robbers driving away after firing five more shots into the building. Kearns then got out his car, drove a mile to a telephone and called the Kenosha county sherif's office.

Asked to Call Ambulance.

A short time later a man entered Guller's Highlands tavern at the intersection of Highways 41 and 20, west of Racine and five miles from Kearns' place. He told Russell Beach, the bartender, that a man had been hurt in an automobile accident and asked him to call an ambulance.

Beach called the Racine county sherif's office and a few minutes later two deputy sherifs dropped in. They saw the injured man had been shot and one of them took the license number of the car in which he was riding.

When the ambulance arrived the wounded man was started for a hospital in Racine and his companion drove away. The wounded man died on reaching the hospital. Papers in his pockets identified him as George Mandell of Milwaukee.

Confesses 16 Robberies.

Tracing the automobile license, Racine county officers asked Milwaukee police to arrest Ernest Berg. Found in his home at 2637 North Shore drive, the car standing in his yard, Berg confessed the dead man was his step-son, George Mandell, 20.

Berg, 43, was a Milwaukee policeman for eighteen years until 1938, when he was discharged because of domestic trouble. Several months later he married Mrs. Ethel Mandell, mother of George and two other children.

Tonight Berg confessed to Detective Captain Adolph Kraemer of Milwaukee that he had committed ten robberies in Milwaukee and six burglaries in the county since last March 30. He said he got $177.65 in cash and an undetermined amount of merchandise, including a service revolver which he took from a policeman whom he overpowered on a street.

TELLS NAZI PLOT FOR PROPAGANDA IN U. S. COLLEGES

Dies Quiz Witness Bares Consul's Book Offer.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—A university president today told the Dies committee investigating un-American activities that the German consul at New Orleans had tried to influence faculty members at two southern universities toward the Nazi philosophy.

John H. Sherman. [A. P. Wire Photo.]

Dr. John Harvey Sherman, president of Tampa [Florida] university and a world war flying captain, told the house committee that the consul, Baron Edgar von Spiegel, attempted last year to influence the university's faculty through a gift of books from the Nazi government.

Dr. Sherman also testified the president of Tulane university told him last March that "he was quite discontented with the activities of Von Spiegel."

Professor an Anti-Nazi.

The proffered gift of German books to Tampa was on the condition of assurance to the donor that the German professor at the university would be "adequate," Dr. Sherman said.

The German chair at the university at the time was occupied by Dr. Otto T. Kraus, an anti-Nazi, who had been the subject of a series of attacks, Dr. Sherman testified.

When questioned by Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] of the committee, Dr. Sherman said he could not prove it but he believed that the offer of books and the suggestion that the college get an "adequate German professor" came as the result of Dr. Kraus' criticism of the Nazi régime.

Library Offer Described.

On March 10, 1938, Dr. Sherman testified, Ernest Berger, German consul at Tampa, called and said he had a friend whom he believed could be induced to give the university a library. An appointment was made.

When Berger arrived, the witness said, he introduced Von Spiegel and Dr. Sherman inquired whether "this is the gentleman who wants to give the library."

"It is not I, but my government," Dr. Sherman quoted the baron as replying.

The witness said the baron declared it was his government's practice to donate German books, but that his government, "of course, wants to be sure that the professor in charge is adequate."

"At that point the conversations ceased to be pleasant," said Dr. Sherman, adding that he got rid of the baron as quickly as he could.

Denies Sherman Statement.

Griffin, Ga., Aug. 21 (AP).—President Rufus Harris of Tulane university of New Orleans denied tonight he had said a German consul "snuggled up to the members of his faculty." The statement was attributed to Harris by President John H. Sherman of Tampa [Fla.] university, who testified today before the house committee on un-American activities. He said, however, he did approve Dr. Sherman's resentment of efforts of Baron Edgar von Spiegel, German consul at New Orleans, to influence members of the faculty of Tampa university by donating books from the Nazi government.

13 AT INDIANA LEGION CONVENTION MADE ILL WITH FOOD POISONING

Bloomington, Ind., Aug. 21 (AP).—Thirteen persons, attending the American Legion state convention here, were stricken with food poisoning late today and taken to a Bloomington hospital. Physicians said two of them are in a serious condition. The two most seriously ill are Mrs. Lawrence Lucas and Mrs. Leota Cook, both of Lafayette.

Others stricken are Mrs. Oscar Stump, Mrs. Harold Haae, Mrs. Donald Davenport, and Dwight Lemon, all of Indianapolis; Mrs. Gertrude Bruner, Fort Benjamin Harrison; Miss Esther Wilson, Mitchell; Miss Ida Eastin, Brownstown; Leota Schaeffer and Mrs. Herman Schmidt, both of Lafayette; Claude Harris, Vincennes, and Edward De Weese, Oakland.

LEGION STAGES BIGGEST AND BEST PARADE IN PEORIA

Takes 3 Hours to Pass Reviewing Stand.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 21 (AP).—The Illinois department of the American Legion took time off from convention duties today to stage what its officials described as the "biggest and best" parade in the 21 year history of the organization.

Taking three hours to pass the reviewing stand, the marching units were composed of 44 drum corps, hundreds of stands of colors, six military bands, numerous floats and ten engines pulling the Forty and Eight's dinky freight cars.

Business Session Ends.

Massed along the line of march was one of the biggest crowds ever to throng Peoria's streets.

Today's official business of the convention ceased at noon after approval was given a national defense program which would enable the United States' forces to meet any emergency. It sanctioned a resolution introduced by Maj. Omar McMakin of Salem which called for a regular army of 180,000 enlisted men and 15,000 officers, 75,000 enlisted reserves of the regular army, and a National Guard of 210,000 men with a proportionate number of officers.

Chicago Drum Corps Wins.

Commonwealth Edison post of Chicago won first place today in the class A drum corps parade competition. Second was Danville; third, Van Buren, Chicago; fourth, Victory, Chicago, and fifth, Board of Trade, Chicago. Evanston post, No. 42, had the highest score, but was disqualified for using nonmembers of the Legion. Squart post, Chicago, won the class B parade competition.

Peoria won first place in the class A band competition. South Shore, Chicago, was second, and Jacksonville, third.

Class B band competition was won by Lincoln. Monmouth post, No. 136, won the ritual team contest.

TRIBUNE GARAGE CORNER STONE IS LAID WITH RITES

The corner stone for the ultra-modern garage which will house and service THE TRIBUNE's big fleet of trucks was laid yesterday in a simple ceremony in which department heads and members of the circulation staf of the newspaper took part. The ground for the new structure, which will be completed in October, was broken on June 16 by Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE.

A welded copper box was placed inside the heavy stone before it was lowered and sealed into place by W. E. Macfarlane, business manager of THE TRIBUNE. The box contained a special copy of yesterday's TRIBUNE printed on rag paper, a roll call of members of the circulation staf and department executives and pictures of THE TRIBUNE buildings. Louis H. Rose, circulation manager, was in charge of the ceremony.

The garage, which will be on North Water street east of Tribune Tower, will incorporate safety devices found in no other garage in the world. Included will be an electric eye system for automatically openings doors, overhead projection heaters, a house telephone system, a ventilating system to take carbon monoxide out of the building and skidproof floors. Lockers and showers for drivers and mechanics also will be available.

Fire 16,000 WPA Workers Under 18 Month Ruling

Sixteen thousand Work Projects administration workers had been discharged by last Wednesday under the new eighteen month anti-career ruling, Charles E. Miner, state WPA administrator, disclosed yesterday. Nine thousand were dismissed in Chicago. There are 54,000 persons to be discharge in the state before Sept. 1 under the new WPA law limiting continuous service of relief workers to a year and a half.

DIES AFTER FALL IN HOME.

George Kilmer, 75 years old, of 1747 Monterey avenue, died yesterday in County hospital of injuries incurred two weeks ago in a fall in his home. He was blind.

LADD, F. B. I. CHIEF IN CHICAGO, SENT TO WASHINGTON

The transfer to Washington, D. C., of D. M. Ladd, special agent in charge of the Chicago office of the federal bureau of investigation since 1935, was announced yesterday by the department of justice.

Ladd will be assistant director of the bureau in charge of the identification division and crime laboratory. He will be succeeded here by W. S. Devereaux, special agent in charge of the Miami, Fla., division.

Other transfers sent R. C. Hendon of St. Paul, Minn., to Washington as administrative assistant and L. H. Richmond, San Francisco, Cal., special agent, to St. Paul. B. F. Fitzsimons, now special agent in Springfield, Ill., will exchange places with A. C. Rutzen, Milwaukee, Wis.

THREE FINED FOR DUMPING GARBAGE.

Judge Justin F. McCarthy yesterday fined three men $5 each on charges of dumping garbage illegally. The three are James Perry, 4888 North Ashland avenue, who also was fined $1 on a charge of disorderly conduct, and Emmet P. Dwyer and George Johnson, neither of whom gave addresses.

MISS BRITAIN, FESTIVAL SINGER, ON WAY HOME

Americans World's Finest People, She Exclaims.

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

Marjorie Farrage, the vivacious soprano from England who charmed 90,000 music lovers Saturday night at the Chicagoland Music festival, was en route home last night.

She boarded a Michigan Central train for New York, with a stop scheduled today at Niagara Falls. She will sail for England tomorrow noon aboard the liner Manhattan.

"I've had a wonderful time," Miss Farrage exclaimed as she left Chicago. "I think Americans are the finest people in the world."

Sings Farewell Concert.

Her attitude only reflected the ovations she received from delighted audiences in Chicago who heard her Saturday in Soldiers' field, again Sunday night amid a downpour in Grant park, and last night in a farewell concert over radio station W-G-N as soloist with Henry Weber's W-G-N concert orchestra. Her selections last night were "Cherry Ripe," a British folk song, and an aria from "Il Baccio."

Miss Britain, who is 20 years old, left Chicago reluctantly. Her visit was a gay interlude of shopping, sightseeing, dinners, and triumphs. During her four day visit she chatted with Carrie Jacobs Bond, the famous composer, lunched with officers of a bank, inspected an American farm for the first time, ate her first corn on the cob, and wheedled a recipe for a snack of barbecued spareribs from a dignified headwaiter.

Meets Another English Girl.

Before she left last night Miss Farrage met another English girl who also is visiting America for the first time.

She is Miss Peggy Allin, who left England on May 1 on a freighter and cycled from Montreal to New York and then on to Chicago. The speedometer on her bicycle registered 2,037 miles yesterday.

"I'm seeing America the hard way," said Miss Allin.

HUSBAND GOES OUT FOR 3 WEEKS; IT'S A FISH STORY

Howard Hicks, 39 years old, left his home at 2419 Congress street to buy a can of sardines. That was three weeks ago. Sunday night he returned. He didn't have the sardines.

When his wife, Lucille, asked for an explanation, she told Sergt. Leo Black yesterday, Hicks slapped her. Mrs. Hicks got a warant for his arrest. Police found Hicks in a room at 1625 Lake street eating a can of sardines.

"I suddenly got a yen to go fishing," remarked Hicks. "So I rented a room by myself and spent the evenings fishing in the lake." Then he added, sadly, "But they weren't biting so good, and anyway I like sardines best."

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

Do you think married women should teach school?

Where Answered.

The Answers.

Edward G. Frankel, Eastgate hotel, auctioneer.—I don't see why not. Married women are inclined to be more serious about their work than single women. They know how to handle children better. As a rule they're older and thus have a greater sense of responsibility. As long as they're good teachers I don't see what difference it makes.

Marshall Sosson, 5200 Sheridan road, musician.—Married women are inclined to make better teachers because they have a greater sense of understanding and are more sympatheic. Why should they have to give up their jobs just because they're married? As long as she's a good teacher for the children, a married woman should be allowed to hold her job.

Miss Marie Donat, 2172 Stave street, information clerk.—It's all right for married women to teach as long as they need the money. But if their husbands have good jobs and can support them, I don't see why married women should keep their teaching jobs. They should step out if they can afford to do so, so that younger and unmarried women can get their jobs.

Koby Sirinsky, 630 Waveland avenue, musician.—I think that single women make better teachers than married women. They have more time in which to devote their entire thoughts and energies to their work. They have no marital troubles to distract them, for one thing, and I see no necessity for giving teaching jobs to married women.

Miss Patricia Patterson, 215 East Erie street, news supervisor.—If the teacher's husband is employed and makes good money, she should not hold a job that a single woman, needing support money, could fill. Even if a married teacher is exceptionally able, there's no reason why she can't be replaced by a single woman of equal ability.

SAN FRANCISCO RABBI CALLED TO TEMPLE K. A. M.

Rabbi Weinstein.

Rabbi Jacob Weinstein of San Francisco, Cal., has been named to succeed Dr. Joshua Loth Liebman as spiritual leader of Temple K. A. M., Drexel boulevard and 50th street, pioneer synagogue of the central west. This was announced yesterday by Irving J. Solomon, president of the congregation. Dr. Liebman, who recently was called by a noted Boston, Mass., congregation, described his successor at K. A. M. as one of the most brilliant men the Hebrew Union college, Cincinnati, O., has ordained in many years.

Born in Poland 37 years ago, Rabbi Weinstein went to Portland, Ore., as a youth. He sold newspapers to earn has way through Reed college of that city. After serving an Austin, Tex., congregation a short time he was called by a San Francisco synagogue, and later became Jewish student adviser at Columbia university, New York. He recently returned to the Pacific coast to lecture on Jewish questions. Rabbi Weinstein will be in K. A. M. pulpit for the coming Jewish New Year's high holiday services.

Royal Family Celebrates 9th Birthday of Princess

WE HAVE NOT FORGOTTEN.

As Hitler mobilizes his army and pushes a million or more men against the frontier of Poland, America should revive its world war memories, not for useless recrimination but for understanding. This country had a bitter experience in false friendship, broken faith, entrapment, disparagement, and repudiation.

Mr. Wilson then, as Mr. Roosevelt now, was to be the hope of democracy, the leader of all free peoples and the ruler of a peaceful world. The allies took everything this country could give. When nothing more was needed America was told that it had been of small service and should give way to its betters.

The cooling off of friendship came while American troops were fighting to reach Sedan, while Pershing was asking for an army of six million men, and while this country was organizing its industries to carry on another year of war in which it would completely take the place of an exhausted France. The change of attitude, which had been sensed earlier, became pronounced after the French had retaken Laon and after the Germans had evacuated Lille, Ostend, and Zeebrugge.

Gen. Tasker Bliss, American representative on the supreme war council, wrote Gen. March, chief of staff in Washington, in October, 1918, that Edward Stettinius, the banker representing the United States on the inter-allied munitions council, had told him he had discovered a decided indisposition on the part of the British and French to give the help they had promised. Gen. Bliss said that did not astonish him "because from various little indications it seems to me somewhat evident that the European allies will attempt to minimize the American effort as much as possible. They think they have got the Germans on the run and that they now do not need as much help as they were crying for a little while ago."

Bliss added that a "gentleman in high position here" had said that the United States was building a bridge for the allies to pass over; after they had crossed it they would have no further use for it or its builders. In another message Gen. Bliss said: "It seems to me that our allies want the United States to commit itself to expeditions to various places where, after the war, they alone will have any special interests." The need of help was diminishing. The allies were ready to show America the door.

Clemenceau, the ruler of France, wrote to Foch in October: "I am the head of the French army . . . I would be a criminal if I allowed the French army to wear itself out indefinitly in battle. . . . The French army and the British army without a moment's respite have been fighting daily for the last three months. . . . These two armies are pressing back the enemy with an ardor which excites worldwide admiration, but our worthy American allies, who thirst to get into action . . . have been marking time ever since their first forward jump."

Clemenceau told Foch to remove Pershing, take his troops away from him, and appeal to Wilson if necessary. Foch was more generous. "This crisis [in the Meuse-Argonne]" he replied, "is of the sort from which all improvised armies suffer and which always impairs their achievements at the start. But there is no denying the magnitude of the effort made by the American army." Clemenceau already had his eye on Versailles, if not on the coming of Mr. Wilson as the compeller of victory and the controler of destinies.

Americans should be reminded now, for their own good, both of the finesse and extraordinary skill of the allied entrapment of American help and of the cooling off of the attachment as soon as victory seemed to be in sight. The first proposals to the United States were that its aid should be merely financial and industrial. This country should provide money and supplies. Then there was the suggestion that a military token be offered in France. The flag and a division or two of regulars should be there. Later Joffre told Secretary Baker that 500,000 troops were the maximum the allies would expect from America.

The demands increased in volume and intensity. From wanting a little the allies wanted everything. America went under a virtual war dictatorship to furnish men and material. The country responded to the necessities. Its best talent, its money, and its resources were given without stint and France was glutted with the men and the wealth of America. The moment the terrible danger to the allies was over and their enemies began to crack the Americans were put in their place.

The attempt was to minimize everything they had done, to use them as auxiliaries to post-war intrigue, and even to put the soldiers to work as laborers rehabilitating France, filling in trenches, clearing battlefields, and reconstructing villages and towns. America had to tell the French government that American soldiers owed no duty to their government requiring them to perform such labor.

The peace conference which Mr. Wilson hoped would make him president of the world was governed by secret treaties of which the American people knew nothing. The allies used Mr. Wilson's fourteen points as propaganda and divided up the world according to their prearranged plans. They later invented the term "Uncle Shylock" for their belittled rescuer, repudiated their debts, and created the dragon's nest which has now sent out its full grown young.

Again the United States is a great, generous, liberal democracy which must once more come to the aid of the free peoples of the world. We did that once, cajoled and flattered in the beginning until everything that could be given had been procured and then when the victory was obtained we were shown the door as a nation which had been allowed to fight its own war on European territory and had been saved by the sacrifices of the allies to whose rescue it went.

It is worth our while to remember some of these things in order that it may not happen again in this way. Duped once, the United States of America should not be such an easy victim again.

CUBA'S HIGH DIVE.

Cuba's great liberal, Col. Fulgencio Batista, has decreed a new moratorium law which really goes to town. It reduces mortgage loans to one-half their face value, postpones maturity dates fifty years, reduces interest to a maximum of two per cent, and defers interest payments for five years. Cuba has responded to this liberality with an acceleration of its financial crashing.

The deficits now run $2,000,000 a month. Revenue has decreased 51 per cent in six months. The peso is falling. Prices are going up. Government employés are being discharged. The government wants an American loan of fifty millions from the Export-Import bank but will not make any settlement of the defaulted $10,000,000 loan to the deposed Machado government. Cuba's bankruptcy and ruin seem to be just around the corner. But Batista takes good care of his army and there is more than theoretical New Deal liberalism joining Havana and Washington in bonds of sympathy. There is heavy sugar and as usual Jimmie got some of it.

In June this year Louisiana planters were plowing up 31,000 acres of growing sugar cane. They were qualifying for benefits from the AAA by keeping within the quota. Our mainland quota is 424,000 tons. Under the Roosevelt trade treaties Cuba is allowed an import of nearly 2,000,000 tons. One of the largest importers is the West Indies Sugar corporation. Under the quotas it sent into the United States more sugar than Louisiana and Florida are allowed to grow. In 1937 it did a gross business of $9,000,000 and had a net profit of nearly a million.

"We got the insurance contract of the West Indies Sugar company," said James Roosevelt in his defense of his insurance business, "because its president, F. B. Adams, is my uncle." Cuba may be ready for the high dive into a saucepan of water, but all is not wreck and ruin. Some of the sugar business is neatly tied up with the New Deal and The Family.

GRAFT IN COOK COUNTY.

Slot machines by the hundreds are in operation in Cook county outside the city limits. The chairman of the state liquor commission, Arthur S. Smith, says the machines are controled by a syndicate. If so, it is altogether obvious that public officials in the county whose job it is to enforce the law are getting something for withholding their hand. The profits from the machines are so large that the something is no doubt substantial.

The slot machine is itself a racket; it is less a gambling device than a confidence game. The syndicates which run slot machines are composed of racketeers. The conclusion is inescapable that some of the elected officials of the county are partners in the racket and pals of the racketeers.

A good many people in Chicago and Cook county have thought that this community, politically speaking, was naterially different from the Kansas City of Pendergast, the New Orleans of Weiss, and the New York of Jimmy Hines. The evidence of the slot machines suggests all too plainly that these Chicagoans have been the victims of a misplaced confidence. Some of our county officials are taking graft and some of the others whose task it is to arrest and punish grafters are sitting back with folded hands. The officeholders may have the notion that the people of Cook county approve the alliance with crime; if so, they will live and learn.

Editorial of the Day

DEPENDENT GOVERNMENTS.

[Rocky Mountain News, Denver.]

As every one knows, state governments are becoming increasingly dependent on financial assistance from the federal government, and local governments are becoming increasingly dependent on financial assistance from the states.

Prof. V. O. Key Jr. of Johns Hopkins university, has made a study of federal grants-in-aid which reveals some facts that aren't known to every one about how far the process of dependency has gone. He reports that:

The revenues of all the states in 1938 totaled 3 billion 165 million dollars.

Of that sum 622½ million dollars—about one-fifth—came from the federal treasury, whereas in 1927 federal grants-in-aid to the states totaled only $37,600,000.

Likewise, counties and cities in 1938 depended upon state grants for about one-fifth of their total revenues.

The federal grants to states did not take into account WPA and other forms of federally financed unemployment relief. They did include:

For social security, $266,340,000; for roads and highways, $218,637,000; for the National Guard, $38,789,797; for employment offices, $37,377,830; for vocational education and rehabilitation, $2",220,344; for public health services, $8,911,624; for agricultural extension work, $17,251,954; for agricultural experiment stations, $6,229,004; for land grant colleges, $4,530,000; for state soldiers and sailors' homes, $649,884; for state marine schools, $75,000.

Noting these figures, the Baltimore Evening Sun concludes that they can be considered complacently only if it is good for the states to lose freedom of judgment and action. "For that freedom," it warns, "will inevitably be the price of grants-in-aid."

States which rely upon the federal government for financial support have to obey orders from the federal government about how the money shall be spent. The same is true of cities and counties which rely upon their state governments for financial support. Every government which accepts financial dependence surrenders something of its political independence. No getting away from that.

You, as a citizen, may consider all this nothing to view with alarm. But at least, with the states now 20 per cent dependent on the federal government, and with the cities and counties now 20 per cent dependent on the states, you'll have to admit that we're well on our way to centralized control of all government.

JITTERING IN A CRISIS.

In the war of nerves, our own are cracking. We feel a suicidal inclination to plunge into the abyss of the European controversy, like all the other columnists.

* * *

The final test of Hitler's vaunted nerves of iron will come when, at the stroke of midnight in some haunted castle in Bavaria, a ghostly figure with blood dabbled on its forehead appears before him to give the Nazi salute and moan: "I am the spirit of Ernst Roehm." These things happen to dictators who consult astrologers. Example: Macbeth.

* * *

We tried to escape the crisis by re-reading "Hamlet" over the week-end, and in act 1, scene 1, we came across this:

In an angry parle
He smote the sledded Polacks on the ice.

* * *

Then we went in for pure research and studied the contemporary records of Shakespeare's life. We discovered, among other things, that his will was drawn by a lawyer named Francis Collins, which gives a dreadful blow to the American belief that all the Collinses are Irish. Cousin Francis, by the way, also signed the will as witness, and received under it a bequest of £13 6s 8d. Highly improper of him, a modern lawyer would say.

* * *

Shakespeare always turned out clean copy. The two men who should know best, the managers of his theatrical company, John Heming and Henry Condell, said in their preface to the First Folio: "His mind and hand went together, and what he thought he uttered with that easiness that we have scarce received from him a blot in his papers."

FOR A GRANDMOTHER.

God gave you gentleness and homely grace,
A sense of humor, strength to grasp a broom,
Imagination to transform a room
Into a sheltered, friendly living place
With colors borrowed from your garden beds.
You caught their glow in pottery and glass,
Hand hammered pewter plates and polished brass,
Embroidered them in patterned quilts and spreads
God gave you lips wise in the art of silence,
Strong arms where little children came to weep . . .
Were comforted and gently rocked to sleep;
Heart trained to patience, never violence.
Dear legend, woman whom I never knew,
May I grow old as gracefully as you.

Maxine Brinkley.

When Genius Ran a Boarding House.

In the summer of 1896 the widow of a physician moved to Chicago and rented a house, now 1925 West Congress street, in the Cook County hospital neighborhood. Her purpose was to make a living with medical students as roomers and boarders. Within a few months Siegel, Cooper & Co. advertised a contest for the best song, to be entitled, "Meet Me at the Fountain," the winner to receive a prize of $100. They missed a good bet when they passed up a charming little song this woman submitted.

She was soon writing other songs, both words and music, and found to her surprise that some of them were more than good and that here was her real talent.

The old house in which she lived is now dingy and ramshackle and ready to be torn down, but here was once the abode of genius. Here Carrie Jacobs Bond wrote some of her early pieces which were later to give her fame. Here was the beginning of that little group of musicians, writers, actors, and friends who came to know her and appreciate her and help her on her way. A sweet, gentle, and lovely soul, beloved by all who have known her. M. A. R.

PILGRIM'S PROGRESS.

When, trailing dreams and toast crumbs, I set forth
The milkman stands two houses to the north;
Twelve steps beyond I cross the neighbor's hound
Just turned outdoors to make his morning round;
Three oak trees from the platform, and the flyer
Goes south from Winnebago and points higher;
I board my train and join the daily faces,
All screened by daily print in daily places:
Thus rolled to town I trudge my seven blocks
Fixed in my orbit, dutiful to clocks:
At Dearborn comes the beard—no doubt a banker—
At State the girl whose mother ought to spank her:
So to the office, meeting in their courses
These kindred bodies, moved by kindred forces,
Making by faithful rote (I've seldom missed 'em)

Chicago Means "Skunktown."

I find a number of variations in the spelling of Chicago which were not listed by "Aitcheff" [Aug. 17]. The "Handbook of American Indians," issued by the Smithsonian institution, gives:

Checagou, Chegagou, Chekakou, Chicags, Chicagons, Chikagoua, Chikagvv, and Apkaw.

The same work gives the following explanation of the meaning of the name:

"Sauk, Fox, and Kickapoo—shekgua [skunk] and shekakohegi [the place of the skunk]: The ancient name for the southern part of Lake Michigan due, it is said, to a large skunk that once lived along the south shores and was killed in the lake by a party of fox hunters. J. E. R.

* * *

Oddly enough "Chief" Ignaz Wasegijig, who lives in Chicago, confirms all this, although he apparently never heard of the Smithsonian:

"My folk was living in this city before foreigners came—Ottawa tribe. They called [it] shigak gouk—shigak meaning skunk, an animal; gouk meaning town."

A NEW HAMLET'S SOLILOQUY.

Now comes a problem weighty as the world,
More vital even than the threat of war
Or problems economic—'tis the question:

EPILEPSY: A MANAGEABLE AFFLICTION.

A CONVULSION is always a disturbing episode. It may signify acute illness when attended with a high temperature, but if it appears out of a clear sky most of us will think of epilepsy. Ancient as is this malady, little attempt was made to understand its nature until within recent years. At one time it was thought that every afflicted person was either possessed of a demon or was especially favored by the gods who, during the characteristic fits, communicated secrets to him. Only with the discovery of delicate chemical methods has it been possible to analyze the changes that take place before, during, and after a seizure.

Between attacks the victim may be entirely normal. Although mental deterioration has been observed, it is by no means the rule. In many instances the failure to react quickly to a given stimulus may be explained by the fact that the patient is taking some slightly depressing medicine.

While the cause remains a mystery, nevertheless we are adding materially to our knowledge of the ailment. Studies on gases, minerals, and sugar in the blood, as well as a score of other elements are pointing the way to a clearer comprehension of the disease. Investigations involving the behavior of these sufferers constitute a sound basis for the solution of the problem.

The disorder cannot be diagnosed until a convulsion occurs. True enough, if a tumor is present its surgical removal may bring about a spectacular recovery. If a portion of the skull has been depressed by a blow, typical symptoms may ensue and relief may come from raising the bone and the consequent removal of pressure. But we are discussing a large group, no member of which presents a tumor, an area of softening, or other demonstrable trouble within the brain proper.

The classical seizure begins with loss of consciousness, sometimes preceded by an outcry. The face and hands are pale. Then comes muscular rigidity in which respiration may cease for a moment or two, the skin becoming deeply cyanotic [bluish]. If the tongue is between the teeth it may be bitten. A period of relaxation is succeeded by rhythmic, violent jerks over the entire body. Grunting sounds may be heard and frothy sputum may be visible on the lips. This phase continues from three to five minutes, gradually subsiding, whereupon the subject sinks into a state of complete exhaustion.

After all, treatment is the thing in which we are particularly interested. Among recently discovered aids is the importance of feeding calcium. A diet rich in this mineral will lengthen greatly the interludes between paroxysms. The amount of water employed and the supply of oxygen—whether rich or poor—also exert an influence. The inhalation of oxygen and carbon dioxide will prolong the intervals of normal behavior.

Pollock and his co-workers now have a long series of cases that have been free from symptoms for well over a year—many for as long as three. Prior to the special medication program adopted, most of these individuals were unable to seek employment or carry on average activity. Some are professional men, others school teachers. In all, a score of vocations are represented. They are now pursuing their jobs without the slightest difficulty. The diet is balanced and every one is cautioned not to overeat.

Drugs include bromides and phenobarbital, which are gauged accurately to the patient's needs. Bromide saturation of the blood—if not allowed to rise too high—can be fixed at the control level without danger. These research workers have found that only with huge and unnecessary overdoses is bromide poisoning possible.

Until the true cause of epilepsy is discovered we must manage the manifestations as we would control a fractious horse. Sympathetic consideration is needed and just enough of some effective sedative to lower appreciably the attacks. After a time many seem to overcome undue sensitiveness to the starting signal.

COLITIS.

M. F. M. writes: What is colitis? Does it mean ulcers along the colon or just an inflammatory condition of this structure?

REPLY.

Colitis should be applied only to those cases in which true inflammation or ulceration is present. Usually the term is incorrectly employed to describe nervous irritability of the large bowel.

RECURRENCE UNLIKELY.

M. L. writes: What causes a stricture of the bladder? If cured, does it have a tendency to recur?

REPLY.

Scarring, following some injury to the lining of the urinary passage, is usually responsible. If repaired and the original cause is removed no recurrence need be anticipated.

LEGAL WILL.

Chicago, Aug. 19 [Legal Friend of the People].—I would like to make a will leaving all my furniture and also my building to my youngest child. My husband and I have been divorced for fifteen years. Two of my children are married and two are not. My youngest is 18.

1. Is it possible to make a will leaving everything I have to my youngest daughter?

2. Is there a law stating that all the children must get an equal share, even though the parent does not want them to get anything?

3. Would it be best to have my property transferred to my daughter's name so that she would be sure to get it?

L. K.

1. Yes, but since such a will would be an invitation to contest we would advise the employment of an attorney to make sure the job is done right.
2. No.
3. Depends upon whether you are willing to place the assets in her hands now.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

BUT HE ALSO WRITES A LETTER.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—In today's column you boast that thirty-two persons wrote letters attacking President Roosevelt's Thanksgiving action, although nobody wrote in his favor.

Did it ever occur to you that perhaps none of the President's 27,000,000 supporters cared to argue the point with your handful of fanatical Roosevelt-haters? That perhaps there is an overwhelming part of the population which never writes letters to you? That perhaps we people don't enter politics until election day, when, as loyal Americans, we go to the polls and vote for our great President? EUGENE LIEBERMAN.

College of Law, De Paul University.

AND HE WRITES ONE, TOO.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—The President has the right to set the date for Thanksgiving day. As long as he did change it, the date selected should have been around Feb. 1, 1941, as most of us have nothing to be thankful for until then. With all the pestilential alphabetical nuisances; more unemployed, more labor troubles than ever; with the biggest debt ever, which our grandchildren will have to pay; there is no hope till then.

BOB THE BARBER.

PARK BOARD DIDN'T REPLY.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—I've read about the 10 year old boy who wanted to know where he could ride his new bicycle. I am a middle aged woman and took up riding for my health. I, too, would like to know why this terrible neglect for bicycles. Since it is legal to manufacture and sell the bike, we should have a recreation place the same as all other sports have. When I read about the boy I wrote to the park commission—inclosed a stamped, self-addressed envelope. I never heard a word in reply. I reported that I had been wrecked by a speeding autoist who went like lightning through the red light.

I like to ride in the street even if the road hogs are out to get me, but what about these children? They have the right to ride their bikes somewhere.

MRS. MCK.

WAR PROPAGANDA.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Pleasant evenings at home, listening to the radio, are constantly ruined by speeches of the war propagandists. We are not interested in the affairs of Europe and its war propaganda, nor are we willing to listen to the drivel of war mongers in our own country.

It is annoying to listen to the talk of such would-be sages as H. V. Kaltenborn. He is a mouthpiece of the insidious war mongers. I think they are trying, at any cost, to drag this nation into the approaching war.

It is advisable to turn your dial to another station and listen to a good ball game or musical program when the mongers are singing their war chant.

JOHN M. FORD.

SANE SIMPLIFIED SPELLING.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—I approve of changes that will sensibly simplify the spelling of words, but do not violate a rule in spelling or destroy a definite meaning by deleting such letters as "l" in the past tense of "impel," "expel," "propel," or by dropping the "e" from the end of alkaloids like "morphine," "nicotine," etc. They have a proper place now—leave them there. J. A. WEBER.

SOME ENGLISH HISTORY.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—An item in your paper, "Treasure Buried with Saxon King," date from London and therefore not reliable, says "the treasure was buried 1,500 years ago with the body of a Saxon king in his Viking ship, which was hauled out of the River Deben in Suffolk." That is news indeed; a Saxon king in Suffolk.

Suffolk and Norfolk constituted East Anglia, which was held by the Danes, who drove Alfred the Great into hiding, and it would have been unhealthy for any Saxon king to land there. The Danes are still there and they gave Lord Nelson to England, which never at any time was the land of the Angles. The Saxons gave that district to the Angles—great jokers—it was not theirs to give, no more than Cumberland, which they turned over to the Scots.

There never was a ruler or king of East Anglia, Dane, Angle, or Saxon. There was no king or ruler of England until the French-Normans came and so misnamed the country Angleterre. Even Alfred was only king of Wessex and paramount over other Saxon kings. This for real history; not French-Norman fairy tales. F. G. W.

NO ILLINOIS HILLBILLIES.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Evidently one-half of Illinois does not know how the other half lives. Last week, in commenting upon a certain unfortunate incident in southern Illinois, THE TRIBUNE referred to the people there as being similar in temperament to people of other hills with their feuds. What hills?

As a native of that part of the state, I resent such an unfair description of people who are as a whole as educated, progressive, cultured, and as far removed from "hillbillies" as those who have such erroneous ideas. HELEN A.

NO PIE SINCE CHRISTMAS.

Oak Forest, Ill., Aug. 17.—Mr. Negri is to be commended for his money saving activities here at the Cook county institutions, but just for the sake of honesty let it be known that while ther has been a drastic reduction in the bread ration, we have had no pie since Christmas, 1938, here in the T. B. hospital.

It would be nice to have pie once in a while, but I think we would be satisfied with real butter rather than oleomargerine. IMPATIENT PATIENT.

REFERRED TO ZACK MOSLEY.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Couldn't you persuade Zack Mosley to give the gals a break and let us have one little peep at Downwind's face to see what a real handsome man looks like?

Maybe that is one of the reasons Jack never smiles, because he fears he has too much competition. Will be waiting patiently. BETTY, BERNICE, AND VIOLET.

WOULD TURN TO OUR HOME SCENE.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—As to your editorial, "Are We to Fight for This?" it seems to me you are correct in your reasoning, except for an inconsistency, namely, that of arguing for peace and at the same time making derogatory remarks about the leaders of other nations.

You say the leaders of Germany and Italy "use their people cruelly." That is a controversial assertion, inasmuch as numerous American visitors inform us otherwise.

You further remark, "They talk of war as if it were a magnificent adventure." A perusal of the speeches of both men fails to reveal any fondness for war. Both were seriously wounded on the field of battle, and as an overseas veteran I have never talked with a front line fighter who was in favor of war. The two so-called dictators do seem determined, however, to resist the predatory tactics of the overseas gang of politicians and diplomats, and to obtain a fair measure of the world's goods for their people.

If you must criticize a national leader, I suggest you devote your talents to our home scene. Let's mind our own business. B. F. H.

ABOUT ABANDONED DOGS.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—In a recent article on the Tribune farm there was a story of a little dog abandoned at the farm gate. This was witnessed by one of the men on the place.

Two different times I witnessed "abandonments." I think most dogs found wandering about on the outskirts of the city or in the forest preserves have been left there by their owners.

What I would suggest is that any one picking up a dog [or cat] should take it to the Anti-Cruelty society, 157 West Grand avenue. If there is any possible way to locate the owner it will be done. If the owner cannot be located, or if found, and says he no longer wants the animal, it will be in good hands.

J. N. FIELD.

SAYS MRS. HEFFERAN INTERFERED.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—Mrs. Hefferan, the school trustee, had no authority to interfere in any way with a teachers' examination.

Teachers are always under a strain at an examination. They never know how it is coming out.

It is doubly a strain on the people who are taking the examination to have one walk in and detract their attention from their line of thought, especially a board member. Even worse, it was an oral examination.

She had no business there. I am a teacher and know the value of silence at such a time. J. R. B.

Ill Health Is Blamed by His Family.

New York, Aug. 21 [Special].—Clendenin J. Ryan Sr., 56, millionaire sportsman, financier, and son of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, was found dead of illuminating gas poisoning today in the third floor library of his five story mansion in East 70th street.

After an investigation Dr. Henry Weinberg, assistant medical examiner, said the death was definitly suicide.

A maid, Nora Daly, phoned Mr Ryan's secretary, Frank Merklin, 52, to tell him she smelled gas. Marklin hurried to the house, summoned help, broke through the 2½ inch mission oak door with an ax, and found the body. The family butler, John Kasko, upon seeing his employer's body in the gas filled room, suffered a heart attack.

Overcome Moving Body.

Merklin and Irving Daniel, a houseman, were overcome by gas while trying to carry the body out of the room. They were revived at the home, but Kasko had to be sent to the hospital for treatment.

Mr. Ryan returned home recently from a hospital where he had been under treatment for diabetes.

One of his sons is Clendenin J. Ryan Jr., formerly a member of Mayor Fiorello La Guardia's secretarial staff and now deputy sanitation commissioner. He said his father, after a long illness, apparently found the situation unbearable and ended his life.

One of Five Sons.

When Thomas Fortune Ryan died, Nov. 23, 1928, leaving an estate of more than $135,000,000, he left to his son, Clendenin, a life interest in $29,800,269.

The elder Ryan had five sons, two of whom died while young. Of the remaining three Clendenin was the only one whose business acumen met the financier's approval. The other two were Allan A. Ryan, who was cut off with two white pearl shirt studs as his only bequest, and John Barry Ryan, who never has been active in business.

Clendenin Ryan Sr. was educated at Georgetown and soon afterward married Carolina O'Neill of Binghamton, who survives with three sons, George, Richard, and Clendenin Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. John Shaw.

Mr. Ryan and his wife were estranged. Mrs. Ryan, who lives at 834 Fifth avenue, called at her husband's home after she received word of his death.

RESIDENTS TOTE WATER AGAIN IN NEW WPA BREAK

Several thousand residents of the long block of Cambridge avenue north of Belden avenue had to carry water for their suppers again last night. The water main that runs alongside a new WPA sewer settled and broke as the result of washouts, city engineers said.

Several weeks ago the water main broke and the residents of the neighborhood were without water over the week-end. Yesterday the pipe broke at 5:30 p. m., leaving most of the families without water to cook dinner. Bucket brigades had to carry water from a fire hydrant on Belden avenue, nearly a block west of Cambridge.

At midnight the water was turned back in the main.

OCEAN CASTS UP BODIES OF 6 LOST ON FISHING BOAT

Rye Beach, N. H., Aug. 21 (AP).—The sea cast up six bodies on the beach today, revealing the tragic end of an all-day fishing party. STATE ASKS BIDS FOR LOCATION OF NEW BOYS' HOME

Sale or donation of approximately 100 acres of land for the proposed $250,000 state security school for boys will be sought at once. Advertisments seeking bids to be opened Oct. 2 in the Congress hotel were authorized yesterday by the legislative commission which is to select the site and decide upon the type of buildings. Fifty-six inmates have escaped this year from the St. Charles School for Boys, which is neither walled nor fenced.

"There are reports that several towns want the new institution near them for the business it might bring," said Senator Thomas P. Gunning [R., Princeton], chairman of the commission. "That's why we believe the land may be donated."

Use of the present 1,200 acre site at St. Charles school was urged by Senator Wilbur H. Hickman [D., Paris]. Gunning told him last week's vote to build it elsewhere would stand. St. Charles residents urged this.

The commission voted to send a subcommittee to eastern states to view recent penal construction. The group will consist of Senator Gunning, Dr. Paul L. Schroeder, state criminologist and head of the Institute for Juvenile Research; a state architect, and A. L. Bowen, director of the state department of public welfare.

NAME C. G. BECK OF IOWA HEAD OF HINES HOSPITAL

Officials of the veterans' administration in Washington announced yesterday that Charles Gordon Beck, manager of the veterans' hospital in Des Moines, Ia., has been appointed superintendent of the Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital in Maywood, one of the largest veterans' institutions in the country. Beck, who will be transferred here Sept. 1, will succeed Col. Hugh Scott, superintendent of Hines hospital for the last twelve years.

Beck began his career with the veterans' administration in 1919 as a training assistant in the St. Louis bureau. He became manager of the Des Moines hospital in 1934. Col. Scott will be transferred to the administration's central office in Washington.

WM. WIELAND, 52, SON OF FOUNDER OF DAIRY, DIES

William Wieland, a son of the founder of the Wieland dairy interests, died yesterday after a short illness in his home at 144 Woodstock avenue, Kenilworth. He was 52 years old. Mr. Wieland was the son of the late Jacob and Gottlieben Wieland and was one of six brothers who operated the dairy company for many years: Charles, Robert, Christian, Jacob, and the late Fred and George. Besides his four living brothers, he is survived by his widow, Alma; two daughters, Dorothy and Arlene Rose; one son, William Robert, and one sister, Mrs. Rose C. Marling. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. in the Kenilworth home.

OBITUARIES

Miss Minnie M. Batterton.

Funeral services for Miss Minnie M. Matterton, a retired Chicago elementary school teacher, will be conducted at 2 p. m. Thursday in the Morgan Park Christian church. Burial will be in Mount Hope cemetery. Miss Batterton died Sunday evening in her home at 1733 West 106th place. She was 70 years old. She retired Nov. 17, 1933, as eighth grade teacher at the Cook school, 82d and Bishop streets. She had taught fourteen years in schools near Springfield, Ill., and twenty-eight years in the Chicago school system. Surviving are two brothers, A. M. and A. L. Batterton, and three sisters, Mrs. J. C. Mote, Mrs. Martin Strand, and Mrs. Margaret Watson.

John R. Houston.

John R. Houston, 7643 Yates avenue, died of a heart attack yesterday in the offices of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, 208 South La Salle street, where he was employed in the alloy department. Surviving are his widow, Alma, and a son, Montgomery.

USE FIVE DAYS' FROZEN SLEEP ON CANCER PATIENT

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 21 (AP).—Three Springfield physicians announced tonight that a 53 year old patient had been thawed back to consciousness after five days of "frozen sleep" for treatment of cancer of the prostate gland.

The experiment in the newest method of treating cancer was conducted in St. John's hospital here by Drs. Alex Jones, James Graham, and Henry Ashauer, who reported the patient suffered no ill effects.

The man, whose name was withheld, was placed in a specially constructed bed and packed in ice last Thursday. As the bodily temperature was reduced from 98.6 to 86 degrees the man sank into his "five day sleep" with little evidence that he continued to live, according to Dr Jones. It took eight hours to revive the patient by raising his temperature one degree an hour, the physician said.

The ice packing treatment was first developed by two Philadelphia physicians, Dr. Temple Fay and Dr. Lawrence W. Smith, who reported favorable reaction in skin cancer cases.

Dr. Jones said results of the treatment could not be ascertained for several days, when an X-ray would be taken of the cancer growth.

Portland Paper Suspends Because of Rising Costs

Portland, Ore., Aug. 21 (AP).—The Portland News-Telegram announced it would suspend publication with today's editions because of "greatly increased costs of production" and "an ever-growing tax burden." The paper said the Oregon Journal had taken over features and had acquired the circulation list.

CONTINUE BURGLARY CASE.

William Bobrytzke, 2444 North Ashland avenue, whose fingerprints corresponded to those left on a cash box when a tavern at 2582 Elston avenue was burglarized Aug. 10, won a continuance to Aug. 24 yesterday in the Felony court on a charge of burglary. Frank Lessner, 1236 Altgeld street, another suspect, was charged with disorderly conduct.

Gen. Sir Edward Bullin.

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

Harold B. Seymour.

Policeman Harold B. Seymour, a member of the cartage detail of the detective bureau, died yesterday in Edgerton, Wis. Seymour was 49 years old and had been on the force for twenty-two years, during which time he received creditable mention four times and was twice awarded extra compensation. His home was at 6825 Yale avenue. Surviving are his widow, Opal, and one son, Harold Jr. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Thursday in the chapel at 316 West 63d street. Burial will be in Oak Woods cemetery.

Miss Virginia Freeman.

Miss Virginia Winchester Freeman, who for nineteen years was head of the English department at the Chicago Normal college, died yesterday in her home at Union Pier, Mich. Miss Freeman entered the Chicago school system in 1899 and retired in 1928. She was born in Carlinville, Macoupin county, Aug. 25, 1859. She is survived by two brothers, William H. Freeman of Chicago Heights and Frank D. Freeman of Washington, D. C.

William C. Berry.

William C. Berry, city collector of Park Ridge since 1933, died yesterday in Ravenswood hospital. He was 63 years old. Mr. Berry resided at 305 Merrill avenue, Park Ridge. He was formerly connected with J. R. Woods, jewelers. A daughter, Mrs. Gladys Vinje survives. Services will be held tomorrow at 11 a. m. in the chapel at 120 South Northwest highway. Burial will be in Wisconsin.

Frank O'Connor.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 21 [Canadian Press].—Frank O'Connor, 54 year old Canadian senator and candy manufacturer, died today after an illness of more than a year. He was founder of the Laura Secord confectionery store chain in Canada and the Fanny Farmer shops in the United States.

John Miller Jr.

John Miller Jr., 67 years old, general superintendent of Charles H. Besly & Co., Beloit, Wis., died Sunday in the Michael Reese hospital. It was learned yesterday. Mr. Miller had been with the company for fifty years. A daughter, Mrs. Albert Warner, survives.

William E. Lauer.

WHEN KIDNEY TROUBLE CAUSES YOU TO GET UP NIGHTS

When Bladder Is Irritated
When Passage Is Difficult
When Backache Results

Flush Poisonous Waste and Acid From Kidneys

GAIN IN HEALTH

If you aren't feeling just right—are nervous—have dizzy spells and occasional backache—study your kidneys and learn more about yourself.

Through the delicate filters of the kidneys, acid and poisonous waste are drawn from the blood and discharged from the body through the bladder—sometimes these filters are less active than they should be because of excess poisonous waste and kidneys do not function properly—they need harmless stimulation.

One reliable medicine, highly efficient and inexpensive, is GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. This grand medicine has been helping people for 50 years—to relieve their aches and pains by helping conditions caused or aggravated by excess uric acid or other circulating poisons such as is so often the case with sciatica, neuritis, neuralgia, lumbago and rheumatism.

So if you have such symptoms of kidney trouble as backache, nervousness, getting up two or three times during the night—scanty, burning or smarting passage—leg cramps—moist palms or puffy eyes—get a 35 cent package of this grand and harmless diuretic at any modern drugstore—it starts the first day on its errand of helpfulness.

Don't be an EASY MARK and accept a substitute—ask for Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules—right from Haarlem in Holland. GET GOLD MEDAL—the original—the genuine. Look for the Gold Medal on the box—35 cents.

Mrs. Emily D. Mann Dies as 100th Birthday Nears

Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 21 [Special].—Mrs. Emily D. Mann, who would have been 100 years old Nov. 30, died today. She was the mother of Margaret Mann, professor emeritus on the University of Michigan faculty, and had lived here 13 years.

Set Sept. 16 for Powwow at Onwentsia

BY JUDITH CASS.

SEPT. 16 is a date to be marked by the debutantes and friends of the R. Douglas Stuart, Albert B. Dick and C. Durand Allen families because it is the date of Anne Stuart's, Helen Dick's, and Susanna Allen's debuts. It is a red letter date to the friends of Miss Margery Shuman and John J. P. Odell II. and Miss Eleanor Sherman and Robert K. Vincent also, for these two couples will be married that afternoon. But to the "braves" of the Onwentsia club it is an important date because it is the first of the two-day annual powwow at the club.

No women are welcome at the club on the two days of the powwow except those necessary for cooking and serving meals, so the men and their guests have what Englishmen call a "piggish" time. The powwow is almost as old as the club itself, which was started in 1895. The powwow was discontinued during the world war years, but was revived after the war and has been going strong ever since.

The women golfers have their annual powwow, too, but it is a one-day affair, usually on the last Tuesday in September. Mrs. John T. Pirie Jr. heads the women's golf committee this year, and her co-chairman is Mrs. Barrett Scudder. Miss Peggy Hixon is the secretary and treasurer and Mrs. Hugh McBirney Johnston the team match captain. Mrs. William Haerther is in charge of rules, Mrs. Macauley Carter and her sister, Mrs. Owen West, of prizes; Mrs. Charles Dennehy and Miss Hixon of tournaments, and Mrs. Herman Dunlap Smith of handicaps.

Miss Jean Husted to Be Debutante.

The latest addition to the 1939-'40 debutante list is Miss Jean Husted, who will make a formal bow to society at a luncheon on Tuesday, Sept. 12. Miss Husted and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Husted, lived in Glencoe until about a year ago. After spending some time in Florida and Bermuda they have returned and are temporarily at the Orrington hotel in Evanston.

The luncheon will be given at the Skokie club. Miss Husted will be a sophomore at Wells college.

Miss Anita Straub, daughter of the Walter F. Straubs of Winnetka, is not going to make a formal debut this year. She will return to Vassar for her sophomore year.

Dr. and Mrs. Hugh McKenna's daughter, Miss Jean McKenna, is another young woman who has decided to forgo a debut. She will continue her studies at Manhattanville college in New York.

Sept. 8 is the date set for a small tea Mrs. Gilbert E. Porter III. will give to mark the entrance of her daughter, Miss Edith Porter, into adult society. Miss Porter will return to Smith this fall. Her mother's plans for the autumn are indefinite; she may rent her Lake Forest home.

Several Decide Against Debuts.

The name of Miss Lucille Freeman, which was taken off the debutante list last year, has been removed from this season's listing, too, which means that the William C. Freemans' daughter will not make a formal debut. Miss Freeman and her mother returned two weeks ago from a long holiday abroad. They have no definite plans for the winter.

The Alvar R. Sutter's daughter, Miss Carolyn, who is of debutante age, is another young woman who will not have a formal debut. Miss Sutter was graduated from Dana Hall last June and is entering Smith college next month.

Because her mother has been ill for the last five months, Miss Lucy Keeler, daughter of the Edwin R. Keelers of Winnetka, will not have a debut party this year.

Before leaving for a two weeks' trip to California Mrs. Lon Carrington Hill and her daughter, Miss Georgette Hill, completed arrangements for a luncheon the latter will give at the Indian Hill club on Sept. 6 for three debutantes of the season, Miss Dorothy Warner, Miss Edith Porter, and Miss Alice Blair.

Miss Hill, a debutante of last season, and her mother and brother, Lon Jr., are visiting Mrs. Hill's mother, Mrs. George Knox Owsley, in Hollywood.

Howard Linns at Charlevoix.

The Howard Linns are among those who have fled the hay fever season. They are at the Chicago club in Charlevoix, Mich.

"Nellie Was a Lady," by Courtney Savage, is the production that will bring to a close the summer season at the Coach House theater in Oconomowoc., Wis., starting tonight and continuing through Saturday. Miss Emily Goehst, who made a hit in the third play of the season, will appear in the current production, which is being directed by the author. It concerns a newly rich woman who is over-ambitious socially.

Mrs. Paul Steinbrecher, the only woman among the Illinois commissioners to the New York World's Fair, is leaving this afternoon for New York to be there on Illinois day, Saturday.

The Evanston-North Shore Smith College club is planning a dinner-dance on Sept. 30 at the Edgewater Beach hotel for the benefit of its scholarship fund. Mrs. Rudy Ruggles is chairman of the committee in charge.

The Stage

Stiano Braggiotti, who was called away from the Selwyn theater company of "My Dear Children" last Thursday by the accidental death of his son, returned to the cast last night. During Mr. Braggiotti's absence his part was played by Fred Sears, stage manager of the show.

Miss Houghteling to Visit in East

[Paul Stone-Raymor Photo.]

Miss Margaret Houghteling, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lawrence Houghteling of Winnetka and Washington, D. C., is leaving tomorrow for some visits in the east before entering Vassar college. The rest of the family will remain in Winnetka until after Labor day before returning to Washington where Miss Houghteling will make her formal debut during the Christmas holidays.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Our Town.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 21.—You can win bets by asking anybody who is the most important person from Van Buren, Ark., in Hollywood. . . . Ten out of ten will say it's Bob Burns. . . . They're dead wrong. . . . Van Buren's most important contribution to the film colony is Bert Hampton, chief casting director at Central Casting bureau. . . . If you want to measure his importance, spend a day at Central Casting where two shifts of five switchboard operators handle approximately 18,500 telephone calls every day between 5 a. m. and 9 p. m. . . . The calls are from actors and actresses looking for extra work at the major studios. . . . Central Casting makes no charge for the service, and makes no promises. . . . The major studios operate it as a clearing house, and most of the current stars were registered in its files at one time or another.

The 18,500 telephone calls do not represent individual calls from that many performers. . . . Only 8,000 actors and actresses are listed at Central Casting and some of them will call as many as six times a day in quest of employment. . . . The mechanics set in motion by a telephone call are of interest. . . . As a switchboard operator receives the call, she speaks the name of the caller into a transmitter and outside, at the casting desk, the name is repeated through a receiving horn to each of the casting agents. . . . If the casting agent is filling a studio requisition for extras and can use that particular extra, he notifies the switchboard operator, by pressing a button, to let him talk to the actor. . . . Otherwise, she tells the caller that there is nothing at the moment. . . . That is the process with every call.

There is more misapprehension about the functioning of Central Casting than about any single agency in this town, as few take the trouble to visit the building at Hollywood and Western avenues and learn what goes on there. . . . It is this ignorance of the bureau that was responsible for a hoax played on a local columnist last week. . . . He wrote in all seriousness about a director-friend who had called Central Casting and asked for two extras. . . . The director described the extras he wanted, giving a description of himself and his wife. . . . Then the director had an extra call Central Casting and apply for work. . . . The story purported to show that Central Casting only gave work to a certain clique of extras. . . . Grievous fallacy in the story was that Central Casting deals only with studios, and never takes orders over the phone. . . . The major studios, through their casting departments, send in their requisitions for extras over direct teletype machines to the bureau. . . . If a director called Central Casting and asked for two extras, he would be instructed immediately to file the requisition through the studio casting agent. . . . The system was adopted years ago to foil practical jokers, and also to protect actresses, from amorous nonentities.

Van Buren's Hampton, who is a ringer for Charlie Correll of Amos 'n' Andy, agrees cheerfully that Central Casting will favor extras who have given satisfactory performances over a course of years. . . . "If I know that a certain extra, for years, has been punctual, sober, and satisfactory in all of his assignments, naturally I'll give him the preference on a call," says Hampton, "just as your managing editor or city editor will give the preference to a reporter who has worked satisfactorily for him for years. A man's record and reputation is the most important factor in any line of business. It's the same with us. We rate extras by performance. If that's what the hecklers mean by 'cliques,' they're completely right."

Greatest single call for extras on any one picture, according to Hampton, was for the filming of "Ben Hur" in 1926. . . . To fill the arena seats for the chariot race, M. G. M. requisitioned 3,500 extras. . . . To fill this enormous order, Hampton rented a store at 6th and Hill streets, in Los Angeles, and signed up every man and woman looking for work. . . . He told them to report at the store the next day. . . . The next day presented a new dilemma. . . . One thousand of them failed to show up. . . . He had to send scouts out all over Los Angeles to get an extra 1,000 extras. . . . Since then, Central Casting always takes the precaution of allowing for 10 per cent withdrawals to cover sickness, drunkenness and other emergencies, including general laziness.

BY CECIL SMITH.

Bob Burns, who seems to have inherited the late Will Rogers' gift for curing every tense issue by injecting large doses of homely philosophy, now finds himself enveloped in bitter industrial warfare in "Our Leading Citizen."

Lem Schofield [Mr. Burns] can most aptly be described as a small town lawyer. Despite the growth of his native town into a thriving center of manufacture, thanks to the steel mills built by Mr. Tapley [Gene Lockhart], Lem has never lost the human touch. When Mr. Tapley reduces all wages in his mills by 10 per cent—even though production is at capacity and profits are large—Lem resigns as corporation lawyer.

Henceforth the fight is fierce, with Lem upholding the claims of the otherwise powerless workers, and with Mr. Tapley calling in such strongarms as Shep Muir [Charles Bickford] to assist in his oppressive methods.

This long controversy occupies most of the picture's footage. However, it works up a great deal of excitement. Somebody blows up the mills—I never found out who—and they burn up fiercely. Mobs are pitted against mobs, and Mr. Burns meets Mr. Bickford in single combat. There is never a dull moment.

Taking their place in the story are Lem's daughter, Judith [Susan Hayward], and Clay Clayton [Joseph Allen Jr.], the rising son of Lem's dead law partner. They love each other, but, as you can imagine, Judith cannot bring herself to marry Clay as long as he is lined up with the money-grabbing Mr. Tapley.

Both virtue and vice are rampant in the plot. It is always easy to tell who is good and who is bad, though, and I do not lessen the suspense by indicating that the bad ones get what is coming to them.

While Mr. Burns' milk-of-human-kindness manner gets cloying, it is impossible to think of not liking him. Then, too, there is something appealing about the casual, natural way he always behaves.

The supporting cast is quite good. Mr. Bickford, Mr. Lockhart, and Elizabeth Patterson, as a wronged old mountaineer widow, carry away first honors. Miss Hayward is attractive without distinction. Mr. Allen, an agreeable chap, is too much of a milksop until, in the last few minutes, the light begins to dawn for him. Skillful bits are contributed by Clarence Kolb, Fay Helm, and Hattie Hoel.

The sets—especially of the old fashioned law office and the mills—are good, and technical matters are well handled.

Dance Steps from Hollywood

Dancing masters have found inspiration for novelties in Hollywood. Virginia Self of Dallas, Tex., and S. Titchener Smith of Toronto, Canada, illustrate two steps—the travel and rhumba—from "Back to Back." The dance is adapted from the film, "Second Fiddle."

The Chicago National Association of Dancing Masters opened its annual convention yesterday in the Congress hotel. Dancing instructors are here from every part of the country—about 500 of them.

Growing interest in folk dancing, association spokesmen say, is bringing back interest in many of the old dances. Out of Hollywood comes the inspiration for such novelties as "Back to Back," adapted from Tyrone Power and Edna Mae Oliver's memorable dance in "Second Fiddle," and "The Old Maid," named for Bette Davis' dance in her new picture.

Scots' Woolen Glory Dazzles Fashion Sleuth

BY RHEA SEEGER.

EDINBURGH, Scotland [By Mail].—In the land of kilts, even the dramatic majesty of Edinburgh castle doesn't completely take a fashion sleuth's eyes away from the blazing beauty of Scotland's plaids. The youngsters cause the most excitement—small lads in kilts and jaunty short jackets are anything but sissy. Equally resplendent are the kilted skirts of their small and 'teen-age sisters.

Every one wears something plaid; in suits, in eye striking topcoats and in skirts. Unusual contrasts are achieved by using them with solid one color jackets, a copper color going out with a royal Stuart plaid, a dull gray green with a navy, green and red plaid.

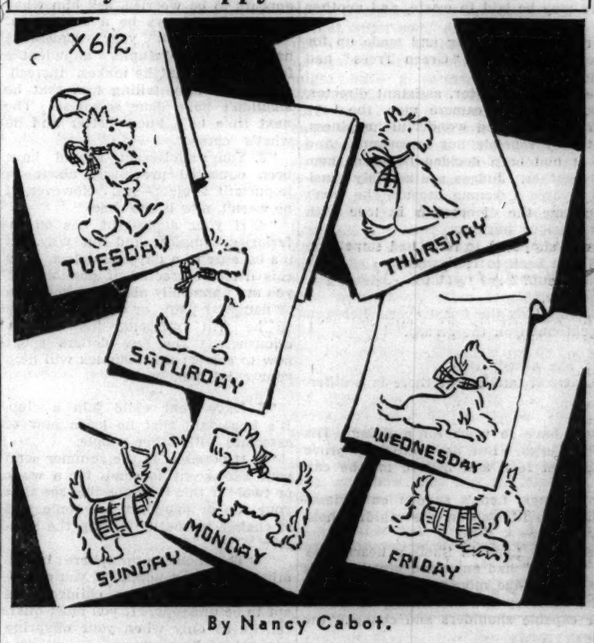
Just as soft, just as fine, and just as famous are the Scottish woolens used for swanky outfits for both grownups and youngsters. Some of the brown shades are as alive as anything in the reds. Much has been done with all shades of green ranging from a dull bronze to a tender new leaf green.

Three piece suits are tremendously smart, so are the separate top coats cut in a semi-reefer style. New this fall are the many long capes. These are all of Scottish wool in plain colors, but each shade vibrantly alive—the woolen glory of Scotland.

Tweeds are also used in coats, jackets, and costumes of unusual pattern and color. They wear indefinitly, cost amazingly little if you buy them on the spot and dozens are now on their way to the States. Small precise patterns are as characteristic as large designs, the sort of bright glory that can be seen for blocks.

Since the swing of a kilt seems to intrigue all, no one is surprised to see the new kilted skirts for women.

Playful Puppy Enlivens Towels



By Nancy Cabot.

Playful Puppy towels, one for each day of the week, will delight any youngster, and they are easily embroidered. The pattern includes all seven motifs, measuring about four by five inches each, and also may be used for pillows or wall hangings.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of Playful Puppy towels, No. X-612, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

The Housewife

Are you your own dress-maker? Or are you just a hem shortener and taker inner? Anyway, whichever you are, you'll save an ache in your back if you provide yourself with one of the gadgets that automatically marks a skirt hem. You simply press a rubber bulb and chalk is blown in an even line at any height you designate on the accompanying yardstick. That's all there is to it. No back-breaking bending, no kneeling, no pins. The other day we saw a stack of these skirt makers that had been reduced. Why not try one out?

WHY DO YOU PAY EXTRA FOR OIL SHAMPOOS AT YOUR BEAUTY SHOP?
Beauty Experts Answer "For Soft, Alluring, Manageable Hair."
You gladly pay a premium for oil shampoos at your beauty shop. Why? Because you know and your beauty operator knows that you can't have beautiful, manageable hair unless your hair's natural oil supply, so vital to hair beauty, is kept up to par.
Specialists say the chief enemies of the natural oils in your hair are: 1. Harsh chemical shampoos and soaps whose too powerful cleansing action robs your hair of its beauty-giving oils. 2. HEAT from permanent waving and hot drying machines removes some of your hair's natural oils.
That's why your beauty operator recommends an oil shampoo . . . to try to restore these lost oils to your hair and scalp.
NOW . . . YOU CAN HAVE BALANCED, PRECISE OIL CONTROL WITH THE CAS-O-LAN TWINS
Contain LANOLIN, OLIVE OIL, CASTOR OIL
The sensational, utterly different hair products that contain nature's wonder oils . . . so perfectly blended and balanced . . . that you receive the correct amount of oil assistance that your particular type of hair requires . . . and at the same time get just the right amount of gentle, lathery, cleansing action. You've never before had an opportunity to use products as scientifically advanced as the CAS-O-LAN TWINS . . . they rejuvenate as they cleanse.
THERE'S NO SECRECY ABOUT CAS-O-LAN TWINS
No new experimental chemicals . . . no caustic alkalies . . . no alcohol . . . no soaps . . . nothing to kill or ruin your hair. We invite you to ask your beauty operator if there is anything better for your permanent than Lanolin, Olive Oil and Castor Oil.
FOR GORGEOUS HAIR EVERY MINUTE OF THE DAY! GET THE CAS-O-LAN TWINS NOW! AT DRUG, DEPARTMENT AND 10-CENT STORES—BOTH IN 10c AND 30c SIZES.

FOR BEAUTIFUL, ENTICING HAIR
CAS-O-LAN SHAMPOO
is a perfected method of emulsifying Lanolin, Olive Oil and Castor Oil that produces a rich, creamy lather with just the right amount of cleansing action to whisk away all foreign accumulations and loose dandruff . . . without killing your hair's natural oils. These oils are scientifically blended so that your hair absorbs just the right amount . . . not too much . . . not too little. Don't confuse Cas-O-Lan Shampoo with any other oil shampoo . . . it's new! It's different! CAS-O-LAN SHAMPOO LEAVES NO DINGY FILM . . . NO DUST-CATCHING, GUMMY DEPOSIT . . . NO BROKEN ENDS . . . NO WILD HAIR.
CAS-O-LAN HAIR CREME is not a gummy wave set . . . not a sticky brilliantine, but a greaseless, creamy hair conditioner that invigorates your hair and scalp . . . penetrates each hair shaft . . . bringing out and highlighting your hair's natural sheen . . . and imparting lasting elasticity and springiness to your waves. Just a few drops after and between shampoos keep your hair and waves in perfect condition and appearance.
The Cas-O-Lan Twins are equally effective for oily, normal, dry, bleached, and dyed hair.

SYNOPSIS.

Lee Reynolds, promoter of children's acts in the days before motion pictures, is attracted to the tenement flat of the Lichts by the singing of their little daughter, Josefa. Next day he calls with his wife and persuades the Lichts to let him take Josefa into his home and train her for the stage. Two older children, Lena and Eddie, live with the Reynolds. During a stage show Eddie's voice breaks and Josefa goes to his rescue, saves the act, and becomes famous overnight. Josefa is billed as Sheila Doone. Lena hides her envy and hatred of Sheila by pretended friendship. Backed by Producer Leica, Lena becomes a motion picture actress in the infant industry. With Lena's brief day waning Leica signs up Sheila. Lena loses a coveted rôle to Sheila. Lena forces Harry Larch, a leading man, who falls in love with Sheila, to marry her and she retires from the screen. Her husband is accidentally drowned. Sheila helps Lena financially and depends on Lena for business advice. Lena finds a new attraction in Austin Birch, an actor. And Sheila becomes secretly engaged to Ronny Low, her new leading man.

INSTALMENT XIV.

MOTHER'S APPROVAL.

Mama Licht's effort to resemble a camel whose back has just been broken by a last straw was a failure. Nothing delighted her so much as cooking dinners for Sheila's friends while the legitimate hired cook stood by and looked on helplessly. Mama believed in stuffing invited persons right up to the muzzle with the most delicious food with which they had ever been stuffed. In all the emergencies of the body and soul she believed in food first and not until afterward the doctor or priest.

Ronald Low was neither thirty nor thirty-five. He was thirty-two, but he had the body of young Hercules, the appetite of a boy, and the digestion of an ostrich. There was Irish blood in Ronald's branch of the Low family and his tongue so beguiled and blandished Mama Licht that she beamed with good nature and satisfaction. From the very start of what was to be a firm friendship founded on mutual trust and understanding, he called her Mama and she called him Ronny.

Mama Licht often spoke foolishness, but basically she was a wise and shrewd woman. And she listened with deep inner approval to the plans which the young people, happy to the point of intoxication, unfolded to her.

They were not, of course, to be as others were. That must be understood. Instead of building an expensive house on a half acre in the new development, Beverly Hills, and having it furnished by Parker Brothers, they were going to buy acreage, fifty or a hundred in some outlying district, plant it to fruit and alfalfa, build a simple old fashioned ranch house, furnish it with colonial stuff from the second hand stores, and live in a simple and sensible way. They would have a swimming pool and a tennis court, horses to ride, cows to milk and Dark Cornish chickens to eat. All this would cost no more than a mansion in Beverly. Their joint salaries could well finance the ranch of their dreams.

"And if," exclaimed Mama Licht, "it gives babies it is best they grow up on a farm than all the time be run over by street cars and automobiles and bitten by strange dogs."

Mama Licht read the papers.

"Of course there'll be babies," said Sheila. "And when the ranch is paid for we're going to live nicely of course, but not extravagantly, and put everything we can into a trust fund for them."

Ronnie lingered until after midnight. They sat in a swing on the porch, and most of the time Sheila was tucked into the hollow of Ronnie's arm and had her cheek against his. And each seemed to the other a perfect being. They would gladly have sat there till dawn, but Sheila had received a call to be at the studio at 7 o'clock and all at once Mama Licht erupted onto the porch, making the sounds of one whose premises have been invaded by poultry and shooed Ronny home, but she softened this harsh action by an embrace and a kiss, both solid and from the heart.

"That boy," said Mama Licht, when Ronny had driven away, after a great clearing of motor throats, "is all right. That boy is O. K."

And so he was, a handsome, beguiling young man, full of energy and honest to the core.

Sheila was on the set the next morning at seven sharp, all made up and ready to work. But some one had forgotten something and blamed some one else who in turn blamed another, and the company simply ate up studio money until after 2 o'clock and Ronny gave it as his opinion that 20 per cent of the cost of every picture may be laid to waste, and another 20 to idiocy.

But from 2 o'clock on the director got things going and made up for lost time. A little after midnight the last scenes of "Green Trees" had been shot and the picture was "in the can."

All day Sheila had died to tell one and all, director, assistant director, property man, script girl, electricians, carpenters, camera men, the boys who made the music and so forth, of her new and wonderful happiness. But the reasons for secrecy were not only sensible but important. And until Ronny's divorce became a fact, it had been decided between them that they must not be seen too often together. Judges are horribly sensitive about the causes for divorce. To divorce a woman because she won't play is righteous, but if at the same time the divorcer is in love with some other woman it is a bad and suspicious business.

Lena came on the set briefly, she was supposed to have had something to do with the script, and welcomed Sheila back to Hollywood.

"How did you and Ronald Low make out?"

"Fine," said Sheila. "He's a grand guy."

"Just wait till you meet Austin Birch. He's the finest ever. Between you and me he's one of the few real gentlemen on the screen."

Inwardly Sheila flew to arms.

"Isn't Ronald Low a gentleman?" she asked.

"O, Ronny comes of a good old theatrical family, but there is a difference, isn't there?"

"Is there?"

"Well, you see, Austin doesn't even have to work for a living. His family are way up millionaires in Pittsburgh. But he wanted to prove to himself that he could stand on his own feet, and believe me, he can and does."

Reticent as the grave about many things, Lena's sudden enthusiasm for men were too much for her. When the fit was on she couldn't hold her tongue.

Little Ruth Russell had once referred to Lena in Sheila's hearing as "Pants" Bowen and when asked why "Pants," had answered because she's crazy about anything in pants, if the pants have money in their pockets. Sheila had resented this and denied the accuracy and the charity of Ruth's observations. Ruth had shrugged her capable shoulders and changed the subject.

During their talk, lasting no more than ten minutes, Lena kept harping back to the subject of Austin Birch with swoops of enthusiasm. There was, she confided to Sheila, practically an understanding between them.

Between "Green Trees" and Sheila's next picture there was little interim. She stood high with the public, not as high as Swanson and some others, but still quite delectably high, and, of course, while this lasted it was Mr. Leica's Napoleonic policy to slap her into as many pictures as possible. There was only time for one heavenly drive with Ronny and some frantic late hours in the costume department, and then with her maid Linda and Gretorix, the new and very dark chauffeur, she was on her way to Big Pines.

To say "Big Pines" in southern California is the same as to say "The Kentucky Mountains." And in fact the differences between the two localities are trifling. In short, the Cinderella of "Timbersides" was returning to the scene of that triumph to play a more mature and passionate rôle.

"The Taming of the Shrew" is always a good story, and if the background is sufficiently changed the public and even the producers themselves always think that it is a new story. In the present version Marmot [Sheila] marries Blaze [Austin Birch] and almost immediately begins to lead him a dance and to cut up. She is instrumental in rekindling a burnt out feud. She is spendthrift with the little moneys that come in—incorrigible. They take in a boarder [a sore hurt to Blaze's pride], an artist from the north. Marmot flirts with this outlander [innocently of course], but she flirts. Once when they are flirting a bullet strikes into the trunk of a tree just above their heads [Blaze is a good shot] and the next time they flirt a bullet splinters the rock near the door of a limestone cave into which the artist has almost enticed her. After the second bullet the artist hears the great cities calling him and goes away.

Sheila and Austin Birch had a lot of fun poking fun at the script which they were to enact.

Young Girl Has Helpful Ideas for Older Folk

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Have you a son in his teens? Or a daughter?

Are you having trouble with him or her? Are you angry or resentful of their behavior? Are you thinking of them as ungrateful—with all you do for them? Or willful, perhaps, or defiant?

Suppose, if those are some of your troubles and your feelings, you stop for a little while thinking of your injured feelings and pride, and listen to the thoughts and feelings of an adolescent daughter who is so loyal that she will not complain, but expresses herself like this:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: I am 16 and in high school. I hope you will print my letter in your columns so it may reach more people.

"Some hints for parents of adolescents:

"1. Be a companion to your adolescent. If he comes to you with what he thinks is a 'serious problem,' don't laugh it off. Give your advice, but not in a sarcastic or superior tone of voice. When your son or daughter appears to be worried, ask him what is wrong. Always be a companion.

"2. Never call your adolescent names [such as 'stupid,' 'impudent'] for mistakes that he makes. Instead, explain to him, telling him that he shouldn't have done so-and-so. The next time he'll know better and do what's correct.

"3. Your adolescent should have been educated previously about an important subject—sex. However, if he wasn't, now is the time.

"4. If your adolescent has an inferiority complex, find out why. If it's because of a physical defect, have this defect corrected, if possible. If you are financially able, give your son or daughter piano or dancing lessons, so he will overcome his self-consciousness. The few dollars spent now to correct this complex will help your child immensely.

"5. Have your child join a club. It's important that he learn how to associate with other people.

"6. If possible, in the summer send your adolescent to camp for a week or two. If this is impossible see that your son or daughter has some sort of change in routine during the summer.

"7. The home atmosphere is another important point. If you are always quarreling your children are apt to be unhappy. If you must quarrel, do so only when your offspring are out of hearing.

"8. If there are financial difficulties, tell your children. They will understand that they must do without their ice cream or they must run errands for their allowance.

"9. Last but not least, give the adolescent credit—he is not so stupid as you think!

"An adolescent cannot be happy without the coöperation of both parents.

"If this letter is published, kindly do not use my name, but instead use: "AN UNFORTUNATE ADOLESCENT."

This Triangle Situation Has Novel Angles

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Here's an unusual situation for you to ponder, Miss Blake. I've been palling around with a certain girl for years; since childhood, to be exact. We used to go traipsing off together on vacations, to shows, and everywhere, because we didn't have a beau, either of us. Then, during the last few months a young man did join us on our harmless little expeditions, and we became a trio. We were having fun, it seemed to me, until suddenly I realized that my old school pal was angry that I was along, as she became deeply interested in the man.

"It made no difference to me about him, because he never got a rise out of me—isn't the kind I like. So, I said to myself, 'All right, she can have him, and welcome.' So I absented myself for a time. It appears that he liked me after all and, when I didn't go along, he backed out. The girl pleaded with me to complete the trio. I, being a silly and happy go lucky, said again, 'All right!'

"But the man is acting more and more interested in me when we are all out together, and the girl acts hurt, and I'd say the party isn't an all round success. A funny triangle affair, yes? But I see where my trotting along doesn't help my friend's case, and I don't want the fellow. But the girl says she'll never speak to me again if I withdraw and leave her without a chance. What would you do? SILLY."

There comes a time, Silly, when girls have to strike out on their own.

If you can, help each other along toward meeting men fine and good, but you can't make futile sacrifices of your own chances. It should not be expected, as your friend expects you to fill in dull hours in the hope she'll eventually win out with the reluctant suitor.

Single-Pursuit Method of Beauty Improvement Advised

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

With the summer virtually behind us and cooler breezes putting new life into our being, most of us look forward to a season of doing something that will mean personal accomplishment. At least, we say: "This coming year I am going to study this or that; do this or that; not vegetate, anyway." And some women see their resolution through nobly. Many, however, just go on dreaming of that future day when they'll get around to what is on the mind.

Suppose you take one feature of yours with which you are not contented. Most of us have several of them to draw on. But take one for a few weeks anyway. The figure that is too plump may remind you that there's too much fatty tissue in the way. Say that you're going to go lightly on meals until that zipper not only slides up and down with the greatest of ease, but you have even more breathing room inside of it. In other words concentrate on bringing the waistline back to its proportions of a year or so ago.

You'll find that when an inch disappears from your waistline measurement, you have earned heart to do more paring work on other areas of the silhouettes. Women confronted with a number of features to be gone over suffer discouragement, even are known to say it is hopeless. But let them work successfully on one feature and they find they have the key to further success in their hands.

Or, let's say that it is hair that is discouraging. Take it on for a month's sincere and earnest concentration. Give it a daily treatment yourself.

It won't be done, you know as well as I, if you say: "I'll go and have it done." This is your job, tell yourself, to be accomplished by no other complicated implements than the hair brush and your fingers working and kneading the scalp.

What happens, really, and why we advocate this single pursuit system, is that it never remains a single pursuit. You get heart from the success of one feature with the consequence that several are being brought up to par along with it.

The sautéed beef rolls that head today's short-cut dinner have everything to recommend them. They are juicily flavorsome. They require only a short cooking time. They are made from one of the less expensive meat cuts. And that's an unbeatable trio of qualities for any food to possess.

With such an interesting main dish, you needn't worry much about the rest of the menu. Simple foods—a buttered vegetable, an easy salad and ice cream—complete the meal. There will be no gravy, so plan to have creamed potatoes or pimiento mashed potatoes that are buttery enough to take care of themselves.

SHORT CUT DINNER MENU
Sautéed Beef Rolls
Pimiento Mashed Potatoes
Buttered Green Beans
Tomato Pepper and Onion Salad
Toasted Almond and Butterscotch Sundae
Coffee

Get out the food chopper the minute you've tied on that apron, for you've a bacon grinding job ahead of you. It won't take but a minute or two, but you'll want this task out of the way even before you put the potatoes on to cook.

Sautéed Beef Rolls.
[Serves 4]

4 to 6 slices bacon, put through food chopper
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons finely chopped raw mushrooms [optional]
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
Butter, pepper and salt
4 thin slices top round of beef

Add the chopped onion and mushrooms to the bacon and cook in a skillet for 3 or 4 minutes, or until the bacon is transparent but not crisp. Add parsley, a dash of Worcestershire sauce, mustard and salt and pepper to taste. Spread this mixture over the slices of meat which have been cut very thin and pounded by the butcher. All fat should be trimmed from the meat. Roll up the pieces of meat and tie with string. Sauté them in plenty of butter in a heavy skillet, turning them over as they brown. Keep heat moderate during cooking. When well browned, place on platter, remove strings, and serve with sautéed mushrooms or catsup.

Tomato Pepper and Onion Salad.
[Serves 4]

1 green pepper
1 mild white onion [medium]
¼ cup salad oil
1 tablespoon vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 medium tomatoes
Lettuce

Cut off stem end of green pepper and scoop out seeds. Cut pepper in thin rings. Slice onion thinly and separate into rings. Combine oil, vinegar, salt and pepper, and marinate pepper and onion rings in this mixture for 10 or 15 minutes. Slice tomatoes and arrange on lettuce beds. Top with pepper and onion rings, and pour marinating mixture over each as dressing.

Pimiento mashed potatoes are the regulation mashed variety to which two or three tablespoons of chopped canned pimiento have been added. Let a fat chunk of butter melt down over the heaped-up bowl of potatoes while it's on its way to the table.

Princess Slip Perfectly Cut

WOMAN'S AND MISS' PRINCESS SLIP.

The new autumn dresses demand perfection of underthings. Not a crease must show beneath the frocks. The fit must be like one's skin, and with comfort. The princess slip made with today's pattern is just such a garment. Its bodice conforms to the contours of the bustline, the waistline sector is flat and clinging, and while the hipline is molded the skirt has flare where it is needed and won't conflict with the lines of the gown—that is: at the hemline. Notice that the back is cut down to the waistline, an innovation in slip designing.

Lingerie silks and cottons in dark or pastel colors are the fabrics to choose. Not much material is required, so the pattern is economical as well as attractive.

Style No. 3147 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 2½ yards of 39 inch material.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of patterns and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Tuesday, Aug. 22.

An excellent set of celestial angles today. Dust off your best plans, apply your top motives, and go after what you deserve, financially, in business, in all human relations that are aboveboard. Plan and act. Make this day count.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead from today till next birthday increases in opportunity, especially from April 26 on. Be ready to push plans, try to widen scope; build up estate. Danger: March 27 to April 7 and Aug. 8-27, 1940.

Tomorrow.

Cavallo Band Gives Park Concert; Cool Night Cuts Attendance

A cold wind and undependable skies kept last night's Grant park audience small, as P. A. Cavallo and his band gave the fifty-second of the summer's free outdoor concerts. The program included popular items by Wagner, Suppe, Glazounoff, Ponchielli, Bizet, and other composers. John Nicastro played the solo part of the recitative and polonaise from Weber's Second concerto for clarinet.

Mabel Menghini, attractive brunette soprano of Chicago, made her Grant park debut, singing the aria and cabaletta from the first act of Verdi's "La Traviata" and several operetta songs. Her aria was marred by nervousness. Although her voice is pretty in quality, she needs better breath support, less pinching of high notes, and a style that substitutes smooth contours for angularity.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

By adding a fairly new and thoroughly enchanting perfume to your collection, your private opinion of your own good judgment will be upheld and approved by others. That statement has a definite sound but we have that signed-on-the-dotted line feeling about it.

We wish we could describe this fragrance in a better way. It's a vague, lovely blend that seems to develop a little tartness as it is worn. It's not sweet nor is it heavy, but it does make an impression. We tested it on several people and they reported that the perfume aroused the interest of all bystanders. It's a trait of human nature anyway to enjoy intriguing people, even with a perfume.

It's always a little difficult to foretell how a perfume will react on an individual because the chemistry of the body can affect a scent. For this reason it's rather wise for the economical woman to purchase a dram of a perfume that is new to her.

If you want something to revive your jaded spirits, buy a dram of this perfume. If you like it well enough to adopt it for a permanent scent, you might consider the de luxe package. In a box with a quilted green satin lining stands a rectangular bottle supported on each side by two curved leaves of metal resembling pounded silver. This rests on a curved base of dark wood with a matching knob over the stopper. It will contribute an elegant note to your dressing table.

There's a cologne in the same scent that you'll enjoy using.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Johan Feldman of Greenwood avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Hope-Lois, to Robert Ernest Samuels, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Samuels of Cornell avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Feldman are giving a reception for their daughter and her fiancé on Sunday.

The engagement of Miss Beverly Shirley Ross to Albert Schoenfeld, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Schoenfeld of Hollywood, Cal., is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ross of Chicago. Miss Ross, a former resident of Chicago, is living in California.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. McCoy of 3104 Home avenue, Berwyn, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ida Louise, to Dr. Paul Russell Griffith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Griffith of Dundee, Ill. Both Miss McCoy and Dr. Griffith are graduates of Northwestern university. The wedding will take place in the fall.

★ On the House ★

A correct type of floor gives a room distinction and individuality. If your house is the cottage type, random width plank floors are appropriate. Oak parquet is correct for a room which has at least a touch of the formal. Narrow oak floors are suited to rooms which are informal and formal alike. And the splattered floors of Colonial days are always charming and quite what their name suggests.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

The informal and unofficial polls that have been taken in connection with proposed changes in the laws [notably the one to make all suits equal in scoring value] have revealed that the majority of bridge players are well content with the status quo. Since the various law making committees involved are primarily interested in the wishes of the public at large they have decided to drop the proposal and leave the present scoring exactly "as is." Thus we all will go right along hoping that the fickle goddess favors us with the major suits.

On the whole I feel that this decision is well founded. After all, contract is far too democratic a game to be under totalitarian rule; it is what the majority of players want that must be the determining factor.

It goes without saying that bridge "systems" are built around the official laws of scoring. Hence, now there will be no need for change in the Culbertson system. This will come as welcome news to a great many present and prospective players who can proceed on the theory that what they learn today will be completely applicable for a long time to come.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 Spade	Pass	2 Spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

It will be observed that East-West could have made a game in hearts on this hand, but that they did not even enter the auction. On the surface this looks like pretty bad bridge, but viewing East's and West's hands separately it is unfair to take such harsh judgment. Certainly West had nothing approaching a vulnerable overcall of one spade. East's problem over the two spades was much "closer." He might have stretched slightly to put in a take-out double. He had three honor tricks with fair support for the "other major suit," and by that measure a take-out double was desirable. As against that, however, the double might have a catastrophic result: West might have to respond at the three level with diamonds, and if he had a weak five card suit the slaughter might be terrible. Thus a double on East's part was definitly dangerous and his unwillingness to take the gamble cannot be fairly criticized.

At any rate East-West redeemed themselves, at least partly, by putting up an excellent defense against the two spade contract. West opened the heart queen. Dummy covered and East won. Now, after considerable thought, East found the only plan that had a reasonable chance to defeat the contract. He led a low club. West won with the king, cashed the heart jack, then returned his remaining club. East cashed the ace and queen and led a fourth round. This proved the crucial play. Just as East had hoped, West had the spade ten with which to force dummy's spade king, and now East had an impregnable trump trick.

Obviously if East, instead of underleading the club honors, had laid down the ace and a low club, he could not have regained the lead for the play of a fourth round and hence could not have built up a trump trick for himself.

A Good Letter Is Passport to 'Wizard of Oz'

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

If you boys and girls want to see the funny little Munchkins, the horried little Winkies, the shining green Emerald City, or any of the other strange and interesting things in "The Wizard of Oz," you'd better get those letters in.

This new color movie is just the thing for boys and girls, and 100 lucky youngsters will come with me to see it at the United Artists theater on Thursday, Aug. 31. If you want very, very much to come, sit right down and write a letter telling me all about it. I'm looking for children to whom this movie will be a special treat. If you think you're one of those, be sure you let me know about it before next Thursday morning.

I'm going to select my guests that day, and they'll be the boys and girls who write the best letters telling me why they'd like an invitation. Each boy or girl must write his or her own letter. No one else can do it for you, and please don't ask for invitations for other children. Tell your friends to write, too, if they're anxious to come.

Be sure to include your full name, address, and age in your letter, because if you don't include these items, you can't possibly be a winner. None of these things should be a hit hard for any wide-awake boy or girl to do, so don't wait too long before mailing that letter to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

Drunken Driver Sentenced to 30 Days After Crash.

Five automobile drivers were sentenced to jail terms of five to thirty days yesterday in Safety court and their driving licenses were revoked for one year. Judge Francis Borrelli also impounded the licenses of sixteen other motorists who obtained continuances when arraigned on trafic charges.

Henry Bogden, 23 years old, 1616 North Wood street, a WPA worker, was sentenced to thirty days in the bridewell for driving while intoxicated. Bogden's auto rammed a parked car Saturday at Hirsch street and Oakley boulevard and injured the owner, who was loading it with luggage. Two whisky bottles, one half full and one empty, were found in Bogden's car. A charge of disorderly conduct against his brother Edmund, 21, who was with him, was dismissed.

Clerk Gets 15 Days.

Sidney Kenning, 22, of 4048 16th street, a clerk, was sentenced to 15 days in the bridewell for drunken driving.

Three motorists, each sent to the county jail for five days for reckless driving, are:

ARTHUR LINDQUIST of 5154 Clark street, a painter.

EDWARD WALENCIK, 4243 21st place, reckless driving.

SAM KANTOR, 7022 Sheridan road, reckless driving.

ARTHUR WILLIAMS, 7443 Rhodes avenue, reckless driving.

MRS. DAISY KOLAR, 7919 Wellington avenue, Elmwood Park, leaving the scene of an accident.

RUDOLPH STYBLO, 2626 Newcastle avenue, reckless driving.

JOSEPH LEWANDOWSKI, 1911 19th street, reckless driving.

STANLEY GABOWSKI, 1717 Lafin street, reckless driving.

Frank Jahacki, 1449 North Wood street, who was charged with having no driver's license, was given a continuance to Sept. 7 and was ordered not to drive in the meantime.

DOCTOR'S RENO DIVORCE VOIDED ON WIFE'S PLEA

Mrs. K. Lucille Lambird, 38 years old, whose husband, a former Chicago physician, divorced her in 1936 in Reno, Nev., won a declaratory judgment in Superior court yesterday holding the Reno decree void and ruling that she is still the doctor's wife.

The husband is Dr. Clifford D. Lambird, who formerly had an office at 8500 Stony Island avenue. He obtained the divorce on Christmas eve of 1936 and next day married Miss Florence Knowlton, formerly of 8215 Harper avenue. Their last known address was Sparks, Nev.

Judge Robert C. O'Connell declared the divorce void on the ground that Dr. Lambird's legal residence at the time the decree was issued was Illinois, not Nevada. The decree, in effect, also declared the physician's second marriage to be illegal.

Mrs. Lambird, who lives at 8157 Avalon avenue, also was granted custody of their son, Robert, 7 years old.

Drivers in Court

Mrs. Daisy Kolar, defendant in Safety court yesterday whose driver's license was impounded. She was charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Sidney Kenning, who was sentenced to fifteen days in Bridewell for drunk driving, and his girl friend, Miss Catherine Ptak, who fainted when sentence was passed.

INQUEST STARTS IN TWO SUBWAY ELECTROCUTIONS

Chief Deputy Coroner Anthony C. Prusinski and Deputy Coroner William McHale yesterday inspected the subway tunnel beneath Milwaukee avenue near Ohio street where two construction workers were electrocuted Sunday morning.

An inquest into the deaths was opened yesterday, but was continued to Aug. 29 pending McHale's report.

ONE IS KILLED, FOUR HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

Injury Victims Reported Near Death.

Robert Lynn Palmer, 36 years old, 2912 North Albany avenue, was killed last night and four colored men were reported to be near death as the result of an automobile collision at 61st and Halsted streets.

The four Negroes critically injured are Barney Pinkney, 30 years old, 4058 Wabash avenue; Oscar Sidney, 29, of 3339 Indiana avenue; Winston Bailey, 31, of 3937 Prairie avenue, and Lee Parker, 20, of 4043 Wabash avenue. Parker was taken to St. Bernard's hospital and the others to Woodlawn hospital. All incurred fractured skulls.

Witnesses said Alfred Bullard, colored, 414 Oakwood boulevard, was driving one car east in 61st street at a speed of 60 miles an hour. It smashed into the one driven by Palmer, then rammed two parked cars. Bullard was slightly injured, and his four colored companions were thrown from the car.

Two Chicago Girls Killed.

Miss Virginia Florence Gleason, 22 years old, 7643 Normal avenue, and Miss Winifred Powers, 19, of 6150 South Kolmar avenue, were killed yesterday in an automobile collision at Delavan, Wis. Five persons were injured.

Miss Gleason was the daughter of Harry Gleason, who is in charge of the radio room at the Central police building. She was to have been married Thanksgiving day. Miss Gleason, Miss Powers, and three other girls were riding in an automobile driven by Raymond Hirschman, 21, of 1520 West 63d street, on the assembly grounds at Lake Delavan.

Five Taken to Hospital.

Hirschman and the other girls were taken to a hospital in Elkhorn, Wis. The girls are Miss LaVerne Cardy, 19, of 3721 61st street; Loretta Thompson, 18, of 1718 West 63d street, and Shirley Streit, 18, of 8032 Oglesby avenue.

The other car was driven by Herman Strang of Harvard, Ill. He was not injured, but his companion, Thomas Baldwin, 35, of 1203 State Parkway, incurred a skull fracture and was taken to the hospital in Elkhorn.

Patrick Casey of 3514 Wallace street, a street car motorman, was injured fatally in a collision between a street car and a truck at 35th and State streets.

Driver Held for Inquest.

Wilmer Doty of Mansfield, O., driver of the truck, was held for the inquest today. Three colored passengers on the street car incurred minor injuries.

Richard B. Prendergast of 6320 North Oakley avenue, a former Republican committeeman in the 50th ward, was injured seriously when his automobile and another driven by Theodore Lastanski, 6511 South Wolcott avenue, collided near California and Lincoln avenues.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 518 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 403 were killed in Chicago, where 13,681 were injured in trafic accidents in the same period.

Killed in Crash

SCHOOL BOARD AND CITY SPEED PWA PROJECTS

Efforts to speed Public Works administration projects sponsored by the city and the board of education were being made yesterday. Action was taken to comply with a warning that both sponsors might lose grants if they could not show by Sept. 1 that projects would be completed on schedule.

John C. Christensen, school board architect, said eleven of the fifteen schools involved in a $7,000,000 building program will be ready for opening on Sept. 1 and that work on the additional schools is proceeding according to schedule. He said he would write PWA officials to this effect.

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, said work will be speeded up where necessary to comply with PWA regulations. He refused to discuss progress on the $12,000,000 filtration plant which was named in the PWA warning.

22-YARD PASS BEATS ALL-STAR REGULARS, 7-0

ARMSTRONG RISKS TITLE AGAINST AMBERS TONIGHT

LOU BATTLES TO REGAIN CROWN; HENRY FAVORITE

Lightweights May Attract 30,000.

New York, Aug. 21 [Special].—Henry Armstrong and Lou Ambers broke camp today and headed for New York and the Yankee stadium where they meet tomorrow night, Henry to defend the lightweight boxing championship and Lou to try to regain it.

Henry Armstrong.

Though the fighters themselves are through with the work and worry of the training period and making the required 135 pounds is merely a matter of drying out for 24 hours, the others in the cast will be busy.

Mike Jacobs, the promoter, will put on a final burst of energy in disposing of tickets. He will sweat as he tries to make two first row seats grow where there is room for but one and he will peer at the sky and worry about a postponement because of rain. Also he will keep an eye on the box office till, hoping for a gate of at least $125,000.

Advance Sale Is $50,000.

That figure seems possible as there is approximately $50,000 in the till, which is more than had been collected at a corresponding time prior to the fight last August, when Armstrong lifted the lightweight crown from Ambers and became the first man in Queensberry history to hold three world titles concurrently. Henry subsequently resigned as featherweight king, but he still holds the welterweight and lightweight honors. If Ambers regains the 135 pound championship tomorrow night, they will fight for the welterweight crown in November.

Jacobs feels certain of a gate in excess of $100,000, as last year's show, moved into Madison Square Garden after an outdoor postponement, drew a gross of $102,000 with an attendance of 19,200. That fight was one of the classics of lightweight championship history and certainly all those who saw it, as well as many more, should show up for this affair, possibly 30,000 in all.

Mead Is Puzzled.

Eddie Mead, the champion's manager, professes to be unable to understand why the odds are not longer than 7 to 5 with Armstrong the choice. He says that it should be 3 to 1. Al Jolson, who has a great interest in Armstrong's activities because he put up the money with which Mead purchased Henry's contract several years ago, arrived from California yesterday with a roll to bet on the champion.

Possibly Ambers is receiving stronger support this time because of the terrific battle he put up a year ago, when he finished strong while Armstrong was exhausted. Many fans believe Henry has begun to slip.

First Hit in 29 Times at Bat Wrecks No-Hit Game

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 21 (AP).—Chet Morgan, Louisville outfielder, who hadn't connected safely in twenty-eight consecutive official times at bat, beat out an infield hit with two out in the ninth to spoil a no-hit game for Pitcher Marvin Breuer of Kansas City tonight. Kansas City, leading the American association, won 2 to 0.

NOBLE KIZER, Purdue athletic director, reports that advance season football sales are up 43 per cent over last year. . . . Northwestern's sale is the heaviest in ten years. . . . The Wildcats expect to play before the largest opening game crowd in their history when Oklahoma invades Dyche stadium, Oct. 7. . . . Notre Dame's increase over last season is about 80 per cent. . . . Wonder if the All-Star game hasn't had something to do with making fans football conscious in August. . . . When Ted Lyons was hurt in Cleveland recently it marked the fourth time his right ankle had been sprained. . . . The White Sox veteran recalls he hurt it the first time while warming up before a basketball game when he was playing with Baylor. . . . "Well, coach, I guess I'll be out about two weeks," Ted moaned. . . . "Two weeks nothing," the coach replied, taping the ankle tightly and sending him back on the floor to play the entire game. . . . Stan Bordagaray of the Reds is one of the few head first sliders in the major leagues. . . . Jack Blackburn, Joe Louis' trainer, predicts Tony Galento will give Lou Nova a busy evening, Sept. 7. . . . Johnny Doeg will be the next tennis star to turn pro. . . . American league umpires are forbidden to scout for any club. . . . Mere mention of a promising player to a manager or magnate makes the arbiter liable to a heavy fine.

Curt Davis, who was tossed in as an extra in the $185,000 deal the Cubs made with the Cardinals, won as many games for the Cardinals last season as Dizzy Dean has for the Cubs in two. . . . Steven Epler of Columbia university, inventor of six man football, has come out with six man baseball, which is played on a triangular field. . . . Jimmy Dykes says 90 per cent of pitchers' sore arms are imaginary. . . . Solly Krieger, middleweight boxer, is a bookmaker at Saratoga. . . . Jakie May, former Cub lefty, has been quoted on one of the best known ciggy radio programs. . . . 8 in Row? Sox Meet Yankees Under Lights

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The world champion New York Yankees versus the rampaging possessors of an unfinished seven game winning streak, the third place Chicago White Sox. Under the lights in Comiskey park tonight, and all for the price of an ordinary sunlit game.

Bill Dietrich, who has been doing some great pitching since an injured leg healed, is scheduled to pitch for the Sox. Some thought that Edgar Smith would be called upon. The blond lefty won the first two daylight games the Sox achieved over the Yanks this season, he won the first game the Sox ever captured under the lights, in Philadelphia in June. And his victory last Friday night, a 1 to 0, eleven inning triumph over Bob Feller and associate Cleveland Indians, still has fans talking.

Mr. Dykes Outlines His Plans.

But Manager Jim Dykes, master of morale, wouldn't have it that way. Said James: "It's Dietrich's turn, he's been going fine and he's not going to be shoved aside. I predict he'll keep our night game slate clean. He'll be in there trying for our eighth straight in the schedule and the fourth straight in our night game book. Smitty and Thornton Lee will have their chance to take care of the Yankees in the double-header Wednesday."

Harry Grabiner, astute vice president of the White Sox, still is grieving over the fact that a crowd of at least 10,000, according to his estimates, was frightened away from the lamp inaugural a week ago last night. Some 15,000 box seats had been sold out for days and lots of fans, hearing this, decided other seats also had been gobbled up a la world series.

Gates Open at 5:30 P. M.

Mr. Grabiner spent the time between the first game and the second, last Friday night, ballyhooing the fact that 35,000 unreserved grandstand seats and 5,500 bleachers would be placed on sale at the time the gates opened at 5:30 o'clock, only three hours before the start of the game. A crowd of 46,000, eleven thousand more than saw the inaugural, attended the second game, and still there were a few seats to spare.

So Mr. Grabiner has been right after sports writers, radio spielers and his own telephone girls to get the word around that today at 5:30 o'clock there will be placed on sale 35,000 grandstand tickets and 5,500 bleacher tickets.

The Yankees have made it known that Bump Hadley will pitch tonight. It is going back far enough in the season's history to report that the Sox beat Bump the last time they played the Yanks. They made three runs in the first inning and in the second inning made a run and knocked out Hadley.

The Stenographer's Song.

I love the ragweed better than the rose,
Although it's not so pleasing to the sight,
Although it wafts no fragrance to the nose
Nor fills the atmosphere with strange delight.

I know not any garden flower so fair,
Nor any worthy of such great renown,
For when its mighty pollen fills the air

FRENCH PITCHES AND HITS; CUBS WHIP GIANTS, 4-3

Veteran Bats In 2 Runs; Chicago Makes 4 Errors.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 21.—In spite of fielding mistakes in his own ranks, Larry French, the recent refugee from Manager Gabby Hartnett's doghouse, slapped down the Giants today in the opener of a three game series. The southpaw veteran, whose last previous performance was the blanking of the Cardinals, held the Giants to seven hits, fought off the effects of a series of errors and carried his Cub pals to a 4 to 3 victory, which kept them from losing ground to the pace making Reds.

French, in winning his ninth game, didn't enjoy much hitting support from his fellow workers but a few of them, including himself, came through at the right time. Augie Galan and Bill Nicholson set up a scoring spree in the fourth against Bill Lohrman and French made it a three runner by singling two home. Then Larry was pulled back into a tie but Hank Leiber exploded a two-bagger on his old hunting grounds in the eighth and it drove home the winning run.

Hack Makes Two Errors.

The Cub defense began tossing confusion in French's direction in the second when Stan Hack erred. Larry overcame this miscue. In the third Glen Russell blundered and the Giants made three hits on top of the error to score a pair of runs. Then Hack erred again in the seventh and this blossomed into the tying run.

In the ninth French himself became the victim of the error fever. He cut loose with a wild throw to first, a slip so dangerous that it put the tying and winning runs on the far bases, but Bill Jurges couldn't drive 'em home.

Hack was able to pick up a little salve to ease the pain of his two miscues. He made a hit off Lohrman, the significance of this being that it was his only safe tap in his last three games. Billy Herman also came through with one of the Cubs' seven hits, thus extending his consecutive streak through fifteen games.

A Chicago Error Finally Hurts.

All the hitting done in the first two innings was the work of the Cubs—a single which Mattick arched over short with two out in the second. French had some trouble during this time. An error by Hack to open the second and a pass to Bonura with one out gave the Giants an opening, but they delayed their scoring until the next inning.

G. Russell upset French by fumbling Moore's grounder which should have been the second out in the third. Moore sprinted to second before the ball was recovered in right field. Jurges beat out a hit to Mattick and Demaree singled to right, but Moore experienced temporary blind staggers, so went only as far as third on the hit. Seeds then singled through short, Moore and Jurges scoring and Demaree being cut down trying to reach third. Danning closed the inning with a long fly to Galan.

Up Steps Mr. French.

Galan elected himself the starter of the three run incident that put the Cubs in front by 3 to 2 in the fourth. He led off with a single to left and a pass for Leiber came next. Nicholson bounced a single over Bonura's head to score Galan and put Leiber on third. A wild pitch put Nicholson on second base, after which G. Russell fanned. Mattick was purposely passed and when Mancuso struck out, it looked as if the Giant strategy was going to work perfectly. French spoiled it with a neat single through short, Leiber and Nicholson moving across the plate.

French had a little problem on his hands in the sixth which he opened with a pass to Demaree. Seeds took a third strike but Danning singled to left for the Giants' fourth hit. This Life Isn't All Football for the College All-Stars

When the College All-Stars aren't rounding into playing condition to meet the New York Giants in Soldiers' field on Aug. 30 they're just normal youngsters with healthy appetites and mood for relaxation. Newark Defeats Yankees, 5-4, in Cooperstown Game

The shoe was lost. For want of that shoe Poor Richard's horse and rider had an unfortunate time of it. Borrowing Benjamin Franklin's maxim that a little neglect may breed a great mischief, may we point out that football fans who forget to order tickets for the All-Star game in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 30 will deprive themselves of seeing the greatest sports spectacle of the year.

X-Rays to Tell if Parry Will Play for Giants

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Superior, Wis., Aug. 21.—Owen [Ox] Parry, a regular and one of the New York Giants key players, was taken to a hospital this afternoon for X-ray pictures of a foot injury. Trainers Gus Mauch and Charles Porter intimated the injury may keep the 230 pound tackle out of the All-Star game in Chicago on Aug. 30.

Parry was kicked during yesterday's intrasquad game in Duluth, but ignored the blow. He was unable to stand on the injured leg this morning. Preliminary examination indicated he had suffered a severe bruise on the instep. When heat treatments failed to relieve the pain, Coach Steve Owen ordered X-rays to determine whether any bones were broken.

Mellus Takes Parry's Post.

Meanwhile John Mellus, former Villanova tackle who played beside Johnny Wysocki, end on the All-Star squad, has been moved up to Parry's position and Pete Cole, another veteran, who plays either guard or tackle, is being groomed to relieve Mellus.

Parry's accident was only one of the aftermaths of yesterday's game. Owen issued an ultimatum this morning barring all lateral passes, except Touchdown—Jacunski.

Point after touchdown—Kischer.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

When Everett Kischer, Iowa State half back, passed to Harry Jacunski, Fordham end, for twenty-two yards and a touchdown in the opening attack by the Greens yesterday afternoon in Dyche stadium, he made Monday a blue day for the All-Star varsity. The Greens beat the Blues, 7 to 0, Kischer adding the point after touchdown.

In the second game of the afternoon, Pete Fay of Stanford, tossed a pass to Bill Paulman, also of Stanford, to give the third Blue eleven a victory over the Reds, 7 to 0. Ohio State's tackle, Alex Schoenbaum, place kicked the extra point.

Break Holiday Precedent.

Yesterday's games were surprise maneuvers on the part of the All-Star coaches. Ordinarily inclement weather and rain indicate a holiday, but since the boys could not play golf or go swimming, and because the cool weather invited hard work, the schedule was changed. The squad, however, was taken to the Bon-Air Country club for dinner, as originally planned, and the players saw the first show, retiring to their Northwestern headquarters at the usual hour.

There isn't anything favorable to report about the All-Star varsity. The players didn't have the snap or precision to their attack demonstrated last Saturday. The Blues didn't even come close to scoring, which undoubtedly was most disappointing to Lynn Hovland of Wisconsin and Ed Bock of Iowa State, who had been promoted to the guard positions yesterday.

Blues' Placement Fails.

Midway in the game, a brief drive which included two first downs, brought the Blues, who had been scored on already, into sight of the Greens' goal, but the Blues were penalized for holding, and then, on fourth down, George Faust's attempted field goal from the Greens' 30 yard line was short and went for a touchback. Billy Patterson made possible this sortie by passing successfully to Bowden Wyatt of Tennessee, right end, and to Howie Weiss, Wisconsin full back.

Kischer started the Greens' successful drive the first time his team had possession after kicking off to the Blues. Patterson's punt was high and short and the Greens took the ball on the Blue 42 yard line. Kischer's first pass to Frank Petrick of Indiana, down the middle, netted twenty yards. His next was caught by Jacunski as he fell over the goal line.

Both of the Green ends were playing for the first time, although yesterday was the fifth All-Star scrimmage. Both have been out because of leg injuries. The pleasure at seeing them come through the afternoon without further physical damage was offset, however, by an accident to Earl Brown, Notre Dame end.

Earl Brown Is Injured.

In the second game, with Brown at left end for the Reds, the Irish star received a possible fracture of his left hand when he was blocked by Bill Osmanski of Holy Cross. An X-ray was made and final report will be available today.

Larry Buhler, Minnesota full back, also was sent into scrimmage yesterday for the first time. Buhler was at blocking quarter back for the victorious Green eleven. The Minnesota back, who has signed to play professional football with Green Bay, has been slow in reaching condition. He was injured seriously last winter in an automobile accident and while ex-

Football Giants Made Favorites Over All-Stars

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 21 [Special].—The New York Giants are 2 to 3 favorites over the All-Stars in the football game in Soldiers' field, Chicago, Aug. 30, according to James J. Carroll, St. Louis commissioner. The bookies are offering 13 to 10 against the All-Stars.

Carroll posted 11 to 20 against Henry Armstrong and 3 to 2 against Lou Ambers in their match tomorrow night for the lightweight boxing title. Joe Louis is listed at 1 to 8 for his match with Bob Pastor on Sept. 20. Pastor's price is 5 to 1.

MATCHUP WINS IN WABASH PURSE AS FAVORITE IS FIFTH

Proves Good Mud Runner at Six Furlongs.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The LeMar Stock farm's Matchup, showing considerable mud running ability, won the Wabash purse, a six furlong dash for 3 year olds yesterday at Washington Park. Going to the front on the break, he stayed there to the finish, beating Clyde Trout's Honey Seat by two lengths. The Lexbrook stable's Beau Insco was half a length farther back while the 6 to 5 favorite, Greeny, was floundering home in fifth place.

Matchup had been coming close in his last two races but he went to the post at odds of 6 to 1. He returned his backers $14, $9.20, and $5.80.

Patience Rewards Fronk.

Last April a 3 year old gelding named T. Marcus began racing at Keeneland. He ran against the cheapest kind of platers and couldn't win. He was matched against fillies, mares, colts, and geldings under all kinds of track conditions and got nowhere.

When the Kentucky season was over, he came up to the Chicago tracks and tried again at Lincoln Fields. On one great afternoon he contributed third place money toward his oats bill but quickly relapsed into his lacadaisical attitude, as though this entitled him to a well earned rest. But Willie Fronk, who was once a topflight jockey and who now trains T. Marcus for the Cataldo stable, is a mighty patient fellow. He kept on working with the sluggish performer as the Arlington meeting began. Pretty soon T. Marcus began getting calls. Some time he would be third after the field had gone fully an eighth of a mile. There came a day when the horses hit the home stretch and T. Marcus was still second. As they crossed the finish line he was third and he had earned the price of a new bridle in addition to several square meals.

Moving over to Washington Park he finished fifth and fourth in his first two efforts. Then came the day.

T. Marcus Wins at 7 to 1.

In yesterday's second race he was tossed into a field of horses which, like him, had never won a race. Jockey Willie Garner was the one whom fate and Trainer Fronk had chosen to ride T. Marcus in this seven furlong event. After a brief spell of sluggishness in the first furlong, T. Marcus suddenly came to life. Working his way up from sixth position, he got to the front at the eighth pole and drew away gradually to win by a length and a half.

Those who had followed T. Marcus' hapless journeys around so many tracks had prophesied that when the big event occurred he would be at about 100 to 1. But such was not the case. Closing at less than seven to one, he returned $15.40.

Cornelius Buckley, 415 Taylor street, Joliet, picked the first six winners in the patrons' handicapping contest but he failed to win the $1,000 prize when his choice in the seventh, Muscle In, finished in seventh place. A total of 11,787 ballots were cast. By the end of the fourth race the field was cut to ten survivors, and after the fifth only Buckley was in the running.

B'nai B'rith Track, Field Group to Meet Tonight

Final arrangements for the third annual B'nai B'rith Youth Organization city-wide track and field meet next Sunday in Douglas Park will be completed tonight at a meeting of the track committee.

DRAFTS PLAY TONIGHT.

Shrine Among the Roses.

Gay, laughing, carefree—and in love;
Not thinking about the tomorrows,

The sky was derk—with dazzling stars
That reminded me of her eyes;
And the roses, half open, at midnight
Were her cheeks reflected down from the skies.

A year slipped past, and she has gone
To the land of eternal dreams.
But still we meet in our shrine divine
We created beside Life's stream.

Eleven year old Eugene, now in his last week at a boys' camp, must be fed up with the three square meals a day routine there. When Dad told him there was a several day automobile trip as a climax to the vacation period, Eugene hopefully suggested: "Say, Dad, when we're on that trip, let's not stop at fancy restaurants for full meals and all the trimmings; let's stop at hamburger stands and get 'em on a bun with onions and mustard 'n everything." —Jeramore.

Ten Years Ago Today—Earl Mastro and Eddie Shea, Chicago featherweights, finished training for their ten round bout at the Chicago Stadium. . . . The Cubs whipped Philadelphia, 16 to 7. . . . Art Shires' hit in the ninth inning with the bases full gave the White Sox a 4 to 3 victory over Lefty Grove and the Athletics.

HAMLIN PITCHES, CARDS CAN'T HIT; DODGERS WIN, 7-1

Luke Snaps St. Louis' Eight Game String.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 21 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals were stopped, 7 to 1, today by the Dodgers, who always can be counted upon for the unexpected.

Working coolly beneath a broiling sun, Luke Hamlin dazzled the St. Louis sluggers with his fast ball until after the Brooklyn scoring was completed, then coasted home. The defeat, third in twenty-two games and the first in nine games for the Cards, put them four and one-half games back of the Cincinnati Reds. Brooklyn moved past the faltering New York Giants into fourth place.

REDS BLANK PHILS.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 21 (AP).—Cincinnati's desperate Reds, smarting under yesterday's double defeat, revamped their lineup and slapped two pitchers for nine hits and a 7 to 0 victory over the Phillies behind Rookie John Niggeling's pitching today. The victory, coupled with St. Louis' setback at Brooklyn, boosted the Reds first place margin to four and one half games.

Miss Barrett Wins Medal in National Golf

Darien, Conn., Aug. 21 (AP).—Beatrice Barrett of Minneapolis played eighteen holes of brilliant golf over the long and hazardous Wee Burn club course today to win the qualifying medal in the forty-third Women's National Golf tournament with a record breaking score of 74.

One under women's par and only two over men's par, the 22 year old midwesterner was two shots better than any other medalist in the tournament's history. Enid Wilson of England led the field at Exmoor in 1933 with a 76.

Right behind Miss Barrett at 75 came Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, Greensboro, N. C. star, who had taken the medal twice and tied for it once in three previous meets. Next, at 77, was Marion Miley, Lexington, Ky. veteran. Pam Barton, British champion who won both the English and United States titles in 1936, made a fine recovery to get a 78 after going out in 42.

Mrs. Russell C. Mann, Wauwatosa, Wis. [84] vs. Janet Younker, White Plains, N. Y. [86].

BREADON'S HEAD SEVERELY HURT, PHYSICIAN FINDS

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 21 [Special].—Sam Breadon, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, suffered multiple injuries, including concussion when thrown from a horse on his farm near here yesterday, it was learned today.

Breadon was thrown over the horse's head when the animal shied. He suffered a broken right thumb, face lacerations, and head injuries, Dr. Robert F. Hyland, Cardinals' team physician, said. The horse dragged him about 100 feet. He was unconscious for some time.

MOON MULLINS—MOON HAS HIS NUMBER

Rough? Yes, but Mr. Young Does Stop Enemy Passers

Roland [Waddy] Young, giant end from Oklahoma university, overhearing some of his All-Star colleagues discussing the forward passing merits of Ed Danowski and Tuffy Leemans of the New York Giants, cryptically remarked:

"They can't pass sittin' down."

These five meaningful words carried such a note of finality that the discussion ended abruptly. There wasn't much more to be said.

Roland Young.

The slogan, for such it has become for the All-Stars, sums up just how the big, raw-boned Ponca City boy regards this game of football. He followed its dictates through three years of college competition from which he emerged as one of the outstanding ends of the 1938 season, winning numerous sectional and All-American honors.

They Sort of Like Him.

Down in the Oklahoma country they become almost incoherent shouting the praises of Waddy Young, spark plug of the Sooner eleven which won fourteen consecutive games before Tennessee stopped it in the Orange Bowl in Miami last January. Listen to this paean from the typewriter of Harold Keith, the Oklahoma publicity man:

"Chicago fans will like this biggest and fastest Sooner. He is the genuine rawhide, bone-seasoned, and alkilied. He spools the enemy passers like they were his bedroll, blocks like a freight train at a village crossing, and is smart enough to track a tailback through running water."

"Waddy was the boy who made our running attack go. Most of our plays go to the right over the opposing left tackle, and Waddy was big and good enough to move any of them. Also he is smart, fast, clean, can catch any kind of a pass, handles the forward lateral well and is a fine end in every respect."

Mr. Ernie Lain Knows.

When Oklahoma's white jersied Sooners stopped the Rice Owls in the opening game of the season last fall, Young's ferocious rushing of 227 pound Ernie Lain amazed Texas fans. Completing only five out of eighteen passes, Lain spent most of the afternoon looking up into the grinning face of Roland Young.

"Break anything, fella?" Young asked.

"Nope," responded the somewhat dismayed Missourian, "but you sure loosened all my bolts and hinges."

PETERSON WINS GRAND AMERICAN CHAMPIONS' TITLE

Vandalia, O., Aug. 21 (AP).—Walter A. Peterson, 55 year old Lynn, Mass., garage owner, piano tuner and photographer, added the title of trapshooting's champion of champions to his list of achievements today with a perfect score of 100 out of 100.

In climbing to the highest of clay target heights at the Grand American meet, Peterson shot down a field consisting of the champions of all the states and Canadian provinces, eight of whom clicked into a second place tie at 99.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sanders of Keyser, W. Va., clung to their husband and wife championship by breaking 382 of 400 targets, five targets ahead of Mr. and Mrs. William Gilbert of Madison, Wis. The junior championship, for shooters under 18, remained in the hands of 16 year old Rudy Etchen of Wichita, Kas., champion of his state, who cracked 97 out of 100.

Pro Giants Have Their Own O'Brien

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Superior, Wis., Aug. 21.—Eight years ago in Blackfoot, Idaho, a high school coach met Eddie Miller at the gate to the practice field and said:

"Turn in that suit and get out of here. What do you want to do? Get me arrested for manslaughter? You're too small ever to play football."

Miller hopes that coach has his radio tuned to the Chicago All-Star game in Chicago Aug. 30, for on that night Miller expects to make his debut with the New York Giants, professional champions of the world.

He Shows 'Em Some Speed.

After three days in camp he established himself as the fastest man on the squad, one of the best kickers and passers, and a fellow for whom the task of memorizing fifty plays was only a two day job. Every one conceded his ability. But would he be able to stand up? After all, he weighed only 165 pounds.

Miller gave the answer yesterday in the intrasquad game in Duluth. His first play was on a punt that arrived in his arms simultaneously with Ox Parry, 230 pounds of tackle. The impact moved Miller back four yards with Parry's shoulder buried in his middle. Miller held the ball, leaped up, and on first down called his own signal through the line. He split the guards. Coach Owens' face exhibited a wide grin.

Scores Two Touchdowns.

Thereafter Miller rifled seven passes through the Regulars' secondary to receivers and scored the two touchdowns by which his team won, 14 to 7.

After his unhappy experience with high school football in Blackfoot, Miller postponed another attempt until his family moved to Clovis, N. M. There he played quarter back on two state championship teams; then transferred to New Mexico Military institute. His play attracted one of the instructors, Maj. R. R. Brown, a veteran army man and star at Dartmouth in the 90s.

Brown took the little quarter back under his wing and sent him to Texas Christian university. Miller worked out two weeks with Davey O'Brien and company, but skipped off to New Mexico Aggies, where he felt he would be more satisfied.

Meyer Praises Miller.

"That youngster would have been a greater football player than Davey O'Brien if he had stayed at Texas Christian," said Dutch Meyer, who coached both Sammy Baugh and O'Brien, when he learned Miller had signed with the Giants.

Miller has been told of Meyer's statement and has resolved to prove on Aug. 30 that it isn't necessary to stay at Texas Christian to be better than O'Brien or any one else.

"Even if Mr. Owen decides not to keep me," Miller confided today, "I'll be satisfied just to have worked out with the Giants. They certainly are well named. We had some big boys down in New Mexico—or at least they looked big to me—but these fellows! It certainly is a privilege to run behind such blockers as Nello Falaschi and Kink Richards."

E. C. Conlin, 61, Former Net Official, Dies in New York

New York, Aug. 21 [Special].—Edward Charles Conlin, formerly advertising manager of the Munsey publications, a founder of the Tennis Umpires association and for many years a noted umpire of tennis matches, died today after an illness of several months. He was 61 years old.

DOEG, HARE LOSE IN FIRST DAY OF NEWPORT TENNIS

Newport, R. I., Aug. 21 (AP).—Spurred by the realization that two of the four United States Davis cup team positions are wide open, the nation's forgotten men of tennis attempted to outdo each other today in the opening day of the twenty-third Newport Casino tennis tournament.

Five of the seven visitors were eliminated in speedy fashion, the exceptions being Jacques Brugnon, the veteran French war horse and his youthful protegé, Bernard Destremeau. Eleven of the thirteen seeded Americans played and escaped with only one casualty.

Steele Defeats Hare.

Johnny Doeg of Rumson, N. J., ranked sixth on the long list, drew a first round bye and then lost by 6-3, 8-6 to William Gillespie of Atlanta, in the second round.

The opening day's play saw the elimination of the Philippine and Cuban Davis Cup teams and Charles Hare of England. Hare, topranked foreigner, lost a second round match to Chauncey Depew Steele Jr. of New York, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4.

Top-seeded Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, set the pace for the American stars by dropping only one game to Howard York of Philadelphia, and he was accompanied into the third round by Bryan Grant of Atlanta; Wayne Sabin of Portland, Ore.; Gil Hunt of Washington, who advanced on a bye and a default; Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla.; Frank Guernsey of Orland, Fla., the intercollegiate champion; Bob Kamrath of Austin, Tex.; Hal Surface of Kansas City; Ernie Sutter of New Orleans, and Henry Prusoff of Seattle, Wash.

Shostrom Moves Up.

John Shostrom of Chicago defeated Bernard Wilkinson of Boston, 11-9, 9-7; William Murphy of Chicago won from August Ganzenmuller of New York, 6-4, 6-1, and Norman Bickel of Chicago eliminated Horace Baker of Westfield, N. J., 6-2, 6-1.

Arthur Neilsen of Chicago defaulted to Bud Tenney of Greenwich, Conn., as did Samuel Greenberg of Chicago to Gil Hunt of Washington, D. C.

COBB TRIES TODAY TO DRIVE GIANT RACER 360 M. P. H.

Bonneville, Utah, Aug. 21 (AP).—John R. Cobb, who came from England a few years ago seeking long distance automobile records and succumbed to the high speed bug, attempts tomorrow to attain a new goal on land—six miles a minute.

The London fur broker confidently expects his bullet shaped aluminum racer to travel 360 miles an hour, which would crack the 357.5 M. P. H. mark set a year ago by still another Englishman—Capt. George E. T. Eyston.

brought up Bonura, who previously had chased Galan back to the 414 foot sign for a fly ball and drawn one pass. Zeke was mild in this venture. He popped to Herman and this was so refreshing for French that he fanned Kampouris.

Hafey stepped up to open the seventh and bunted toward Hack. He beat it out for a hit and went to third on Hack's wild throw. Whitehead ran for Hafey and scored the tying run on a single by Lohrman. Jurges helped French out of this jam by tapping into a double play.

Herman walked to open the eighth and this was the gift the Cubs converted into the decisive tally. Galan popped out and Leiber then unreeled his two bagger into left center, Herman sprinting to the plate. Nicholson was purposely passed and G. Russell rolled to Whitehead for a double play.

ROOT VS. MELTON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 21.—Grandpop Charley Root will pitch for the Cubs in the second of the three game series tomorrow. The Giants' starter probably will be Cliff Melton, the southpaw.

It's getting tougher all the time to give away publicity ideas covering the life of Dizzy Dean. Scribes in the towns visited by the Cubs lift their brows at mention of Diz's name and exclaim, "My public is tired of him."

BROMWICH, QUIST TAKE AMERICAN DOUBLES CROWN

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 21 [Special].—In an all-Australian final for the United States doubles tennis championship at Longwood today, Adrian Quist and Jack Bromwich defeated Jack Crawford and Harry Hopman, 8-6, 6-1, 6-4. It was the first time in the fifty-eight years of the tournament that an American team failed to compete in the finals. The match went according to form as the winners are the top ranking Australian players.

Marble, Fabyan Win Doubles.

The United States' ranking women's tennis team defeated England's best combination when Alice Marble and Mrs. Sarah P. Fabyan beat Kay Stammers and Mrs. Freda J. Hammersley, 7-5, 8-6, in the women's finals.

Miss Stammers dropped service twice in the first set to give the Americans a lead which they held. The Britons held on doggedly, although they were frequently forced to play from behind the base line. Mrs. Hammersley lost service three times in the second set, again to give the Americans a lead.

Dr. G. C. Ganer and C. C. Felton defeated Meade Woodsen and Percy Guilford, 11-9, 6-3, to capture the national men's veterans title. Dr. Ganer's play was the deciding factor.

Miss Marble Repeater.

Miss Marble teamed with Hopman, Australian Davis cup captain, to win the national mixed doubles title, defeating Mrs. Fabyan and Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., 9-7, 6-1.

It was a successful defense for Miss Marble, who won last year with Don Budge as a partner.

FOULIS-BLAND WIN PRO-PRESIDENT'S TOURNEY WITH 67

Jim Foulis and J. W. Bland, professional and president, respectively, of Ruth Lake, won the first annual Pro-President's golf tournament at the Twin Orchards Golf club yesterday. The pair shot a best ball of 73—6—67 to lead the field by 3 strokes.

In second place were the Exmoor team of Alex Stupple and H. W. Murray and the Sunset Ridge pair, Dave Tosh and C. J. Kostbade. The former had a score of 77—7—70 and the latter 78—8—70. Three teams tied for third as follows: Mawry White and G. M. Sundheim, La Grange, 77—5—72; Jock Hutchinson and Galle Blunt, Glen View, 78—6—72, and Willie Leith and Dr. H. L. Langhorst, Elgin, 79—7—72. Other leading scores:

aminations show he has recovered, lack of exercise since has left him behind his All-Star teammates. He also is comfortably below the weight at which he played for the Gophers last fall.

Don Siegel, Michigan tackle, was unable to scrimmage because of a wrenched shoulder received in the morning's offensive drills, which centered around execution of all plays with a touch-football defense. Jim McDonald, Illinois center, was confined to his room yesterday because of a cold. Lineups for second game:

Touchdown—Paulman.
Point after touchdown—Schoenbaum.

The replacements for the starting Blue eleven gave the best demonstration of football in the afternoon, although they didn't capitalize on their longest march of fifty-eight yards, in which they negotiated first down four consecutive times. In this drive the ball carriers were Mario Toneili of Notre Dame, Pete Fay and Bill Paulman of Stanford. From the Reds' 18 yard line Fay and Tonelli hammered in three plays for a first down on the Reds' 6 yard line.

Halt Drive at Goal.

The Blues were stopped at right tackle, lost a yard when Fay slipped and fell at the other side of the defensive line, Jim McGoldrick of Notre Dame making the tackle, and then Fay knifed through for four yards. On the fourth down Paulman plunged at tackle and failed by inches of reaching the goal.

The coaches then gave the Reds four plays, the game to end after this, which probably accounted for Warren Brunner's forward pass from kick formation. The ball was intercepted and the Blues had a first down on the Reds' 8. On the next play Fay shot a pretty pass over the defensive left half back's head and Paulman received in the corner of the end zone for the touchdown.

CARLSON WINS RAILWAY CLUB'S GOLF TOURNEY

Members of the Western Railway club gathered yeserday at Olympia Fields for the annual golf tournament, and 612 defied an early rain and played over the four courses. W. A. Carlson had a card of 39—40—79, to win the railway division championship. He succeeded H. P. Allstrand, winner last year, after the latter had encountered trouble at the water holes.

those planned in set plays. His order followed the most spectacular play of the game in which Ed Danowski finally wound up with his own forward pass 45 yards down the field.

Coach Calls Play Too Risky.

Danowski passed 20 yards to Leland Shaffer. John [Bull] Karcis did a haphazard job of blocking a secondary defender and Shaffer was tackled. As he went down he lateraled to Karcis. Karcis, when he found himself surrounded, threw a lateral to Danowski, who had come up the field behind Shaffer. Danowski ran 25 yards before he was brought down. Owen ridiculed the play as a fuzzy piece of football too foolhardy for use. Hank Soar, a starting half back, who suffered a severely bruised hip yesterday, reported for today's two drills, but had to confine his activities to several miles of walking around the practice field. He expects to be ready for strenuous work by Thursday.

Johnny Dell Isola and Ken Lunday, guards, who have been slowed down to calisthenics and road work for nearly a week because of a dislocated shoulder and finger, respectively, report favorable progress and assured Owen today they would be ready by Aug. 30.

COVELLI GAINS SPLIT DECISION TO BEAT LANDER

Frankie [Kid] Covelli, Brooklyn featherweight, won a split decision over Eddie Lander of Chicago in a ten round slugging match in Marigold Gardens last night. Referee Tommy Thomas scored the fight a draw, but James Lunch and Edward Hintz voted for Covelli, 52—48. The crowd was 2,519.

Covelli carried the fight to his young foe throughout, throwing both hands with abandon in almost every round. Frankie lost the fifth round on a foul when he deliberately butted Lander.

George Nyberg, Port Arthur, Ont., welterweight, pounded out a victory over Ralph Gizzy of Pittsburgh in one of three contests of four rounds. In other matches Frank Green beat Jack [Tiger] Wright, Phoenix, Ariz., light heavyweight, and Joey Ojida whipped Kenny Lottman, Peoria featherweight.

Fight Decisions

At Baltimore, Md.—Lew Feldman knocked out Charley Burns [1]; Chalky Wright stopped Billy Bullock [8].

At Newark, N. J.—Buddy Knox beat Roy Lazar [10].

Would Convert Debenture Stock Into Preferred.

Directors of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc., yesterday called a special meeting of holders of the common and $4.50 preferred stocks for Sept. 29 to vote on an increase in the number of no par $4.50 preferred shares from the 500,000 now authorized and outstanding to 3,000,000.

The new shares, if authorized, will be offered in exchange for the 6 per cent cumulative debenture stock at no less than one nor more than 1¼ shares of the preferred for each share of debenture stock. Holders of debenture stock not wishing to accept the exchange will have their stock redeemed Jan. 25, 1940 at $125 per share.

Over 109 Millions Outstanding.

About $109,294,800 of the $100 par debenture stock is outstanding and $354,700 is in the firm's treasury. A total of $150,000,000 is authorized.

The exchange will effect considerable savings in preferred dividend payments, directors said, since the debenture stock is entitled to $6 per share annually, and the preferred holders receive $4.50 annually.

The company said that under a ruling it has received from the commissioner of internal revenue, debenture stock holders accepting the exchange will not incur a tax liability. The exchange offer, the exact rate of which will be determined at the time of offerings, will be binding upon the company if two-thirds or more of the debenture share holders accept it.

May Issue Additional Stock.

In addition to enabling directors to offer the exchange, the increase in preferred stock authorized will make available shares which the company shall have authority to issue in the event they are required for corporate purposes in the future.

Stockholders will also be asked to increase the redemption price of the $4.50 preferred from $115 per share to $120 plus accumulated dividends to the redemption date. The stock is callable on 60 days' notice.

The directors voted an interim dividend of $1.25 on the common stock, payable Sept. 14 to holders of record Aug. 28. Similar payments were made in the two preceding quarters. The regular quarterly payments of $1.50 on the debenture stock and $1.12½ on the preferred were declared, payable Oct. 25 to holders of record Oct. 10.

THIRD BEST.

I notice that Chrysler corporation reported substantially increased earnings for the first half of this year over the same period last year. But last year was a poor business year. What I want to know is: How do this year's first half earnings compare with other good years?—H. G.

Answer: Net income of Chrysler for the first half of the current year, totaling $25,345,771, was the third best in history. It was exceeded in 1937, when $27,456,609 was earned, and 1936, when first half net income was $29,473,736.

KANSAS CITY SOUTHERN.

Please let me have some information on Kansas City Southern railway common stock.—F. D.

Answer: Kansas City Southern railway has managed to operate profitably in each of the last three years, but net income has not been sufficient to provide earnings on the common stock. The road is continuing to report profitable operations this year.

This line is the shortest route between Kansas City, Mo., and the Gulf of Mexico. The road supplies a direct connection between the largest oil refining district in the country, situated at Gulf of Mexico ports, and Kansas City, which is the second largest railroad interchange center in the United States.

Net income last year was $347,274 against 842,128 in 1937 and $580,375 in 1936. A loss was reported in each of the four preceding years. A dividend of $1 was paid on the preferred in 1936 and $1.50 in 1937. Nothing was paid last year. No dividends have been paid on the common since 1933 and no earnings have accrued on this stock since 1930.

The road has maintained a fair financial position, with current assets of $4,135,036 and current liabilities of $3,220,257 at Dec. 31, 1938. Long term debt totaled $65,064,000, there were 210,000 shares of 4 per cent $100 par noncumulative preferred and 299,599 of $100 par common shares outstanding.

Net income for the first four months this year was $140,830, against $96,568 in the same period last year. This road is somewhat better situated than many in the country, although the common stock is purely speculative.

WHY "THIN"?

Reports of daily stock market fluctuations often say that price changes were a result of "thin" markets. What is meant by that?—G. V.

Answer: The term "thin" markets refers to a subnormal amount of buy or sell orders. This factor tends to make price swings on a relatively small amount of volume rather wide. When there are few buy orders under the market, for example, a small amount of stock offered will encounter a "thin" market and the price of the stock will be depressed somewhat more than the volume of transactions would seem to justify. The reverse may exist when few sale orders are in the market and relatively small purchases will raise the price abnormally.

MICHIGAN CUTS OUTPUT QUOTAS FOR OIL WELLS

Illinois Official Hits 'Coercion' Effort.

Michigan authorities yesterday ordered a reduction in allowable crude oil production to bolster prices. At the same time an Illinois state official indicated opposition to any curtailment of production in this state. Michigan joined six other states in curtailing output as a result of reductions in crude oil purchasing prices posted recently by several leading oil companies.

P. J. Hoffmaster, supervisor of Michigan wells, ordered maximum withdrawals from wells in the Walker field in Kent county cut from 200 to 100 barrels daily, effective at 7 a. m. tomorrow. The same reductions were ordered to apply in the Columbia field in Van Buren county and the New Salem field in Allegan county.

Redding Field Also Limited.

Withdrawals from the Redding field in Clare county will be cut from 250 to 200 barrels daily, and in the Freeman field from 125 to 100 barrels.

At El Dorado, Ark., a hearing on a petition of the Lion Oil company for a writ to keep the state from closing its wells was recessed until 9 a. m. today.

Lieut. Gov. John Stelle of Illinois declared he will strongly oppose any steps which would result in restricting the development of the oil industry in Illinois. In a statement issued at Springfield, Stelle denounced "the apparent attempt to coerce" this state into enacting restrictive legislation to protect "foreign interests."

The statement was regarded in the oil industry as this state's answer to charges that Illinois is largely responsible for price difficulties of the industry and to suggestions from other states that Illinois pass laws to control output. While Illinois wells are flowing unrestricted at about their record levels six other leading oil states have shut down their wells in an attempt to bolster prices.

Price Cut 20 Cents a Barrel.

Price cutting began about two weeks ago when a reduction of 20 cents a barrel was made in the crude oil purchase prices of the Sinclair-Prairie Oil Marketing company. A few smaller purchasers have rescinded their cuts since then, and the wholesale gasoline market has firmed, with a few minor advances posted in refinery prices. Some Texas filling stations were reported to have raised retail gasoline prices yesterday.

"I have repeatedly indorsed true conservation of our natural resources," Stelle said, "but am unalterably opposed to the passage of any legislation which has as its purpose and will in effect retard or hamper the development and operation of the oil industry in Illinois.

"I resent the apparent attempt to coerce Illinois into acceding to the demand of large and foreign interests to pass legislation designed to protect those interests at the expense of our people."

The "foreign interests" were not identified in the statement.

Stelle Blames Companies.

"The interests which are now apparently criticizing Illinois actually own or control approximately 90 per cent of all production in Illinois as well as Texas, Oklahoma, and other oil states," Stelle said. "They have absolute control, through production and transportation, of the problem which they now seek to blame on Illinois."

During the most recent week for which statistics are available, Texas produced more than 1,360,000 barrels of oil daily, Oklahoma 400,000 barrels, and Illinois only 295,000 barrels daily, Stelle said.

Stelle declared that Illinois producers, located in the center of a large marketing area, are entitled to premium prices for their crude because of savings in transportation costs "amounting to as much as 40 cents a barrel." He said that in the alternative, "the purchasing public of Illinois should have a material reduction in retail prices."

Pipe Line Flow Reversed.

Oklahoma oil men last week advocated that oil control legislation be considered at a special session of the Illinois legislature which Gov. Horner has indicated he will call for other purposes. The governor, however, has given no indication that the oil situation will be considered.

To meet a shortage caused by the shutdown of wells in several southwestern states, the Shell Pipe Line company of St. Louis announced that some of its pumps were being reversed so that Txesa crude oil could be returned to its Houston refinery.

Floyd Moore, secretary of the Houston [Texas] Independent Petroleum Marketers' association, reported 200 small independent filling stations hiked the price of gasoline approximately 3 cents a gallon. The stations sell motor fuel manufactured by independent refineries, many of which were without large crude reserves at the time production was halted.

Other larger independents in Houston raised third grade gasoline prices 2 cents a gallon, Moore said.

Elsewhere throughout the six-state area of Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas and Louisiana, retail prices were mostly unchanged.

Firm's Profits $2.80 a Share; Its Taxes $1.90

Paraffine Companies, Inc., yesterday announced profit of $1,427,898, or $2.80 a share, in the fiscal year ended June 30. This compared with $1,255,001, or $2.44 a share, in the preceding fiscal year. Sales totaled $11,861,072, a gain of 7.2 per cent or $798,714 over the sales in the year ended June 30, 1938. The company manufactures building materials, paints, linoleum, and other products. Its headquarters is at San Francisco, Cal.

W. H. Lowe, president, told stockholders that taxes paid by Paraffne in the fiscal year totaled $902,225, equal to $1.90 a share on the common stock. He said the federal income tax was 38 per cent larger than it would have been three years ago on the same earnings.

Reports Increased Activity.

"While there has been a substantial improvement in building activity in the last year," Lowe said in his annual report, "certain conditions have existed to date that have prevented the realization of the full benefits of an accumulating demand.

"It is impossible to determine the extent to which the continual increase in government expenditures, continually higher taxation, abandonment of the pay-as-you-go policy by the government, mounting public debt, government regulation of labor relations and similar conditions, have influenced confidence in the long range outlook which is the major factor in any construction program.

"The effect of many of these and similar influences has been to reduce the opportunity for profit and, as a result, to discourage further investments in the expansion and modernization of existing enterprises or in new ventures. This has in turn retarded the reëmployment of prospective home purchasers."

Pet Milk Earns More.

Larger earnings for the June quarter than in the 1938 were reported by the Pet Milk company. Net profit increased to $442,702, equal to $1 a share, from $415,057, or 84 cents a share, in the quarter ended June 30, 1938. In the March quarter this year the company, which produces evaporated milk in plants throughout the country, had net profit of $50,519, or 11 cents a share.

Indicated net profit for the six months ended June 30 was $493,221, equivalent to $1.12 a share. This compared with $336,064, or 76 cents a share, in the corresponding period last year. The company's general offices are at St. Louis, Mo.

Earnings of Esquire, Inc., for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1940, should equal to $306,418 profit of the year ended last March 31, David A. Smart, president, told stockholders in a letter. In the sixteen months' existence of the magazine Ken, which ceased publication with the issue of Aug. 3, it showed a total loss of $404,000, which was absorbed and charged off, Smart reported.

BULLION DEALERS PUT SILVER PRICE UP TO 36½ CENTS

New York bullion dealers boosted the price for foreign silver 1⅛ cents yesterday to 37 cents an ounce. This represented a premium of 2 cents over the treasury department's offering price, which was unchanged at 35 cents.

The advance at New York was in line with a rise in the London market, where the quotation was raised the equivalent of 1 cent to 37 cents. The rise at London was attributed to a spurt in buying by the Indian government, which caught the market short of supplies.

Treasury 91 Day Bills Sold at Interest Rate of 0.042%

The treasury department reported last night that the $100,000,000 of ninety-one day treasury bills dated Aug. 23 and offered Aug. 18 were sold at an average bid of 99.989. This was equivalent to borrowing at an interest rate of 0.042 per cent.

June Earnings of 15 Air Lines Total $769,761

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—The first fifteen airlines to report June earnings showed a combined net income of $769,761, according to reports filed with the civil aeronautics authority.

This included all of the domestic operating lines except one—Chicago and Southern—which has not yet filed its statement for the month. The first ten lines to report results for the twelve months ended June 30 were evenly divided in showing gains and losses.

Individual Earnings Shown.

Gross operating revenues in June totaled $4,961,991 for the fifteen lines, leaving, after operating expenses, net operating revenues of $738,087. Following are individual earnings for June:

AMERICAN AIR TRAVEL SETS RECORD IN JULY, SIXTEEN LINES SHOW

Air travel in the United States last month set a new all-time peak, Col. Edgar S. Gorrell, president of the Air Transport Association of America, announced yesterday.

Col. E. S. Gorrell.

Revenue passenger miles flown in July by sixteen major air lines which are members of the association rose 3.84 per cent over the total for June, 1939, the previous peak month. July traffic also increased 56.17 over the total for July, 1938. Revenue passenger miles flown last month by the sixteen air lines aggregated 66,018,295, compared with 63,576,325 in June and 42,273,067 in July, 1938.

Total mileage for the first seven months of the current year was 344,371,616. This was an increase of 37.52 per cent over the 250,418,324 miles reported for the first seven months of 1938. July was the seventh consecutive month this year which showed a gain over the corresponding month last year.

Percentage gains for each month this year over the same month in 1938 follow: January, 27.09; February, 18.7; March, 28.57; April, 25.03; May, 36.36; June, 57.82, and July 56.17.

Postpone Hearing Wallace Charges Against Cargill

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21 [Special].—Hearing on charges brought by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace against Cargill, Inc., a Minneapolis grain concern, has been postponed until Sept. 6 at the request of Cargill, it was learned today. Wallace has charged the grain concern with manipulation of corn prices in September, 1937.

NLRB Lashed by Republic Steel Union

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 21 (AP).—The Central Council of Steel Plants, claiming to represent 50,000 of the 60,000 employés in the Ohio plants of Republic Steel corporation, accused the national labor relations board today of "gross abuse of discretion." The council asked the United States Circuit Court of Appeals to hear its claim before deciding the company's appeal from a labor board order.

In a brief filed by Attorney Frank T. Bow of Canton, O., the council contended the labor board refused to permit it to intervene in the hearing on unfair labor charges brought against the company by the steel workers' organizing committee [C. I. O.].

Ordered to Rehire 5,000.

Republic appealed to the federal court in October, 1938, after the labor board ordered it to reinstate 5,000 workmen who took part in the "little steel" strikes of 1937. It was in the same order that the board also directed the independent employé group be dissolved. The court now has under consideration arguments by both Republic and the NLRB.

The council, parent body of the separate unions at Ohio Republic steel plants, said it has an "overwhelming majority" among employés.

Denies Company Control.

It declared its groups are entirely "independent" of company domination or control and asserted thousands of its members would not join the C. I. O. union because of its "organizational methods."

The petition said that at Canton, O., "2,500 men were denied their constitutional rights to work by the violence of pickets."

"Men who refused to join the C. I. O. were taken to C. I. O. headquarters and beaten," it added. "Homes of men working within the plant were bombed, and their wives and families threatened."

Loan $325,000 on Land at 63d and Halsted Streets

A first mortgage for $325,000 was made yesterday by Baird & Warner, Inc., for the account of an eastern life insurance company on the land at the southwest corner of 63d and Halsted streets. The mortgage, effective Sept. 15, 1939, is for fifteen years at 4 per cent interest. The loan was made to the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company as trustee for the estate of John B. Lavezzorio. The land is under a ninety-nine year lease to the S. S. Kresge company.

WHEAT MOUNTS ON RUSH TO BUY FOR WAR NEEDS

Exports Heavy from North America.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$0.68¼	$0.67	$0.63⅛
Corn	.44½	.43½	.52⅛
Oats	.30¾	.29¾	.23¾
Rye	.41½	.40¾	.41⅝
Soy beans	.69½	.68¾	.78¼

War talk dominated the action of world wheat markets yesterday and importing countries showed the first signs of acute alarm over the political situation since September, 1938.

Export sales of North American cash wheat yesterday were estimated at 3,500,000 bushels, including 3,000,000 bushels of Canadian and 500,000 bushels of American hard winter wheat. The business in American grain was said to have been made possible by an export subsidy of 35 cents a bushel.

Advances in wheat futures ranged from 1¼ to 3⅜ cents, with the Winnipeg market leading. All markets closed at the top.

Chicago Price Climb.

Gains on the Chicago Board of Trade were 1¼ to 2⅛ cents, the latter on the May delivery. Prices were the highest since July 8.

Corn and other grains were affected by the action of wheat and closed higher. Corn gained 1 to 1¼ cents and oats were ⅛ to ¼ cent higher.

Signs of growing tension in the political situation abroad were not lacking, and became a factor in spurring speculators to take the buying side of wheat futures. Outside interest in the market yesterday was said to have been the largest in some time.

Germany was reported to be pressing Rumania for a delivery of about 10,000,000 bushels of cash wheat within the next two weeks. The grain is understood to a present part of a barter agreement entered into earlier in the season.

New Export Subsidy Effective.

The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation began the direct subsidizing of wheat exports, the department of agriculture announced.

Under the new program, announced on Aug. 11 by Secretary Wallace, the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation will make indemnity payments to firms exporting wheat. Under the old program, suspended in July, the corporation bought wheat and resold it to exporters at a price which would enable them to sell in world markets.

Rates of payment for individual exportations under the new program will be fixed by the secretary, based on competitive offers from exporters. The payments will be based on differentials between the price of wheat in domestic markets and the price in world markets, and the cost of transportation to world markets.

Hearing on Gas Pipe Line Rate to Chicago Delayed

The federal power commission's hearing on rates on natural gas piped into Chicago, scheduled to have been resumed yesterday, has been adjourned to next Monday in Washington, D. C. Attorneys for the Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America and the Texoma Natural Gas company are engaged in other litigation, it was explained.

United States, Foreign Bonds Fall on Crisis

United States government and foreign bond prices declined sharply yesterday in New York and European exchanges. The break in foreign government issues at New York was described by bond experts as more severe than that experienced during the political crisis last September. Italian issues, with declines of 2 to 5 points, showed the largest loss at New York.

The Associated Press index of foreign government issues reached the lowest point recorded since May 23, 1933.

Treasury 2 Per Cents Slump.

The treasury 2s of 1947 dropped 1 1-32 points on the transfer of one bond on the stock exchange. It was sold at 104 22-32. Before over the counter trading had ended the bid price dropped to 104 14-32, but there were no transactions.

In London the British 3½ per cent world war loan, leader of top flight bonds, tumbled to a new low for the year. It sold off 1 5-16 points. The day's level for the issue closely approximated that during the crisis last September. Copper stocks sold off with the rest of the list despite firm prices for the metal.

In Paris foreign issues shared the downward trend in London and Amsterdam. Rentes closed 15 to 65 centimes lower.

Foreign Dollar Bonds Lower.

Besides the Italian issues, the foreign dollar group at New York included declines of 1 to 3 points or more in the Scandinavian section. Denmark 5½s, Belgium 7s and Copenhagen 4½s suffered the most.

Corporate bonds sold off at New York to a lesser degree than governments, but losses of more than a point dotted the list.

DELAY HEARINGS ON CHICAGO COAL PRICE SCHEDULE

Hearings on prices to apply in the Chicago area have again been postponed by the bituminous coal division of the department of the interior, it was learned yesterday. The hearings have been tentatively scheduled for next Monday. They were to have begun in Washington, D. C., today, following an earlier postponement.

Numerous protests against scheduled increases in prices have already been filed with the division and Chicago coal interests have indicated their intention to appear in Washington when the proposed rates for this area are considered.

The delay has been caused by the numerous complaints against schedules to apply in the eastern district, which are now being studied in Washington.

STEEL OPERATING RATE 62.2 PCT. FOR THIS WEEK

Operations in the steel industry this week are scheduled at 62.2 per cent of capacity, the American Iron and Steel Institute reported yesterday. This is an increase of 0.1 point over the institute's estimate for last week.

Operations a month ago were at 60.6 per cent, up 4.2 points from the preceding week. A year ago the rate was 42.8 per cent, up 2.4 points from the preceding week.

TRADERS DUMP STOCKS; PRICES TAKE TUMBLE

European Tension Sways Market.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 21.—With the European situation growing more threatening, traders dumped shares on the stock market today and prices broke from fractions to about 3 points to the lowest since July. Sensitive issues lost as much as 7 points.

More than $1,500,000,000 has been erased from the market value of shares listed on the New York Stock exchange in the last fortnight.

A report near the close of the session that the smaller European nations were planning an international conference tended to allay fears that the dispute over Danzig might develop into war, but the best the market could do was to pare the day's largest losses, which at one time ranged to more than 4 points in standard issues.

Selling Heavies on Decline.

The list started lower, with blocks of 4,000 shares changing hands in initial deals. Losses were widened as the session progressed, the weakness on London and other foreign markets further frightening operators here.

Virtually all sections of the list were weak, with industrial issues suffering the sharpest losses. According to the Dow-Jones index, the industrial group dropped 2.30 points to 132.87. The rail and utility groups lost 0.60 and 0.75 points, respectively.

The rise in steel operations and other constructive business reports were said by observers to have been largely obscured by foreign news.

Steels and Motors Weak.

Steels, motors and rubbers led the decline. United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Chrysler, General Motors, United States Rubber, Goodyear and Goodrich showed losses ranging from 1 to more than 2 points.

Aviation issues also were sharply lower. Douglas lost 2½ points. Consolidated Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Sperry and Boeing each lost a point or so.

Oils closed mostly fractionally lower. Losses in copper stocks ran to 1¼ point in Kennecott and Phelps Dodge. Marshall Field and Woolworth were weak spots in the merchandising sections, dropping 1⅛ and 1½ points, respectively.

Rail Group Follows Others.

Rail issues closed mostly fractionally lower, although Santa Fe, Chesapeake and Ohio, and Union Pacific finished with declines of between 1 and 2 points.

Power and Light shares followed the general list downward. Declines were restricted to fractions in most cases.

In the chemicals, Allied dropped 1 point and du Pont 2½ points. Among the blue chips, Westinghouse lost 1⅛, American Telephone 1¼ and American Can 3 points.

You hear these instructions a lot these days in brokerage houses in Chicago and other cities in the Central West. There is no state transfer tax on selling transactions or odd lot purchases made on THE CHICAGO STOCK EXCHANGE. So today, with many of the country's leading stocks listed and actively traded in on this Exchange, investors and traders are remembering that, in these transactions, they pay no State Transfer tax. It's no small item because in New York State, for example, the State Transfer tax amounts to 3¢ a share on stocks selling below $20 and 4¢ per share on stocks selling above that figure.

Chicago has other special advantages . . . prompt execution and reporting of orders . . . prompt settlement . . . and under this plan you can buy or sell the stocks of 65 of the best-known corporations in the country.

Any Chicago Stock Exchange member firm will gladly give you more information about the Optional Odd-Lot System and explain more fully its advantages to you as an investor or trader.

A "Directory of Exchange Members" will also be sent upon request.

Stocks

Chicago Stocks.

Active issues on the Chicago Stock exchange declined ¼ to 1 point yesterday. Middle West and Commonwealth Edison, most heavily traded stocks, last ½ each. Marshall Field dropped ⅝ and Zenith declined ⅝ point. Great Lakes Dredge registered the largest loss, closing 1 point lower.

Other favorite issues finishing lower included Noblitt-Sparks and Central and South West Utilities, with losses of ⅛ each. Consolidated Oil dropped ¼ and Central Illinois Securities preferred ended ⅛ off. Coleman Lamp and Stove set a new high at 32, up 2 points.

Trading totaled 33,000 shares, with 110 issues changing hands. Of these, ninety-one declined, eight advanced, and eleven closed unchanged.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

A sharp upswing in the market for fresh pork in wholesale channels yesterday stimulated buying of hogs at the Chicago stockyards at the highest prices in three weeks. Pork rose $1.00 to $2.00 a hundred pounds over last week's closing prices, reaching the highest level since July 31.

Cooler weather and recent decreases in slaughtering of hogs throughout the country were bullish factors in the trade. The result pushed strong to 10 cents higher, with some spots in heavy "land hogs" showing even more gain.

This was the fifth consecutive market session in which hogs averaged higher. The price was 60 cents above the five year low Monday of last week.

Many other classes of meat animals declined in price. There was a large run of medium and heavy fed steers in the receipts, and these sold 15 to 25 cents lower. Another slump of 15 to 25 cents brought lambs to new 1939 lows.

PROPOSES ERIE SLASH CAPITAL TO REORGANIZE

I. C. C. Examiner Would Cut Total in Half.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21 (AP).—An Interstate Commerce commission examiner submitted a proposed reorganization plan for the Erie railroad today, drastically reducing the company's present capitalization and debt of $508,533,630. These would be lowered to $251,358,602, but an additional 2,554,736 shares of no par value common stock would be issued.

Holders of $214,868,100 of existing preferred and common stock would receive 429,736 shares of the new no par stock, and 2,000,000 shares would be issued to holders of outstanding securities. The remaining 125,000 shares would be allocated for unsecured claims and lease liabilities.

Provides for New Money.

The plan, proposed by Examiner Milo H. Brinkley, also would provide for obtaining $18,000,000 in new money either from the Reconstruction Finance corporation or private channels.

I. C. C. officials said the plan, oral arguments on which will be heard Nov. 15, would reduce the Erie's annual fixed charges from approximately $14,000,000 to $7,000,000.

A total of $77,551,476 in first consolidated mortgage bonds would be issued to replace existing obligations and a total of $52,706,262 in present obligations would be undisturbed.

Brinkley recommended that all classes of stock share equally in the apportionment of new securities to stockholders.

Proposes One Share for Five.

"Within the limits of the capitalization herein recommended there should be available sufficient no par common stock to allot one share for each five shares of stock now held by the Erie stockholders and that allotment should be made," his report said.

The examiner proposed that five reorganization managers be named to effect the consolidation. One would represent debtors, one appointed by the R. F. C. one by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company—listed as the largest holder of prior lien and general lien bonds—one by the committee for general mortgage convertible bonds, and one by the institutional group.

He suggested a fifteen member board of directors for the reorganized company with three each representing preferred stock and the debtors.

MEMBER BANKS' BUSINESS LOANS SHOW SHRINKAGE

Commercial, industrial, and agricultural loans by member banks of the federal reserve system in the week ended Aug. 16 declined from the level of the preceding week, the federal reserve board announced yesterday. These loans rose in the week ended Aug. 9 after a decrease the week before had interrupted a steady expansion in the five preceding weeks.

Following are comparison of the principal assets and liabilities of the banks at the close of business Wednesday [last six ciphers omitted]:

G. LAKE CANCELS APPLICATION FOR PIT MEMBERSHIP

The application of George Lake of Detroit for membership in the Chicago Board of Trade was withdrawn yesterday prior to the meeting of directors, who were to have considered it. Lake is the president of a coal and ice company, and is described as a substantial trader in grains and other commodities.

Although the exchange made no official comment, it was reported the application was rescinded because Lake wished to avoid embarrassing his sponsors after it became generally known that he is a brother of Frank Lake, the Chicago beer baron of prohibition days.

Lake's sponsors were W. J. Springer and Mose Singer, board members.

Boston Fund Asset Value of Stock Below Year Ago

Boston Fund, Inc., general management trust, had net asset value of $15.16 per share on 355,306 shares outstanding at the close of its fiscal year July 31, according to a report issued yesterday to stockholders. This compared with net asset value of $15.96 on 144,344 shares at the end of the preceding fiscal year.

Pullman-Standard Gets Order for 49 Ore Cars

Business Bits

H. E. Manville.

H. E. Manville, one of the original members of the present Johns-Manville corporation resigned yesterday as chairman of the board of the corporation and also gave up his directorship. He had completed forty-nine years of service with the company. The board also announced that George Whitney, partner of J. P. Morgan & Co., resigned as a director. Henry C. Alexander, a member of the Morgan firm, was elected as a new director. It was announced that the post of chairman will not be filled. Lewis H. Brown, president, will preside at directors' meetings and will continue as the chief executive officer of the corporation.

Dudley P. K. Wood has been appointed a member of the staff of business advisers to Secretary of Commerce Hopkins. Wood was reported to have resigned his positions as vice president and director of Intermetal company, and as a director of the American Machine and Foundry company to accept the appointment. His first efforts will be toward the promotion of Latin American trade. Wood lives in New York City.

Formation of the law firm of Hummer, Van Ness, and Yowell was announced yesterday by John S. Hummer, Richard P. Hummer, Charles A. Hummer, Robert J. Hummer, John J. Yowell, and Laurence R. Van Ness. The firm, a successor to Hummer & Hummer, has offices at 69 West Washington street.

DOUBT NAZI PACT PERILS AMERICAN TRADE IN RUSSIA

Commerce Officials Discount Deal.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21 (AP).—A department of commerce memorandum today asserted that the significant part of the new Russo-German trade agreement was that "Germany needs the soviet business badly enough to make concessions never before offered."

The memorandum indicated a belief that there would be little effect on Russian-American trade. It emphasized that the new agreement is only the latest of a series of similar ones signed by the two countries.

The United States has supplanted Germany since the world war as the principal foreign supplier of goods to Russia, the memorandum said.

Doubts Germany Can Fill Need.

"It seems unlikely that the special needs of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics over the next two years can be satisfied in Germany, or anywhere but in the United States," it added.

"The trade agreement just signed may be characterized as a new attempt by Germany at reinstatement as chief exporter to the soviet union, by offering a new, though comparatively small, credit on longer terms—seven years—than any previous arrangement, and on a 5 per cent interest basis, the lowest rate ever quoted for soviet long term credits abroad."

Predicts Trouble Filling Orders.

The memorandum also said that because German factories are so busy making armaments and other things needed within Germany they have had difficulty in recent years in filling soviet orders and may have similar trouble under the new agreement.

A part of the memorandum was a table showing that German merchandise sales to Russia declined from a post-war peak of $211,318,000 in 1931 to $9,512,000 in the first ten months of 1938. In the ten month period Russia sold $16,249,000 worth of goods to Germany.

BUSINESS DONE BY CHECK RISES IN MIDDLE WEST

Check transactions in the seventh federal reserve district in the week ended Aug. 16 advanced 11.5 per cent over the preceding week's level, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday.

Debits to individual deposit accounts of 159 banks in forty-one leading clearing house cities in the district totaled $1,071,930,000, compared with $961,659,000 in the preceding week. The total for the week ended Aug. 16 also represented a gain of 9.2 per cent over the total of $981,584,000 for the corresponding week last year.

For Chicago banks alone the total was $615,495,000 in the latest week, against $550,716,000 the preceding week and $583,342,000 in the similar week last year.

2 STREAMLINERS TO BE BUILT FOR RUNS TO WEST

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 21 (AP).—President William M. Jeffers of the Union Pacific railroad said today two new seventeen car streamlined trains costing $2,500,000 each would be built within the next eight months for the Chicago-west coast run.

One of the trains will be used between Chicago and San Francisco, Cal. The other will be placed on the Chicago-Los Angeles route.

Jeffers, on an inspection trip, arrived here after a detour to the scene of the wreck of the streamliner City of San Francisco in which twenty-four persons were killed.

GERMANY RAIDS ENGLAND'S WAR RUBBER RESERVE

Commodity Markets Feel Effect of Tension.

Commodity markets yesterday reflected the tense political situation in Europe and, for the first time, the British press took notice of the fact that large German purchases of war staples in the last few days have depleted British supplies.

London advices said "increasing anxiety" is felt there regarding last week's unexpectedly large decrease in reserve supplies of rubber, an important wartime commodity. London stocks of rubber dropped 3,004 tons to 33,137 tons, and Liverpool supplies were reduced 546 tons to 17,571 tons, leaving England with less than enough rubber to supply normal peacetime requirements for six months. The large reduction was caused almost entirely by German purchases.

Expect Quota Increase.

However, it was expected that the control committee, meeting Sept. 7, will release additional supplies under the quota arrangement. It was reported there was no evidence that the British government was acquiring an emergency reserve of rubber.

Meanwhile copper markets strengthened as Germany continued to buy up large supplies, for which she is demanding immediate shipment. Substantial tonnages of American electrolytic copper have been purchased, it was reported.

Shipment Ready to Start.

A large purchase of copper made Friday by Germany has already been engaged for shipment to that country on a steamer sailing tomorrow. Yesterday's purchases by Germany were made at 10.67½ cents a pound delivered at European ports, which represents a premium over the domestic price of 10½ cents and the London wire bar equivalent of 10.65½ cents. New York futures moved up 0.01 to 0.04 cent a pound.

Other commodities responding to war fears included sugar futures at New York, up as much as 0.05½ cent a pound; and cottonseed oil, which was 0.11 to 0.14 cent a pound higher at the close. Shellac prices at London were strong on reports Germany was inquiring for a large shipment.

Tin futures dropped as much as 0.45 cent a pound, although the spot quotation held steady. Zinc was slightly lower in futures trading. Silk, hides, and coffee also closed on the down side.

PUBLIC SERVICE OF INDIANA FILES 48 MILLION ISSUE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21 (AP).—Public Service Company of Indiana notified the securities and exchange commission today it intends to issue $48,000,000 worth of refunding securities.

The new securities will include $38,000,000 of 3 and ¾ per cent first mortgage bonds due 1969 and $10,000,000 of serial debentures due 1940 to 1949. The interest rate on the debentures will be announced later.

Proceeds of the new securities and other funds of the company, it said, will be used to pay off all of the company's first mortgage and refunding gold bonds now outstanding, all of the outstanding first mortgage gold bonds of the Indiana Electric corporation, and all of the outstanding first lien and general mortgage gold bonds of the Indiana Power company. The bonds to be paid off total $49,336,400.

AAA MAY ORDER MORE BINS FOR CORN STORAGE

The purchase of additional bins to store corn to be turned over to the government in satisfaction of loans to farmers is being considered by Washington officials, it was reported yesterday.

Department of agriculture officials, who recently ordered 25,000 steel bins constructed, said the additional bins may be built of wood. Manufacturers of wooden storage bins have submitted satisfactory designs, but whether they will be given orders depends upon their ability to make deliery within sixty days, it was said.

Whether more bins would be purchased, department officials said, depended upon the amount of corn surrendered by farmers who received loans at the rate of 57 cents a bushel on a total of 257 million bushels of corn.
